LEAFS ARE LIKELY TO FINISH THIRD

Won Two on Saturday While Grays Took Double-Header From Montreal.

The one game scheduled for Sunday in the International, Providence at Montreal, was postponed, rain. Had the Greys played and won as they did on Saturday in the double-header, the Leafs would now be tied for third place, where they are likely to finish the season.

The Leafs landed both games on Saturday, defeating Jersey City by 12 to 1 and 1 to 0. A fair crowd crossed on the ferry boats and saw two satisfactory contests in ideal baseball weather.

Ray Morse of New York was the star of the runners, winning the 100 and 200-yard sprints, the former in 10 seconds flat and the latter in 21 1-5 seconds. Abel Kiviat of New York won the 1000-yard special, beating Ted Meredith of Philadelphia and Jack Tressider, the Canadian champion, in a close finish. The time, 2.27 1-5, was slow, as the runners loafed in the earlier stages.

Hannes Kolehmainen, the New York Finlander, started at scratch in the three-mile handicap, in which he conceded all competitors from 30 seconds to 1½ minutes. He wore them all down except Dellow, the Canadian Marathoner, and Joyce of Buffalo. The Finn's actual time was 15 minutes 16 1-5 seconds.

PACKEY AND MIKE GO TEN ROUNDS

Canadian Press Favors Gibbons, While New York Writters Incline to McFarland.

RINGSIDE, Brighton Beach, Sept. 11 .-Before one of the largest crowds that ever witnessed a boxing match in this The New York World's story of the butter of the bounds gives Gibbons only one of the ten, four to McFarland, and five even as follows:

First round—Even. gether two of the cleverest boxers in the gether two of the cleverest boxers in the ring today, was hard-fought from start to finish, but Gibbons scored the most frequent and more effective blows.

McFarland showed that his long absence from the ring had dulled his speed and power to snap punches to vulnerable points of his opponent's head and body. McFarland showed flashes of his old rapid-fire left, but the leads were little more than snaps, and did not check Gibbons in his more effective assaults.

McFarland appeared nervous when he entered the ring, and was not as finely-conditioned as his opponent. The St. Paul phantom immediately took the aggressive and showed that he intended to make a fight of it-instead of a sparring exhibition.

make a fight of it instead of a sparring exhibition.

A throng which was estimated at 45,000 witnessed the contest, almost entirely filling the immense arena, which originally enclosed a third of a mile motorcycle track. More than two hours before the principals entered the ring lines of speciators extended for blocks away from the entrances and roads leading to the arena were blocked with double lines of motor cars From the ringside nothing could be seen but a sea of faces, which grew dim until they faded into innumerable rows of white blotches to the very edge of the enclosure. Several thousand women were scattered among the spectators, who included large delegations of boxing enthusiasts from as far west as Chicago and Cleveland, and from Washington on the south.

Gibbons was the favorite in the wagers and Casey: Sherry ington on the south.

No Hard Blows.

A purse of $32,500 was divided, $17,500 to McFarland and $15,000 to Gibbons, neither of whom was damaged to any great extent or in serious danger of a knockout.

There was power behind almost every blow Gibbons landed and he found little difficulty in beating the stockyards boxer to the punch. For the first four rounds Gibbons was always in the lead, playing alternately for the head and body. In the fifth McFarland took the aggressive and, being thoroly warmed up, fought desperately to stem the tide of defeat. Gibbons met him half way, however, and the best the Chicago boxer could get was desperately to stem the tide of defeat.
