It was contrived and intended to be a feafonable and comfortable provision for fuch of the army and navy as were difbanded at that time, and it was fo feafible, that in a fhort time; near four thousand adventurers, with their families, were embarked with Colonel Cornwallis, whom the king had appointed governor, and landed in the harbour of Chebuctou, one of the most fecure and commodious havens in the whole world, and well fituated for the fishery. He was lately difmified from the land and fea-fervices as were willing, with or without families to fettle in the province of Nova Scotia : That the fee-fimple, or perpetual property, of fifty acres of land fhould be granted to every private foldier or feaman, free from the payment of any quit rents or taxes for the term of ten years ; at the expianion of which, no perfon should pay more than one shilling per annum, for every fifty acres fo granted : That, over and above these fifty, each person should receive a grant of ten acres, for every individual, including women and children, of which his family should confist; and further grants should be made to them, as the number fhould encrease, and in proportion, as they fhould manifest their abilities in agriculture : That every officer, under the rank of enfign in the land-fervice, or lieutenant in the navy, fhould be gratified with fourfcore acres on the fame conditions : That two hundred acres should be bestowed upon enfigns, three hundred upon lieutenants, four hundred upon captains, and fix hundred upon every officer above that Jegree, with proportionable confiderations for the number and increase of every family: That the lands fhould be parcelled out, as foon as poffible, after the arrival of the colonifts, and a civil government eftablished; In confequence of which, they should enjoy all the liberties and privileges of British fubjects, with proper fecurity and protection : That the fettlers, with their families, should be conveyed to Nova Scotia, and maintain'd for twelve months after their arrival, at the e: pence of the government; which would alfo fupply them with 2. ms and ammunition, as far as should be judged neceffary for their defence, with proper materials and utenfils for cleaning and cultivating their lands, erecting habitations, exerc.fing the fifhery, and Juch other purposes as should be judged necellary for their support.
