to get fitted with ready-to-wear clothes. Regular sizes won't de for them, and the majority of houses do not carry anything different, which makes it necessary for the stout man to go to a tailor. About two years ago we started a department exclusive for stout men. Every garment in this department is specially designed and cut to fit stout men. We have NO hesitation in saying that we can FIT properly any stout man in Toresto from 36 chest up to 50 inches, and if you are a stour man and wish to prove it—

Halley's Comet Due in 1910

At the last meeting of the British American home cannot long survive, because the American home cannot long survive. Halley's Comet Due in 1910 writer on astronomical subjects, said that altho the approach of this comet was far off, even to the extent of four years, he had already found it useful. It was in answering the question. "When are we going to have another years, he had already found it useful. It was in answering the question. "When are we going to have another good comet?" that he found Halley's comet exceedingly useful, his reply being twofold—first, that it was so long since we had a good one, going back practically to 1882, that certainly by the law of averages another good one should law of averages another good one should soon come; and then, as a reserve shot, he had said that in 1910 there certainly would be a very good one—Halley's.

cess-servers have been hunting in vain oath in a suit against the Standard Oil Company—Sunday in an earnest talk to his Bible class declared it was the duty of a man on the witness stand to answer every question truthfully and to dodge nothing.

The suit which the State of Missouri is prosecuting against the oil monopoly is one to deprive it of its franchise there for alleged violation of the anti-trust laws.

laws.

According to the Missouri officials, if John D. Rockefelier would only testify and tell the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth, the world would stand amazed at the revelations and the Standard's charter would soon be gone in Missouri.

"If we are to follow the precepts of our Lord," said young Rockefelier yesterday to his Bible class. "we must refrain from lying. God stands for truth and life. There can be no equivocation, When we get into a tight place there is a tendency to resort to lying if we think it can help us out. I have given this matter much thought and I can think only one way—that to lie is a sin."

think only one way—that to lie is a sin."

As Mr. Rockefeller paused, one of the class arose. Shaking his finger at the young millionaire he exclaimed:

"Mr. Rockefeller, you ought to be ashamed of yourself to talk this way. You have no right to say such things to this class."

Mr. Rockefeller looked surprised and asked: "What do you meën?"

"Why, it is avong to condone lying. God never said a man was justified in telling a lie and"—

"That is precisely what I maintain," interrupted Mr. Rockefeller, "you probably misunderstood me."

The class member tried to say more. "I'd like to talk ten minues about this," he insisted.

"I'll have to ask you not to," said Mr. Rockefeller.

Resuming his discourse on lying, the multipositic said.

Good Roads Needful. The rural schools are the schools of the masses in which are laid the deep and lasting foundations for coming lives of usefulness and for the better-ment of mankind, writes Congressmen Brownlow of Tennessee in Collier's. The rural church-house is the birthplace of Christian character, of high ideals of life, and of patriotic purpose. Neither rural church nor school can flourish where impassable roads abound, and if these can not presser the American these can not prosper the American home cannot long survive, because the American home can only be derpetuated
