Phillies Will Be in Good Shape to Start - Expect to Repeat.

TAMPA, Fla., March 29.—The Phillies refuse to be counted out of the 1916 Na-tional League race without a struggle. Pat Moran and his men are more op-Pat Moran and his men are more op-timistic over their chances for the com-ing season than they were last year by far, and it does not look at the present time as if they had much argument on their side. The fact that Grover Alex-ander will be able to take his place on the slab in as good shape as he ever was in in his life is one big argument in favor of the champions and another one is that Catcher Bill Külifer is also shap-ing up in good enough style to warrant the belief that he will be in the game as strong as he was in 1914. strong as he was in 1914.

This star battery was thought to be out of it last fall by many of the best base-ball judges in the country. Alexander's arm was bad during the world's series last fall. This was one of the alibis for the defeat of the National Leaguers in the big series. Killifer was unable to the defeat of the National Leaguers in the big series. Killifer was unable to work during the last half of the season and was not in a single game of world's series. He was out of the game forever, according to some reports, but this has been disproved at the spring camp of the Phillies in St. Petersburg this year. Alexander is whizzing the ball over with as much speed as he ever had, and the few times that he has tried to use his curves they have worked well. Alex himself is giving the reports no thought at all, for he knows that he is right again. Moran has not asked him to do again. Moran has not asked him to do any of the early pitching in the spring games because he did not want to force the prize arm too fast. He has not even insisted on Alex pitching any in batting practice for the Phillics, but has allowed him to go along just as he has wanted to in the preparatory work. Killifer has been treated in much the same manner. The catcher has not been allowed to use his right arm in throwing to the

The catcher has not been allowed to use his right arm in throwing to the bases, but he has worked out with the pitchers right along so that he is satis-fied that he can peg when it comes time to do so. The return of Killifer to the same this year is going to be a big asset for Moran. Last year he was somewhat handicapped by the loss of the star back-stop, but Burns was able to come thru almost as well as Killifer could have done. In case of an accident to Burns. almost as well as Killifer could have done. In case of an accident to Burns, tho, the Phillies would have been in bad shape for a backstop. Adams is coming thru in good shape this spring, and he will likely be the regular second-string catcher in case Killifer does return. Burns and Killifer will likely divide up the work, because Moran will not want to work Killifer too hard on the start if his arm does come thru as well as it is capected to do at present.

expected to do at present. With the return of Killifer and the addition of Bender to the pitching staff, the Phillies believe that they have strengthened as much as any team in the league and are willing to stand their ground without further effort to add to their fighting force. Wilbur Good will hardly to the stand their their fighting force. Wilbur Good will hardly get a chance to play on the regu-lar outfield, for Whitted, Paskert and Cravath are sure of their jobs if they do not meet with accidents of some kind. The hotel is to close on April 10, but it might as well shut the doors when the Cubs leave, for the tourists are hurrying north to get away from the summer heat here.

The plate eligible. Thorncliffe, has got over his limb trouble after being fired this winter. He looks good and should be a much improved horse this-year, altho he does not fancy going a distance. Fountain Fay, the bread winner of the stable, has rounded out well and looks just as hardy as ever. The maidens, Matt H. and Star Cress, have been schooled over the jumps and will be trained to go thru the field. Star Cress schooled well last fall and was regarded as the best green jumper sent over the hurdles.

OTTAWA SOCCERITES DOING THEIR SHARE

> OTTAWA, Ont., March 29 .- Owing OTTAWA, Ont., March 29.—Owing to the inroads that recruiting has made in the ranks of old countrymen in the cap-ital, there will be no City Soccer League this season. A definite decision to this effect was arrived at by the few remain-ing soccer players in the city today. Only three members of the Soccer As-sociation remain in the city. Two or three soldier teams and one or two ci-villan teams will likely be picked up to play for the Russell Cup, McGivern Cup and the Clarke Shield.

Application Has Been Made to Montreal for Franchise and Playing Dates.

OTTAWA, March 29 .- Tho nothing official has yet been announced, it is understood that there is every probability of Ottawa placing a club in the National Lacrosse Union during the coming summer. Hundreds of local citizens, in view of the decision of the Canadian Baseball League to suspend, are clamoring for a lacrosse revivat and some of Uttawa's leading sportsmen are said to have been approached. There will be a meeting next week for the purpose of discussing the prospects. At yesterday's meeting of the board of control. Allow Berter

At yesterday's meeting of the board of control, Allan Baxter, president of the City Lacrosse League, made application for the use of the athletic field at Lans-downe Park for ten dates during the coming summer, adding that it was the intention of the City League to co-operate with the new senior club, if the latter materializes. It is understood that the City Leaguers will play their games as curtain-raisers to the senior matches. as curtain-raisers to the sonior matches. thus paving the way, by encouraging the younger generation, for a return of the old-time enthusiasm. The board refer-red the matter to Controller Kent, himself an old lacrosse star, and it was intimated that the baseball and lacrosse clubs would be asked to divide the dates. This step to secure the grounds was evidently a forerunner to the organization of the new Ottawa Lacrosse Club. Application for a new franchise in the National Lacrosse Union has already been made and the Montreal clubs are known to be favorable. The Shamrocks, Na-tionals, Cornwall and Montreal A.A.A. composed the N.L.U. last summer and the return of Ottawa to the fold would likely mean the restoration of the prosperous conditions that existed before the N.L.U. made the mistake of admitting Toronto clubs and boosting traveling ex-penses so high that the gate receipts were soon absorbed by the cost of opera-tion. The N.L.U. ran on a semi-pro basis last year. The Montreal and Shamrock clubs did not pay a cent in salaries, while Nationals and Cornwall handed out little. They all made money. At some of the games in Montreal there were as many as 8000 people in attendance. Of course it would take some time to restore its popularity in Ottawa, but there are plenty of local players, and, if neces-sary, a few men could be imported, now that the Big Four has gone out of

"We intend to run an amateur team if possible," said one of the Ottawa men interested in the club. "It is up to the players to say whether or not lacrosse

Yeager. Billy Purtell was also with the Skeeters two seasons ago, playing short-stop and third base. These are the first new players to sign up with the Royals thus far, but it is ex-pected to complete the roster before the end of the week, so that the training camp may start on April 3. Tommy Mad-den, Jack Cadore, Paul Smith, Charlie Fullerton and Bill Holden are those of last year's team who will be back again.

In Zeb Terry the White Sox have pick-ed up a shortstop who looks as good as any who have been graduated in the majors since Donie Bush came up. Zeb is really a marvel. He has all the veter-ans talking about and praising him-which is something that seldom falls to the lot of a recruit. One amazing point about Terry's rise is the fact that he has been a profes-sional ball player only one year. Yet he is a finished shortstop—a skilled work-man.

Montreal Gazette : Taking advantage of numerous penalties handed out to Canadien players and mistakes made from the bench of the Flying French-men, the Portland Rosebuds won the fourth game of the series for the world's professional championship and possession of the Stanley Cup. Twice was the game won and lost by both terms, the Rose-buds leading, 6 to 5, at the call of the scheduled sixty minutes play. The ex-hibition of hockey furnished was, per-haps, the most brilliant ever witnessed in a local arena, while the pace forced by the players has never been surpassed in a local arena, while the pace forced by the players has never been surpassed down in their stride long before the ex-playing went at their work in a nervous manner in the early stages, but settled down in their stride long before the ex-play was replete with spectacular end-to-end rushes and brilliant combination plays by both teams, the men taking every advantage offered by the vestern rules, under which there is no offside in the centre section of the ice. The game was won by Portland, not because they were the better team, but thru beiter splayers. At the end of the second period the locals were in the lead by a single soal, but thru starting out in the third session with substitutes in place of regu-lars, they were soon overtaken and beat-en our in the remaining time. The match was witnessed by a disap-pointingly small attendance, the crowd being not any larger than on the night of the first game, when the gate re-ceipts amounted to about $3000. This may have been accounted for thru the threats of Ernie Johnson that he would not play, and the conclusion drawn that without him on the Portland team it would be an easy victory for the locals. A victory to Portland meant another chance in defence of the Stanley Cup while a victory to the Canadiens meant the championship and possession of the tropy. Knowing this, the players be-came almost desperate in their efforts to score, and each gave his team all that he orm.

Thru a penalty to the Canadiens in the early stages of the third period, and La-londe replaced by Poulin, Portland were given an opportunity to the the score and assume the lead by scoring two goals within the three minutes served by Corbeau on the bench, during which period the locals were forced to play a man short. Not until Portland had se-cured a lead of two goals was there any change made from the Canadien bench, when Lalonde was sent in to replace Poulin at centre. Lalonde scored short-ly after going on the iee, but the locals were never able to get on even terms with their opponents. During the last ten minutes they were forced to play a man short on three occasions thru pen-alties earned by their players, Pitre, Cor-beau and McNamara being on the bench at different times.

Benny Kauff, like Larry Lajoie, does not believe in letting pitchers walk him intentionally if he can get hold of the ball. On Sunday, in the eighth inning, he came to bat with men at third and second base. He had made a home run already and Boehling and Baker decided to give him a pass this time. The first pitch was wide and Kauff didn't try for it. The second was a sloy ball only a few inches outside. Kauff reached for it and poked it to Maisel. He was thrown out, but a man from third scored. His action was rather ill-advised as it was almost impossible for him to get a good hold of the ball.
