The Directors deeply sympathise with his mourning widow and family, and earnestly trust that while they sorrow, though not as those who have no hope, they may experience abundantly the consolations of the word and of the spirit of God."

We have also to notice the removal of one of the Vice-Presidents, the late Chief Justice McLean, one of the oldest friends of the Society, who died since our last anniversary, full of years, and of the honors, which he enjoyed as a good man and an upright judge.

The business of the Society for the past season has been of an encouraging and cheering nature, and indicates no diminished interest in the work of Bible circulation. An abundant harvest having been vouchsafed to us by the great Giver of all good, and a season of prosperity having been experienced throughout the Province, it might have been anticipated that after some seasons of depression there would be some progress in connexion with the operations of the Society. We are thankful to be enabled to say that the actual result has not disappointed such anticipations. This will appear by the following statements.
