

WILL WRITTEN ON EGG SHELL NOW IN COURT

English Judges Called On to Decide Delicate Legal Question

LONDON, Dec. 1.—Mag everything I possess.—I B. All the solemn machinery of the Probate law has been set in motion by this curious message in scarcely legible handwriting on an egg shell. It is the will of a sailor, and when the Probate and Divorce Courts begin their Michaelmas sittings the Crown will contend that it is not a legal document. Above the "last will and testament" is written "1776, 1925".

New Goitre Remedy

Great interest attaches to reports of a remarkable method for treating goitre recently demonstrated at the W. T. B. Laboratory, 2331 Y. M. C. A. Bldg., Battle Creek, Mich. It is used by the patient herself in her own home and it is said that the largest and most hideous goitres begin to recede almost in a day. They gradually get smaller until in three or four weeks they are often gone entirely. The treatment is perfectly safe for anyone to use and many believe it will prove the long sought specific for all goitres. A little book issued by the laboratory explains the method fully and will be mailed free for the asking to anyone interested.

Letters To The Editor

TO HELP EAST SAINT JOHN. East Saint John, N. B., November 30, 1926.

Editor Times-Star: Sir,—Through your valuable columns, I would like, on behalf of the Executive of the Community Club of East Saint John, to place a few matters before the parishioners of this locality. As is generally known, the Community Club arranged with the Power Company, some two or three years ago, whereby an electric light service of six lights at the several car-stops on the Red Head road (from Midway avenue to the school house), would be maintained by the club. This contract is still in force; but of late, however, proper support had not been given to the parishioners in general, and in October it was felt necessary to call a special meeting, open to the public, for the purpose of ascertaining what they wished to do in the matter. So poorly attended was the meeting in question that it was felt the club had not the support needed to continue this most beneficial service. The club, in consequence, accepted a recommendation to disband, and ultimately to reorganize. This work of reorganization has been steadily taking root, officers have been duly elected, a constitution drawn up, and some necessary by-laws for its governance accepted. The club is away to a good start, handicapped only for the want of a community hall of its own, and the goodwill of the general public at large, whose patronage it is hereby soliciting.

The aims and objects of this newly-organized club are for the mutual benefit of all persons from the One-Mile House to the Little River post office, being, as it were, a kind of vigilance committee or taxpayers' association; it is open to young and old, men and women, from the age of 16 years. It is divided into classes, adult and junior, and its hopes are to stimulate through entertainment of one kind and another a social contact of an unselfish and unpolitical nature conducive of that harmony and goodwill necessary to the progress of a people. It is of course recognized that other spheres of endeavor hold the people in the religious and social life, but as something apart from distinctively denominational societies, etc., the Community Club has that feature of being capable of initiating members from all classes and creeds, for the common good. Its aims are, therefore, further enlarged to the consideration and advocacy of such public matters as referred to above. Such an organization, it is generally agreed, is needed in this thickly-populated and fast-growing part of the Parish of Simonds; but it is recognized that without the active and financial support of a fair percentage at least of the parishioners little can be accomplished. Readers of this appeal will recall the public benefits which the old club were instrumental in obtaining, such, for instance, as the two-car, 20-minute street car service; the shelters at the different stops; fire protection; water and sewerage, etc.; and, of course, the lights mentioned herein, a matter, by the way, which today hangs in the balance pending the action of the new executive of the reorganized club. This club would like to continue for the benefit of all users of the street cars, and there are many hundreds daily, the lights at the several car stops; it would also like to advocate, as did the old club, and push by a final conclusion, the provision of a sidewalk on the main thoroughfare from Kane's Corner to at least the school house; for, with the fast-growing traffic on this important highway, pedestrians are constantly in danger, and have frequently to resort to the gutter for their own personal security. Meetings have been agreed upon to take place only once a month, instead of twice as hitherto, for the transaction of business; and these it is expected would not entail any great personal sacrifice of time if regularly held, the executive handling routine matters in the interim. The fees are small, but with sufficient membership to meet all working expenses and the cost of the lights. The United Church has kindly consented to permit the club to meet in its hall in Park avenue on the first Monday of the month, and the meetings are scheduled to take place at 8 o'clock on those nights. May we not appeal to all East Saint John residents, but in particular to the taxpayers, to come and join us at our next meeting, the first Monday in December. United we stand, divided we fall. Yours very truly, The Executive of the Community Club, reorganized 1926. FRANK E. GROVES, Pres.

MOUSE PUTS TOWN INTO DARKNESS

Rodent Creeps on Switchboard and Puts Line Out of Commission

LONDON, Dec. 1.—A venturesome mouse, exploring the electricity plant at Woking, received the shock of its life—and the last shock it will ever get. It crept on to a switchboard. Then several things happened very quickly. The mouse received 10,000 volts and died. A short circuit was caused. An automatic switch opened. A village was plunged into darkness. Byfleet, with some 5,000 inhabitants, is served with electricity from Woking, and people found their light suddenly fall, both in the streets and in houses and shops. Hurried searches were made for candles and lamps, and there was some excitement in the village hall, where a cause was in progress. Frantic telephoning resulted in investigation being made at the works. Searching for an explanation of the opened switch the engineer came across the body of the tiny mouse that had caused all the trouble. The supply was restored within half an hour.

Became So Weak Could Hardly Stand

Min. Wm. Palmer, Tomahawk, Alta., writes:—"Last spring I had a long spell of sickness and became so weak I could hardly stand. I could not sleep at night as the least little noise would wake me up. I tried blood tonics and other nerve pills, but they did me no good, and I was getting worse. I wrote my mother about my condition, and she sent me three boxes of MILBURN'S HEART NERVE PILLS.

CHILE-PERU PEACE AIMED

SANTIAGO, Chile, Dec. 1.—A new formula for peace between Chile and Peru over the provinces of Tacna and Arica has been made public here. The proposed solution calls for the cession of the territory to Bolivia, that country to pay to Chile whatever money the Chilean treasury has expended for public works. It proposes also that Arica be declared a free port, that the territory be demilitarized, and that commercial treaties be signed by Chile, Peru and Bolivia.

SOLDIER IS FREED IN ELECTION ACTIVITY

KINGSTON, Ont., Dec. 1.—Lance Bombadier M. Woodcock, a member of the Royal Canadian Horse Artillery permanent force, was placed under military arrest today on the charge of taking part in an election. Woodcock was on leave and acting as scrutineer for W. F. Nickle, who later obtained his release from arrest by application to General Emsley, commanding the district. Woodcock then returned to his post as scrutineer.

OWLS MAKE NEST IN GUN MUZZLE

LONDON, Dec. 1.—General Sir Ian Hamilton, speaking recently at Oldbury said he had been punished and well punished, for not having had the pluck to decline the Army Council's gift of a 6 inch Krupp gun. "I sent three horses," he said, "to drag the gun from Lingfield station to my house on the hill. They couldn't move the gun, though they broke their traces. I hired three more horses, and up the thing had to come. Halfway down the avenue, however, it broke through the crown of the road and sank up to its axles. At great expense I had to hire a steam jack to pull it out. Then, feeling sure the devil was in the machine, I had it lugged into a field, and left there. Three broods of owls have now been hatched out in the muzzle, so for once Krupp's Essen have helped to make, instead of destroy life."

General Hamilton Relates Story of Captured German Cannon

Records taken over a period of 36 years show that the greatest number of influenza cases occur about the ninth or tenth week of the year, and the fewest about the 35th or 36th week.

Credezza Model $385

One Year ago Today

December second--1925--the new Orthophonic Victrola was publicly played for the first time in the Dominion

ON THAT DAY, our country learned with astonishment what remarkable results the new Orthophonic tone chamber can produce, and gained a newer and finer conception of the beauties to which home music may aspire. The reception being accorded this invention has exceeded even the most liberal calculations. As a result, all Canada knows of the new Orthophonic Victrola, talks of the new Orthophonic Victrola and everybody wants the new Orthophonic Victrola. Today, as a year ago, special demonstrations are being given in all "His Master's Voice" establishments. You are invited to go and enjoy yourself. And remember that to be sure it is an Orthophonic Victrola you must be sure it bears "His Master's Voice" trademark—under the lid.
