Morning Stock Letter

NEW YORK, March 31.—A new wave of liquidation was started yesterday by the break in the oil and rail. Margin calls were heavy again, which will probably bring some forced selling today. Let those who stood out as having met very strong support. Chalmers, which was General Electric, which had a weak market, was up over six points, while G.M. and Steel showed up well. This market has passed so many points when rallies were due without responding in the slightest, that it seems foolish to try to fix a time for a rally. There is some good opinion on the floor with which we are inclined to concur. But the character of the buying during the last few days has impaired the market. It is very near a turn. If stocks are weak today, we believe it will be the last selling wave before a rather extended rally.

Some stocks already have been pushed down to a very attractive level. Among these we might mention in the rail group So. Ry., C. & O. and St. L. Western. In the oil group P.M.S. seems very attractive. In industrial group we believe G.M., R.S.C. and Con. are at levels below their values.

FATE IN BALANCE

While the fate of the Briand government still hangs in the balance, its supporters were optimistic today that the continued fall in the value of the franc, had so alarmed the members of the Chamber of Deputies that for the time being, they were more ready to view things from the financial than the political angle in connection with the crisis.

Finance Minister Peret's speech in the chamber last night was declared in political circles this morning to have been so simple and clear with arguments, and well arranged facts skillfully marshalled and above all, devoid of party feeling, that it made a strong
