BOURASSA AT QUEBEC CONGRESS

For Preservation of French Language in Canada

HE SEES A DANGER

Says That if the French Canadians Are Anglicized They Will Become Not British But American—Urges Bi-Lingual Schools

(Canadian Press)

Quebec, June 29.—Abbe Gastier opened the proceedings at the Congress Du Parler Francais last night by delivering a message from Anstett Acadie. He was received with much enthusiasm when he said the descendants of the former Acadians now living in New Brunswick and Nova Scotia, claimed their full rights today as Canadians. The Acadians, he said, had suffered more by their own acts than their brethren in Quebec, but they were brethren, not rivals.

Henri Bourassa, leader of the Nationalist party in Canada, made a notable address declaring that the preservation of the French language in Canada meant the preservation of British ascendancy among the French speaking dwellers of the dominion.

"At present," he asserted, "the French Canadians love British institutions but the moment you destroy that identity by destroying their language the majority would rather throw in their lot with the million than remain under British government. This would not be the case with ideas, habits and mentally. Quebec, he said, was more Canadian and more British than Montreal. Montreal than Toronto, Toronto than Winnipeg. The reason the mass of the east were protected was because of the conservatism of the British mind, which as a wall, kept out the influence of the American.

"It was time," he asserted, "that English-speaking Canadians opened their eyes to the danger from the invasion of American ideas, habits and mentally. Quebec, he said, was more Canadian and more British than Montreal. Montreal than Toronto, Toronto than Winnipeg. The reason the mass of the east were protected was because of the conservatism of the British mind, which as a wall, kept out the influence of the American.

"I will tell you one thing," asserted Mr. Bourassa emphatically, "if you Anglicize the French Canadians they will not become British, they will become American."

He urged strongly bilingual schools. Those who opposed the teaching of French in the schools of Ontario, he said, were traitors to the constitution to their ancestors and to Canada. The maintenance and propagation of the French language in every province of Canada is the sole means by which the confederation can be preserved or the people protected from the evil influence, moral and political of Americanism.

"The confederation will not remain except in the measure that the equality of language and race is recognized."

SUSSEX MAN IS SET UPON BY SOLDIERS

Cowardly Attack on Harry Black Demanded Indignation and Cause for Action

(Special to Times)

Sussex, N. B., June 29.—The first act of cowardly since the militia have come to camp occurred last evening, and citizens are justly indignant concerning the matter, while the officers and more manly amongst the soldiers are not at all pleased at the result which has come to light.

The affair happened about half past ten o'clock, Harry Black, a popular employe of the Sussex Mercantile Company was proceeding to his home in Maple avenue when he was halted by three soldiers of one of the corps in camp. On asking what they wanted he was answered with a sharp blow across his arm given with a swagger stick. He was then set upon and the three gave him a severe beating.

After their cowardly action, hearing some one approaching they ran, leaving their victim to be assisted home by friends.

Chief of Police McLeod has the matter in hand and will demand an investigation from the proper authorities. It is expected that arrests will follow and the encounter may also end in none of the members of the company in question being allowed the privilege of coming to town at night. Up to last night there had been no disorderly conduct or breach of discipline and the brutal assault on Mr. Black, who is respected by a wide circle of friends, is the cause of much bitter comment.

C. F. GRANDALL TO BE THE MANAGING EDITOR OF THE STAR

Former St. John Newspaper Man in Montreal Leaves the Herald

Montreal, June 29.—C. F. Grandall, formerly editor of the St. John Sun, later with the Halifax Echo, and for the last two years managing editor of the Montreal Herald, has been appointed managing editor of the Montreal Star. He will enter upon his new duties next week.

Mr. Grandall's friends in St. John will join those in Halifax and other parts of the lower provinces in congratulating him on his success since he entered the Montreal field of journalism. His former associates on the St. John press are especially gratified that another of the graduates from this school of newspaper work has made good in the larger arena.

BOSTON CHURCH TO HAVE ROOF GARDEN FOR THE CHILDREN

Will Be Playground in Day And For Open Air Services in Evening

Boston, June 29.—The first church in America to have a roof garden to be used as a playground for children during the day and for open air services in the evening will be built here in Boston.

It will be on the rebuilt Clarendon street Baptist church, corner of Clarendon and Montgomery streets. This church was badly burned last winter and it has now been decided by the trustees of the church to rebuild on the old site and to have a church up to date every detail.

"The roof of the church will be flat and the steeple will be omitted. The roof will have creosoted borders and steel girders, making it a safe place for the children of the south end, to have a playground. Services will be held there in the summer time when the weather permits. Rev. James A. Francis, D. D. pastor of the church, proposes in the restored building to have every means to carry on an aggressive work. Above the church, he proposes putting the Sunday school into twenty separate rooms instead of one large room. Apartments will be built off the auditorium rooms to be used by boys and girls in their club life.

Moving pictures will be brought in to increase the interest in Bible study. Doctor Francis is one of the leaders in biblical study in America and the Bible is the sole means by which the confederation can be preserved or the people protected from the evil influence, moral and political of Americanism.

"The confederation will not remain except in the measure that the equality of language and race is recognized."

NAME IN SMALL TYPE; HE SUES THE DIRECTORY MAN

Montreal, June 29.—Because his name, address and place of business were printed in big type in the Montreal city directory, Charles Auguste Archambault, a local lawyer, was yesterday awarded nominal damages of $25 in a suit against the publisher of the directory.

The difficulty arose from the fact that the plaintiff was a subscriber to the directory of the defendants, John Lovell & Sons. It was testified that the names of all subscribers should be printed in large type in the directory. The name of the plaintiff was printed in small type.

NEW LAND POLICY FOR ENGLAND ADVOCATED

Important Step by Government In View on Account Of Emigration

Taxation of Land Values and Settlement of Small Holders as Tenants on State-owned Lands—Opposition to Insurance Act Weak, But Employers Take Advantage to Cut Wages—King and Queen Win Hearts of All in Wales

(Times' Special Saturday Cable)

London, June 29.—The Liberal party is contemplating a new departure in politics. An influential section of the younger men, supported by some of the cabinet, and led by Lloyd-George is now actively advancing a new land policy for England.

It aims at compulsory purchase of large estates, rebuilding of rural homes, and resettling of the country with small holders.

The authorities have for some time been seriously alarmed at the steady growth of emigration of the most desirable elements of the English population. Last year half a million of thirty, healthy, industrious people, mostly young, left England for the overseas dominions. Scotland's population is now stationary owing to migration to Canada, and the authorities are equally alarmed at the overwhelming rush of population towards the towns and this consequent depopulation in the country.

LESSON IN RECENT LIBERAL VICTORIES

Recently two Conservatives, H. H. Asquith and North West, Norfolk, were won by Liberal candidates who made advanced land programmes the principal planks of the election policy. This lesson has not been lost on the government.

While the government's programme is not yet settled, every influence is being used to make it adopt two main points, taxation of land values and settlement of small holders as tenants on state-owned land.

By taxation of land values it is hoped to compel owners of large estates to sell. The settlement of small holders may be undertaken under direction and instruction of official guides.

Both Unionists and Liberals are agreed that there must be a general scheme for rehabilitating the country labor. The Unionist Daily Mail has this week opened a campaign demanding this. The Unionists may bring an opposing scheme for settlement of small holders on land. While the Liberals advocate state ownership of land and settlers being made state tenants, the Unionists prefer that small holders should be enabled to purchase land from the state on a long payment plan.

INSURANCE ACT, OPPOSITION WEAK

Thursday's demonstration in London against the insurance act was a numerical success. 10,000 mistresses and servants crowded Albert Hall and unanimously declaring they will never submit to the new taxation. 5,000 waited outside unable to obtain admission, but as July 15 draws near the weakness of the opposition to the bill becomes more evident. Not one prominent Unionist member of parliament supported the Albert Hall protest, and the party organizations are carefully protecting themselves from it. Prominent unionist papers are disavowing it and far-sighted politicians are realizing that, despite the tremendous temporary unpopularity of the insurance act it will quickly be accepted by the mass of the people, and will be appreciated.

Perhaps the most dangerous step against the act is the policy of some employers of woman labor who are announcing a considerable reduction of wages, much more than sufficient to pay the tax. One large firm in the city, employing hundreds of women, gave notice that next week it will stop two days pay.

Much uneasiness is felt over the growing passive resistance to the shop hours act. Many employers in the drapery trades

DEMONSTRATIONS IN DEADLOCK

Adjournment of Convention in Hope of Reaching Agreement as to Candidate

Baltimore, June 29.—Giving up all attempts to break the existing deadlock, the leaders of the Democratic party at two o'clock this morning decided upon an adjournment until one o'clock in the afternoon in the hope that some sort of agreement might be reached as to a presidential nominee.

Many of the delegates protested against the delay caused by the adjournment but apparently there was no hope of settling the nomination by conference on the convention floor.

Twelve ballots had been taken when the convention adjourned, in an effort to make a residential nomination and unless the conference which preceded this adjournment's session, should prove to be more productive of results than those which had gone before, it is expected that the deadlock may be indefinitely prolonged, causing the convention to remain in session over another week.

But the delegates are nearly worn out and they are anxious to go home. In this fact lay the hope that the predicted break might occur early today to permit a nomination for president to be made with sufficient time left to name a vice president and adopt the platform before midnight.

Never before in the history of the Democratic party has a candidate for president under the two-thirds rule who has received a majority of votes in a convention been named. The nomination, Champ Clark received a majority on the tenth ballot last night, when New York's solid ninety was thrown his way. Should he fall now to get the nomination, precedent will have been upset.

It was expected before the reconvening of the body that a crisis in the situation would be reached on the next two or three ballots. Leaders who prefer to know have asserted that the speaker could not hold the New York vote much longer and would be obliged to make a concession of going ahead. Mr. Clark has been slipping back long by inch since then.

Underwood was the next candidate, it was reported, who would be given a chance at the New York vote, but this plan was abandoned. Wilson's friends maintained that eventually the tide of votes would turn in his favor and that the party would rally around the New Jersey governor as its standard bearer.

As the only working newspaperman in the legislature, Mr. Stewart is an object of special interest to reporters, and as a legislator what they may come to is not entirely carefree. The people of Northumberland had pushed Stewart into the arena because they wanted him there. He has no canvass and only addressed about five meetings. With a new yacht, a new state, there does not seem to be much more to do than to wait and see what happens until it is an alliance with a suffragette.

POLICE DOG FOR TORONTO

Toronto, June 29.—Within the next two months Toronto's police force will be reinforced the addition of a trained police dog. A gentleman who makes a hobby of breeding and training dogs for the detection of crime has just left for the old country for the purpose of securing a trained Airedale terrier, and before he left Toronto, arranged with Chief Grogan to loan the dog to the police department for experimental purposes.

COUNTRY MARKET

Lord High Chancellor's Speech at Dinner at Which New Ambassador Was Guest

London, June 29.—Presiding at a dinner in the German Hotel in London last night at which the new German ambassador, Baron Marshall von Bieberstein was a guest, Lord High Chancellor Haldane paid a remarkable tribute to Emperor William II.

He said William II. was more than an emperor, he was a great man, gifted from the gods with the highest gifts yet bestowed. He was a true leader of his people. He had guided them through nearly a quarter of a century and preserved an unbroken peace and history would look back upon his reign as a remarkable development of the German people in every direction of intellectual and moral activity.

H. Wilson, an American physician and several others. The rescue was among the most sensational in the annals of Niagara.

Hundreds witnessed the rescue, and cheered as a human chain with Wilson brought the injured man up. Farley was so badly injured that he was taken to the General Hospital, where it was said his condition is very serious.

Farley was so near the edge when Wilson went down with the human chain it was with difficulty that the man was removed without hurting him into the torrent below.

MACLEAN GLANSMEN TOTALLY

Chief Calls Them To Duart Castle For August 24

Edmonton, Alta., June 29.—Colonel Sir Fitzroy Donald Maclean, Bart., K.C.B., D.L., hereditary head of the Clan Maclean, has sent the "fiery cross" throughout the world, summoning his clansmen and clanswomen, of whom there are 23,000 in the United States and Canada, to Duart Castle, Isle of Mull, Scotland, on August 24, when he will unfurl his banner and otherwise fittingly celebrate the triumph of peace. It will be the first national gathering of any Scottish family since 1745.

Writing from London, where he passed most of his time, to members of the clan in Edmonton, Sir Fitzroy says in part: "I am happy to say the ancient stronghold of the Macleans is now my property. This important historical event is giving great satisfaction to all the Macleans in every part of the world, and I am thankful that it has happened in my day."

Duart Castle, which has been out of the family for more than 200 years, was built in the 13th century, soon after the formation of the clan, about 1290; it was repaired and enlarged by Hector Mor, 2nd of Duart, from 1523 to 1563, who was compelled to surrender it in 1601. The present chieftain, who possesses great wealth, has already entered upon the work of restoration and repair at a large expense. Sir Fitzroy paid more than $80,000 for the castle and the surrounding grounds.

The Macleans took the leading part in the attempt to restore the Scottish family of Stuarts to the throne of Great Britain. The Highland Scottish families who adhered to the house of Stuart were scattered at the battle of Culloden on April 16, 1746. Charles Maclean, who was in command, and 200 of his clan were killed. It was a decisive victory for the government forces and was the last attempt made by the Highland Scottish families to restore the house of Great Britain for the Stuarts.

Following the battle at Culloden one branch of the Maclean family migrated to Sweden, another branch moving to Philadelphia, Pa., going afterward to Wilmington, Del. Colonel Allan Maclean, a member of the Delaware branch, recalling the defeat at Culloden, was one of the first to oppose the British forces in the British government. His regiment was known as Allan Maclean's light infantry. Afterward, when the state of Delaware ratified the federal constitution, Colonel Maclean signed the ratification on behalf of the county of Kent.

While Colonel Allan Maclean in Delaware was doing everything within his power to oppose the British forces, another member of the family, Sir Allan Maclean, a general in the British army in charge of a Scottish regiment in eastern Canada, reached Quebec by forced marches to capture Quebec, the key to the conquest of Canada. Maclean held the city for several weeks and finally, on the last night of 1775, he defeated the invading forces, thus holding Canada for the British empire.

Duart Castle, where members of the Clan Maclean from all parts of the world will gather late next August, is situated on a promontory forming the northeastern part of the Isle of Mull, which is separated from the mainland by a narrow strait. The castle faces the sea and is built on a perpendicular rock, 100 feet in height.

It derives its name from the Scottish words, "Dubh," meaning black, and "Ain," a height of promontory. The authors called it "Dubh Ain." Later the name was combined in one word, "Duart."

MANY IN CANADA

This Will Be Their First National Gathering Since 1745—Stronghold of the Family on Isle of Mull Now in His Possession

BEAT TO DEATH THE MAN WHO ROBBED THEM

Bandit Was Knocked Into Water and Passengers Killed Him

Stockton, Cal., June 29.—A desperate robber who held up passengers on two river launches en route to Stockton, about forty miles down stream, was beaten to death after he had shot an engineer named San Griscorn through the shoulder. The body was brought here.

The passengers came from the Scotch wharf and landed at Stone's landing with his face blackened and, holding up two pistols, took all the valuables of the passengers. Then he forced the engineer to run the launch to a landing and, another launch coming into sight, he just all the men ashore except the engineer and compelled him to blow the alarm whistle and run alongside the approaching boat. Then he robbed the passengers there in the same way robbing twenty-two men all told.

As the robber was backing away Griscorn struck him and knocked him overboard. As the robber came up he pointed one pistol and shot Griscorn. The passengers picked up iron and beat the robber to death. The body was reached with grappling irons and brought here. In the pockets of the dead robber were the watches and money he had stolen.
