aid Ruth gently. She felt sorry for the girl who had listened and had heard words that troubled her just as she herself had done. "We must warn people we have failed, and correct the faults. If they were good and clever artists you heard, they ought to know. Don't you think of would still study, and try to be a good colorist and a good draughts-

"You are that already," said Hetty, as she pulled a white fly to his angely in her p-stance. "I am in the
the way. And if I brighten up a bit, the effect always seems to be Christmas cardish," said Ruth with smile. "That comes, I suppose, at correcting the faults with painted
ards. One is so apt to fall into liter mannerisms."

"Has Mr. Patterson said you yet?"
asked Hetty, in a low voice.
"No, I am too tame. I err in the
the way. And if I brighten up a bit, the effect always seems to be Christmas cardish," said Ruth with
smile. "That comes, I suppose, at
correcting the faults with painted
ards. One is so apt to fall into lit-
er mannerisms."

"Ah, no! not at all," answered Hetty
quickly. "But he is away from home,
understand, and owing to the singular conduct of my respected cousin will be too upset to think of such small matters as our little sketches.
Of course a few pounds does not mean much to him, but it means very much in our house, where every shilling is looked at twice before being spent."

"I dare say you are right," said
the same, Mrs. Farmer. "We poor artists have a fight to keep our heads above water. We have not time to dip of broken hearts."

"Is not that quite as well?" said
Ruth quietly.
"Yes, perhaps it is," answered Het-
ty.

"Work is a blessing to a woman,"
"Sometimes," replied Hetty crossly.
"I think I could enjoy an idle life like my cousin Maud. There is a great deal of nonsense written about work being the cause of adversity, etc. I think it hardens a woman always to be climbing uphill and to be thrust back again like the victims in Dore's 'Dan-

"Don't say that, dear," said Ruth anxiously. "Why cannot we travel on doing our duty, hoping always
for the good day coming?"

"Because we are human," answered Hetty. "Oh, Mrs. Farmer!" and the girl suddenly, "I ought not to complain; you must have come through some trouble. It is cruel of me to be cross with you."

AT MOUNT ELGIN

LARGELY ATTENDED MEETING LAST NIGHT IN THE INTERESTS OF M. S. SCHELL

There was a splendid attendance at the meeting at Mount Elgin last night in the interests of Malcolm S. Schell. Despite the unfavorable weather the Foresters' hall was well filled, and all the speakers, who dealt thoroughly with the various phases of the reciprocity pact, were given a most attentive hearing. Those who spoke were E. DeWitt Hunt, Mr. Sypher, T. R. Mayberry and Mr. Schell.

fractured his Skull. Niagara Falls, Ont., Sept. 6.—William Clapperton, 666 East King street, Toronto, lies at the Memorial Hospital on the American side with a fractured skull. Late Monday night he jumped aboard a Buffalo-bound train by mistake and leaped off when he learned his error. His conditions are serious.

Eighty-One Drowned. Lima, Peru, Sept. 6.—The Chilean steamer Tucapel was wrecked and is a total loss. Eighty-one persons were drowned. The steamer Tucapel was engaged in trading on the west coast of South America. She was of 1912 tons and was commanded by Captain Marrow.

Accidental Shooting. Kingston, Sept. 6.—A. E. Hunt, a barber, was accidentally shot in the side while out with a party near Collins Lake. One of the party shot at a stump for practice, and the bullet glanced off and struck Hunt in the side. He will recover.

Stole Railway Wire. Kingston, Sept. 6.—The street railway for some time has been missing large quantities of bond wire from their tracks. It is believed thieves have been at work nights with instruments, taking wire from the tracks.

Warring. He was closely followed in the competition by W. G. G. Barton, G. McDonald, and A. Taniel, who are the other prize winners, taking 2nd, 3rd, 4th and 5th prizes respectively. Handsome prizes are being given. The first is a large silver cup donated by M. S. Schell to be held by the winner for one year. The second prize is given by Col. T. R. Mayberry, M.L.A., the third by Principal Bidden and the fourth and fifth by Mr. Tanton. The nature of the prizes and their presentation will be announced later.

FIVE INQUESTS IN DAY.

Persons Implicated Are Exonerated by Toronto Juries.

Toronto, Sept. 6.—Five inquests were conducted in this city yesterday. Roy Stafford of Belleville, Ont., was acquitted from blame for the death of five-year-old Edith Collins by Chief Coroner Johnson's jury. It was shown that the boy's approach had been hidden by a street car beside which Mr. Stafford's motor car was running west on Queen street, near Rhodes avenue. The car stopped and the boy was only five feet away when he came into view of those in the motor.

Coroner A. E. Morgan's jury added a rider to their verdict of accidental death in the case of Samuel Linton, whom they found to have been killed by a fall from part of a derrick while at work at the Dominion Bridge Co.'s plant Aug. 29.—They added that they were of opinion "that sufficient precaution was not taken in erecting the derrick."

Coroner Fred. Winnett's jury found that no blame attached to the motor-man of College car 1470, which struck Albert Charters at College and Margaret streets Aug. 30. He had ridden from behind one car in front of another on his bicycle, so that he died in the Western Hospital.

Coroner R. J. Wilson opened an inquest at the morgue yesterday afternoon into the death of Joe Hegburn, who was killed by a fall from the "Racer Dips" at the island on Labor Day. It was adjourned till September 11.

Coroner W. A. Young opened an inquest at the General Hospital yesterday into the death of Win. Johnson, who was killed by a street car in East Gerrard street Monday.

Plans are well under way for the erection of the Canada Cement Works' half-million dollar road at Windsor.

COUNCIL URGED BY SCREW COMPANY

To Deal in a More Aggressive Manner With Interswitching and Weigh Scales—One Hundred Dollars Granted to Ex-Constable Cook.

The agitation to improve Thames street has not entirely subsided. The question was briefly discussed by the council last night, but apart from the Mayor requesting the special committee of the council, of which Deputy Reeve Walley is chairman, to confer with the citizens' committee for the purpose of deciding upon some plan of action, nothing definite was done. While the discussion was in progress the Mayor mentioned that the Thames street improvement contractors still have some five years to run before maturing. It was also mentioned that it would not be wise to undertake any permanent work in regard to the gutters, if it was the intention of the council to improve the whole street. Deputy Reeve Walley characterized the cobble-stone gutters as a relic of by-gone days, and said that so far as he was concerned, he would willingly pay the whole cost to have them removed from in front of his store.

The Mayor said he had interviewed Mr. Rust of Toronto while he was in Ingersoll in connection with the works arbitration, in regard to the proposed improvements to Thames Street. After looking over the ground and taking into consideration the grades, he had recommended a brick pavement. Mr. Rust did not give the approximate cost of the work, but stated there would be little difference between brick and asphalt.

Reeve Fleet drew attention to the fact that it would not be advisable to undertake any permanent work on the street until the street was to be improved later on. The matter was eventually dropped on the understanding that the committee from the council and the citizens' committee would take it up on an early date.

INTERSWITCHING AND WEIGH SCALES.

Under date of Aug. 24th, the John Morrow Screw Limited, wrote as follows:—To the Mayor and Members of the Town Council.

Gentlemen:—Re interswitching and weigh scales, which you have taken to secure for us, beg to say that it is quite disappointing to us that these weigh scales have not been installed and that more has not been done in regard to getting interswitching. We are trying to carry out our end of the agreement and hope you will not think because of our going ahead in the way we have done it is not necessary for you to use every possible means to get what we are so much in need of at the present time. We are losing money constantly by not having these two things in connection with our plant. We know that you have given this some careful attention, but lately the matter seems to have dropped and we want to bring it before you again so that you may act in connection with the same in a very special manner.

THEY WANT LIGHT.

BOARD OF WORKS.

ACCOUNTS.

Accounts as follows were read: Ingersoll Gas Light Co. $6.22; Bell Tel. Co. 40 cts.; Jas. McDonald $1.20; C. P. R. Tel. $1.50; Robert Kerr $1.50; Staples & Brebner $2.

INQUIRIES.

Under the head of inquiries, Reeve Fleet pointed out that it was necessary to make some provision for carrying on the work of the Board of Works.

VEINS OF SILVER IN TOP OF ROCK

Postmaster Gibson Sees the "Handy" Metal in Natural State in Cobalt Mining Camp—Temperance Meetings in Northern Country.

To the Editor of The Chronicle. Dear Sir:—Well, here I am up in this northern country where the sun shines in the summer nearly all the time, but where it freezes pretty hard, I am told, in the winter, and yet withal, a healthy and invigorating climate.

Cobalt is a place of "ups and downs." You are no sooner up than you are down again, in fact, when you have taken one step you must not think of taking another until you have made a careful calculation as to what may be in front of you the next morning.

Shops and houses—shacks predominating—are built in all sorts of situations. Some of them seem to be hung up against the rock, and yet all this and much more I cannot stop to describe tends to make Cobalt a very picturesque place. There is no longer a hasty rush to get here, as for example, and the country still further north, for the moment at any rate, commands the situation. Some of the mines are paying well. I visited one on Saturday which is turning out $2,000 worth of silver a day and declaring a dividend upon the capital invested of 33 per cent. It was upon this property where the discovery of the white metal was first made. You could still see the silver shining in the top of the rock. On an express wagon at the station I saw $30,000 worth of silver ore being shipped to some firm in New York. However, I think I am safe in saying that only a few have made good, the many have put more into the diggings than they have taken out, which would seem to indicate that a nation must depend for its national wealth on its humble toilers, who day after day perform their allotted task, and who outside the limelight faithfully do their duty.

The Alliance had about sixty meetings yesterday in the northern part of Ontario and from the conditions which exist there is much to be made of an educational campaign along temperance lines. This mining camp is well worth seeing, and yet, after all, Ingersoll to my mind, is still the ideal spot and what I shall ever hope to call my home. Yours truly, Joseph Gibson.

INGERSOLL FAIR SEPT. 19TH, 20TH

Indications Point to Increase in Entries and Keener Competition—Speeding Events for the Final Day.

The annual exhibition of the Ingersoll, North and West Oxford Agricultural Society, will be held on the 19th and 20th of this month. More attention than ever before has been given the details, and with a material increase in the premiums, which total the splendid sum of $12,000 more than last year, the conditions are anticipated. With these conditions prevailing an increase in the attendance has shown a steady growth during recent years, is looked for this year, and the organizers could be said to embrace the popularity of the exhibition and encourage interest in agricultural pursuits, was received energetic and painstaking attention to the best of dairy cows irrespective of breed. The cup must be won twice before becoming the property of the winner. Cash prizes of five dollars and three dollars respectively will be given by the Society for the herds next in order of merit. A splendid program of speeding events, which in the past have created keen interest, and contributed largely to the increasing success of the exhibition has been provided for the final day. So far as the program is concerned the Exhibition promises to be the best ever held by the Society.
