A Narrow Escape.

An elderly gentleman in attempting to board a car at the corner of Government and Fort streets at noon to-day, slipped from the step and fell across the track in front of the wheels. The car was moving and the wheels were only a few feet from his body, but by quick action on the part of the motorneer and conductor, a horrible accident was pre-vented. The conductor turned on the brakes while the motorneer reversed the driving power. As a result the car jumped back just before it reached the Last season Mr. W. F. Anderson, prospector who had spent several months in the districts of the west coast, discovered a number of large and valuable veins of marble of different descriptions. Seattle capitalists were interested in the discoveries and as a result a party was organized to go over the property. the party were Mr. Anderson and Mr. Dewsnap, an expert. They visited the property and returned this morning on steamer Rainbow. Mr. Anderson has already given his views in regard value of the marble veins, and his views are supported by the opinion of Mr. Dewsnap. They will report to the Seattle capitalists, who will probably machinery down and establish quarries.

Smallpox in County Court.

In County Court to-day, the Chief Justice sitting as judge, the greater part of the day was taken up with hearing the case of J. H. King, of Caledonia avenue, against the Corporation. On the 15th of January last the plaintiff assisted in burying a child who had died of smallpox and although, as he claims, he took every precaution to guard against the spread of the disease, he was on the 17th following, at the instan e of the city's police officers, arrested and with the whole of his family taken to the Ross Bay suspect station and there kept for 11 days. When he was re-leased he found that goods had been stolen from his house, that 35 chickens nad been allowed to starve, that his forses had been ill used and that things in general about the house were ups'de He now claims $247 for damages and loss sustained as above, in the alternative damages generally in $250. RECEIVING REPORTS.

General Celebration Committee Receive Reports of Sub-Committees.

The general celebration committee met last evening, Mayor Beaven in the chair. There was a very small attendance, but a good deal of business was disposed

The finance committee reported that after a most careful canvass they estimated that the most they could collect was $2,400, which, with the $1,000 promised by the council would total $3,400. The report contained a detailed statement of the amounts granted to the sub-committees. The report to the sub committees. The report was laid on the table until after the reports of the sub-committees had been re ceived.

The sub-committees' reports contained the results of meetings, particulars of which have been published.

Mr. J. S. Yates as a member of the regatta committee objected to their appropriations being cut down. The committee, he said, had figured as closely as possible. The professional prizes had been cut down, while the amount for amateur races had been increased.

The James Bay Baseball club wrote stating that the appropriation for a baseball match was totally inadequate success, and struts around bossing the and they could not play for that amount. The James Bay Lacrosse club wrote tions to the park's population are now being viewed by large and admiring match with the New Westminster junior club, and they asked that the event be published on the programme.

There was a good deal of objection to the action of the finance committee in deciding what amounts should be given to the various sub-committees. One gentleman characterized it as "impertinent and insulting. The committee proceeded to consider the finance committee's report. When the appropriation for sports and games was being discussed a member of victoria Athletic club stated that would not be able to give an exhibiton this year on account of the absence of several members of the club. He moved that the amount appropriated for the exhibition be given to the general field sports. It was moved in amendthat part of the money be given to the junior lacrosse club.

It was finally decided that the amount of $625 be appropriated for sports and games, and the sports and games comsports and games committee be asked to make a further re

All the other items of the vere adopted, and it was decided that the various sub-committees, in conjunction with the chairman of the finance committee, have the power to select and purchase prizes. On motion it was decided to add the names of the chairmen of the sub-committees to the reception committee.

After disposing of several other routine matters the meeting adjourned.

F. P. Harlow, agent of the Northern Pacific Express Company, at Seattle, is in the city on a business trip. He says that the $3000 express package stolen two weeks ago has not yet been found. Both Messengers Squires and Hopkins, who were under suspicion, have been discharged. The money will most like ly never be recovered.

Supplies for the Canneries. There was a busy scene on the C.P.N. docks early this morning. As many men as could conveniently operate trucks were at work loading the river and other steamers with cannery and other supplies. About 4000 cases of tin which will make four times as many cans were shipped, besides a lot of salt and provisions. This, however, is only small proportion of the large amount of goods that are being shipped from Victoria to the canneries this year.

Settled at Last. A dispatch from Ottawa contains the pleasing intelligence that the owners and masters of seaking vessels, who were made allowances the modus vivendi of 1891, will be paid mmediately, or at least as soon as it can be sent here. The money owing to seamen and hunters will be withheld until their identification is settled Scaling men think that the department should have acted long ago. They have been kept out of their money for no eason at all. The matter would probably not be settled yet had not several sealing men appealed to Thomas Earle, M.P., who telegraphed to Ottawa.

The Probable Programme

The celebration sports and games com mittee will offer medals to cost $100 for a baseball match between local teams on the 23rd. Seventy-five dollars nas also been voted by the committee for a junior lacrosse match. The pro gramme will probably be as follows: Tuesday, 23rd—9 a.m., baseball; 11 a. m., exhibition of trap shooting; 11 a.m., foot caces, etc., on Beacon Hill; 12 a. m., bicycle races; 2:30 p.m., champion-ship lacrosse match. Wednesday, 24th -9 a.m., inter-city rifle match; 9:30 a. m., junior lacrosse match. The aquatic events are not mentioned, as the time for them will be fixed by the regatta committee.

The robbery was committed while the clerk was en-tering the bank at Frankfort. Curtin is well known by the American police.

The Premier Talks for an Hour and a half but Fails to Convince.

I. C. BROWN THE HERO OF THE HOUR

A Resolution of no Confidence Carried Unanimously-The Premier Makes a Characteristic "Sneak" at the Finish -Groans for the Government.

New Westminster, May 10.—Premier Davie's meeting in the opera house last night was the largest in the history of the Royal City. The building was litthe Royal City. The building was literally packed, and many who sought admission were turned away. Ex-Mayor Wm. B. Townsend was in the chair announced as the programme that Mr. Davie would speak first, to be followed by Mr. J. C. Brown, M. P.P., then the premier, then Mr. Brown's reply. Mr. Townsend made an urgent appeal for fair play, which was quite unnecessary, as the people were only too anxious to hear what Mr. Davie had to say.

Premier Davie then advanced to the front of the stage, apparently confident that the meeting would be willing to be converted by him to his way of thinking, but before many minutes he lost his confident bearing. He opened his speech by attacking the parliament buildand the petition were the work of those who lived by turning the public mind. These people were foolish. This accusation brought forth cries of "No, cusation brought forth cries of No, no," "Retract," etc., and the tumult was deafening. This feeling of unrest, he said, he felt sure he would be able to allay, and all feeling respecting the pending injustice. He then began defending the government for not keeping its promise about redistribution and its promise about redistribution, and trotted out all the old arguments on the census question, reading a telegram which passed between Turner and Lowe. He said the government intended to give a fair measure of redistribution as soon as they could get correct census returns from the Dominion government. It was impossible to do so sooner. He ridiculed the idea of separation and stated that in dealing with the petition to the governor-general it was receiving more consideration than it would at Ottawa. It was ridiculous to think of dividing a population of 100,000 into two prov-

As for the government buildings, they were needed very badly, and Victoria was entitled to an appropriation. He was in the house a few days ago and noticed a large pool of water under the speaker's chair, but he did not say how it got there.

The government had no intention of guaranteeing the British Pacific railway. Next session will be called early, so that the redistribution measure can be brought down. This, he thought, ought to satisfy all reasonable-minded people. He thanked the audience for the patient hearing they had given him, after speaking an hour and a half. Mr. J. C. Brown followed and was cheered for several minutes, which was in direct contrast to the Davie recep-tion. His speech was a reply to the premier's remarks. He said the hon. gentleman's promises were like the little ditty of the spider and the fly. Mr. Davie wanted to convey advice and not take too much notice of these agitators, but just let the government do what it wanted and "everything would be lovely and the goose hang high. had given out that he was in a, better position to gauge public opinion than those who were now termed agitators, but the speaker was sure the govern-ment in this case had not judged public opinion rightly in Westminster district. Everywhere that he had addressed meetings he found the present agitation was matured judgment of the people, though the honorable gentleman had declared otherwise. Mr. Davie said that the petition would not be considered when it was forwarded to the parties to whom it was directed. This might be the case if there were representative government here, but the petition went on to show that the legislature was not representative and that we have not esponsible government. The appeal to governor-general was made because we have no constitutional means of redress. Mr Brown then, in order, took up and answered fully all Mr. Davie's arguments, to the satisfaction of the audience, who repeatedly broke out in cheers. He made a large number of excellent hits at Mr. Davie, which were thoroughly appreciated and held meeting to a man. In closing his lengthy speech Mr. Brown moved the following resolution: "Resolved, that this neeting, having listened to the address of the premier, endorses the action of the constitutional league, condemns the unust policy of the government, and considers it unworthy of the confidence and the support of the people."

Mr. Davie replied briefly, as it was nearly midnight. There were cries of "Question and "No question." The chairman hesitated about putting the resolu-tion, and said the only way to decide the matter was to put the question whe-ther the motion be put or not. There were loud cries of "Yes" and a few "No," when Mr. Davie walked up to the chair-man whispered something is his man, whispered something in his ear, turned, put on his coat, and the speakers began leaving the stage.

Mr. Brown at once seized the motion.

Road Meeting at Burgoyne Bay. Our representative, Mr. Booth, of the Islands electoral district, called a meeting of the residents of Borgoyne Bay and Beaver Point on the 29th day of April last, for the purpose of select a road-master for the above named districts for the ensuing year. The meeting was well attended, almost every resident of the districts being present, showing the inflerest taken in road maters here. After selecting a chairman and a secretary Mr. Booth addressed the meeting in a manner suitable to his followers and fitted for the occasion. He began by saying he was in favor of his constituents electing their own road-masters annually, but he was to be a competent man and the right person, or Mr Gore, deputy commissioner of lands and works, would not accept him as roadnaster, as the government wished to keep the roads under their control, and government appropriations would not last all the time, as there would soon be an end to the money; but so long as there was money in the country he would try and get all he could of it for the Island. He concluded his speech by telling his followers he wished them to elect their road-master, but no one else but the person whom he wished to fill

There is no doubt about the truth of Mr. Booth's statement about the money coming to an end. As for Mr. Gore coming whether a person was a good Philadelph road-master or not, by having his name returned to his office as the person selected by the people it is more than any person can tell.

Unionist Dynamite. Dublin, May 7.—The police guarded all night the Four Courts, in which a bomb was exploded at 10:40 last even-ing. They found in the quadrangular court yard a time fuse and the fragments of a large zinc canister, similar to those left by the explosion in Exchange Court last December. The pay ing stones in the yard were loosened but the walls of the court building were but little injured. The police say the bomb was evidently thrown into the deep area from the King Inn quay, which is on the river Liffey. Whitworth and Richmond bridges, and just opposite the court building. explosion was heard more from a distance than near by. It roused everybody at the Kilmainham barracks and Lord Wolseley dispatched at once an orderly to report on the trouble. Before midnight thousands had gathered at the Four Courts. To-day a number of people have been in the neighborhood, but the crowds have been kept back by a double cordon of police, who will keep the court yard intact until af ter the arrival of the government inspector. The purpose of the persons throwning the bomb was not to sacrifice human life. At night the Feur Courts and all the immediate neighborhood are deserted, so there was not the slightest chance that anybody would be killed by the explosion. The Nationalists believe that the thrower of the bomb intended to embarrass the government. The police attribute the act to a Unionist agent, who wished to make the impression that the Irish extremists were eager to remind the people of the Phoenix park assassination

Money for Satolli's Residence. New York, May 10.—The visit next Saturday of Delegate Satolli to the bishop of Newark and Patrick Corrigan of Hoboken will be made the occasion of praise offereings from the diocese New York. Archbishop Corrigan w soon issue an order to the clergy on the necessity of contributing generously to the Washington residence for Delegate Satolli. Bishop Wigger has already started a subscription in his diocese. The action of the New York diocese is thought to 'indicate that satisfactory relations have been established with Satolli.
