TOURIST ASSOCIATION.

Annual Meeting — Resignation President Fisher—Reports Presented.

Good Financial Standing-Splendid Work Last Year-Old Home Week-The Time Question and Other Matters Discussed.

mittee hopes that before next season is over a collection of sildes will be provided.

Enlargements.—Numerous enlargements of photographs portraying New Brunswick scenes have been framed and distributed.

Publishing Daily Temperature.— Arrangements were effected with the Boston Herald to publish daily in that paper the temperature at St. John. In this regard the association is indebted to D. L. Hutchinson, of the Dominion Meteorological Service, and to George Robertson, of the Western Union Telegraph Co., for preparing despatches and facilitating arrangements for transmission.

Information Bureau.— No work ever undertaken by the association has been so successful and popular as the Tourists' Information Bureau, opened at the Board of Trade rooms, under the care of Mrs. Rupert E. Olive. During the early part of the season Mrs. Olive visited points of interest in New Brunswick and Nova Scotia, procuring a large amount of information of a practical nature regarding various resorts, which proved of inestimable benefit.

Large numbers of tourists visited the bureau, and information of all description regarding our country, which was tabulated and systematically arranged for reference, was at their command.

A carefully compiled list of boarding houses and hotels throughout New Brunswick was kept, and this in itself, althoughentalling a considerable amount of detail work, has amply repaid the association.

A record of visitors came from Massachusetts, New York next on the list, Pennsylvania, Maryland and Illinois following in the order named. In every way the bureau was a great success.

Buckboard Drives.— The drives inaugurated under the patronage of the association two years ago have been continued, and have proved, we are glad to state, a convenience to the visitor, as well as a good investment for the proprietor.

Band Concerts.—With the co-operation of the hardware clerks, the committee was enabled to establish a separate fund for the purpose of providing band concerts. Each week during the summer months one eve pack had to be contended with in this con-nection, namely, the want of a permanent band stand in this city. Your committee brought this matter to the attention of the common council. It is sincerely hoped that before next season such a stand will be pro-before next season such a stand will be provided.

Prospect Park.— The new "Outlook" at the Falls, "Prospect Park," has given to our citizens not only the finest site from which to view the Falls, but, let us hope, the foundation of a new park.

Through the generosity of Messrs. Murray and Gregory, the owners of this property, the association was enabled to provide this additional attraction. On a knoll overlooking the fialls, Messrs. Murray & Gregory erected, at their own expense, a pretty parilion, and benches were provided by Messrs. Andre Cushing & Co., and distributed along the paths.

Permission was given the association to improve the existing drive ways and open up new paths to the pavilion. This work was most energetically and ably done under the direction of G. S. Fisher, to whom the thanks of every citizen of St. John is due for his valuable services, gratuitously rendered.

Harbor Excursions.— Harbor excursions were arranged by the committee, and numbers of tourists availed themselves of the opportunity of enjoying a sail in the safe and commodious boats provided by J. F. Belyes and Mr. Lord of Carleton.

Accommodation in Country Districts.—Your committee believes that the accommodation throughout the country is greatly improved, and that the work of the tourist bureau has been beneficial in promoting and encouraging this improvement. Much is yet to be desired in this prospect, but the committee is of the opinion that, as the requirements of the tourist and the benefits of tourist travel become more widely recognized, the necessary improvements will follow.

Finances.—The treasurer's report, which will be submitted to you, shows a gratifying increase of revenue over the previous year.

This should show that the work which the association is prosecuting appeals to the public, and your committee trusts that the public will approve of their efforts.

Question and Other Matters

Discussed.

At the annual meeting of the New Brunswick Tourist Association Friday night, President W. S. Flaher, who has directed the affairs of the society with eminent ability the past after years, tendered his resignation. He had held the office too long, he said, and wished to make room for new blood, but promised the members the same hearty support the association has always received from him. As the officers are apoplated by the executive and not by the whole society, no immediate action was taken, and it is the hope of the members that alken, and it is the hope of the members that all the state of the same hearty shall be received the same hearty and the same hearty shall be received the same hearty and the same hearty shall be received the same hearty shall be received to reconsider. Magazine Articles and Illustrated Lectures.
—Material for many articles and pictures for illustrated lectures have been supplied by the association freely.

Lectures illustrated by lantern slides are becoming more popular through the United States each year, and large numbers of lantern slides, if the association possessed them, could be used to great advantage. Your committee hopes that before next season is over a collection of slides will be provided.

Enlargements.—Numerous enlargements of photographs portraying New Brunswick of the work of the association in inducing the visits of tourists.

Speaking of the tourist travel in Nova Scotis, he compared the great effect made in advertising by the D. A. Railway with the scanty work in this line of the C. P. R. or I. C. R. J. B. Hamm insisted on the necessity of providing some means of amusement here for tourists such as is adopted in Portland.

James Kelly, travelling passenger agent of the I. C. R., and W. T. Creighton, the road's advertising agent, were present, and contributed to the discussion.

Mr. Creighton discussed the benefit of advertising to the association, and advised them to inform the railways regarding prospective tourists and to send them more literature for distribution.

G. A. Schofield speaking of the work of the association, referred in terms of high compliment to the able work of the president, Secretary Shaw, and Mrs. Olive, upon whom depended the success of last year's work.

W. E. Raymond heartily approved of Mr. Hamm's suggestions regarding the provision of amusements, and warmly advocated the extersion of the street railway to places of popular resort outside of the city, such as the park, the falls and neighboring lakes.

In a graceful speech, D. J. McLaughlin supplemented Mr. Schofield's remarks regarding the officials of the association and moved the extension of a vote of thanks to the president, to Secretary Shaw and to Mrs. R. E. Olive. The motion was seconded by Geo. Robertson, M. P. P., and carried, with applause. The recipients gratefully responded.

J. B. Hamm again referred to the necessity of providing better means of access to summer resorts near the city, and suggested the establishment of an automobile line to run out and back to the head of Loch Lomond morning and evening. If two automobiles of a capacity of 20 persons each were provided, he was sure the business would pay.

H. D. McLeod brought up the time question, a cause of great complaint from the tourists. He spoke of the present difficulties, discussed the remedial suggestions offered, and advocated the adoption of Atlantic standard time, if the railways could be persu

TRURO, N. S., Jan. 21.-The supplementary public meeting to the one held last Thursday evening for the continued discussion of town affairs in connection with the coming election of mayor, was held last night in Y. M. C. A. hall,

So much interest was shown in the subjects under consideration that some time before the hour appointed for opening the meeting most of the seats vere taken up and all the standing coom was soon occupied. Senator Mc-Kay was chosen chairman. It is necessary to say that the chief subect for consideration was in reference to a long standing claim the I. C. R. department has upon the town to supply water to the railway, in regard to the propriety of which difference of opinion prevails here. Some months past a committee was appointed by the mayor and council to confer with the railway authorities in order to settle this matter. Hugh McKenzie is the leading member of this committee, and in that capacity was first called ipon to address the large and influential audience. In an able speech of about an hour and a quarter he reviewed the important points and docunents in connection with agreements and transactions which have taken place between the town and the I. C. R. department since 1875 in reference to the claim the latter makes upon the town. He urged upon the ratepayers the pressing necessity, in many respects, there was for making a speedy settlement of the matter, and advised them not to be misled by Mayor Stuart's attempt to coerce the railway department into giving better terms than what there was a good prospeof now securing. This favorable settlement of the difficulty, in his opinlate arrangements for lighting the town, which, in effect, he characterized as a rather loose way of conducting public business. Mayor Stuart for three-quarters of an hour replied to Mr. McKenzie, maintaining in his closing remarks that the welfare of the town in setltling the water supply question with the I. C. R. would be promoted by

LEAD KINDLY LIGHT. ST. JOHN, N. B., Jan. 24th, 1902. the Editor of the Sun:

Sir-At one of the city churches or last Sunday evening, the pastor spoke on the hymn Lead Kindly Light as being the work of a Roman Catholic There seems to be a great many people as ignorant as he is on this subject, which this will enlighten. Now, Newman was not a Romanist when he wrote it. More than that, it was not the favorite hymn of the late President McKinley.

A writer in the Herald and Presbyter makes the following wise com

The talk about President McKinley's favorite hymns, two of which have been sung so much during the past few months, raises again the question: What is the standard in Christian hymnology? What is it that makes a hymn best, or comparatively good? hymns which Mr. McKinley especially liked were Lead, Kindly Light, and Nearer, My God, to Thee. It is readily admitted that in both are elements which commend them to not a fev Christians, and to a consderable number of non-Christians. The history of. the two hymns has no little to do with their form and their significance. It cannot be forgotten that the one (the first named) was written by an English Churchman who, some time after, found his way into the Church of Rome. The author (Newman) had Maitland, Hants Co., where she was been spending several months in Italy had been detained for weeks James Chipman, a prominent resident of Kings Co., died at his home home with his mother (for he was a Italy to France, and had been obliged to embark on a sailing fruit The weather was unfavorable, and the vessel made very slow progress. He was hardly convalescent from his fever, and was really home sick. To add to his disappointments the vessel was becalmed and lay for a full week utterly helpless. It was during this time that the hymn (socalled) was written. It was, one of several composed during those days. Just what is meant by it, or what was in the mind of the author, he himself could hardly tell afterward. It has been thought that he was then con-templating his surrender to Rome; but such cannot have been the case, for twelve years intervened before the transition was accomplished. He says of himself that it was evening, and he was annoyed by the slowness of the passage. The darkness was gathering, and he wrote: Lead kindly light, amid the encircling gloom,

Lead thou me on;
The night is dark and I am far from home,

Just what he meant by "kindly light" (if, indeed, he punctus ed it that way) he himself was hard able to tell. It does not appear that, at the first, he wrote the word light with a capital, or whether he put the comma before or after the word kindly. We might get an idea out of personified "kind Light," but it is not so easy to conceive what is meant by "kindly Light." And so the last two lines of the poem-

"And with the morn those angel faces smile, Which I have loved long since and lost awhile."

the author, when asked what he meant by them, was unable to tell. There is really nothing in the history of the hymn to indicate that the author was, at that time, contemplating a ransfer of allegiance from Church of England to the Church of Rome. If there was any significance in it, political and English church questions were at the ore, rather than the deeper and more absorbing question of a new church allegiance. That was the most remote thing in his

There is so much indefiniteness about it that any reader is justified in giving his own interpretation, and it is doubtful whether t means the same thing to half a dozen different people.
