THINGS OF VALUE.

May 23.—At the residence of Mr Amazish Dow, Lower Woodstox on Wedersday the 15th inst, his second daughter Miss Tress & Dow, was united in marriage to Mr J Wilmot Edwards of Benton. The bride was becominely attred in a gown of blue cashmere with white silk trimmings, and carried a bouquet of white roses. She was attended by Miss Birdle Edwards of Woodstock. Mr H Smith Dow brother of the bride supported the groom. An interesting feature of the occasion is the fact that the young cuple were married in the open air. The bridal priy took their stand on the front stoop under the spreading branches of a large tree, and scattered over the laws on either side, were the more than half a bundred guests. It being mid afternoon and a perfect weeding day as to weather, the scene was very prety. Rev Geo A Ross officated on the coasion. After the cremony the THEINGS OF VALUE.

There never was, and never will be, a universal panaces, in one remedy for all ills to which flesh is heir—the very nature of many curatives being such that were the germs of other and differently seated diseases rooted in the system of the patient—what would relieve one ill, in turn would aggravate the other. We have, however, in Quinne Wine, when obtainable in a sound unadulterated state, a remedy for many and grievous ills. By its gradual and judicious use, the trailest systems are led into convalences and strength, by the influence which Quinne exerts on Nature's own restoratives. It relieves the drooping spirits of those with whom a chronic state of morbid despondency and lack of interest in life is a disease, and, by trangullizing the nerves, disposes to sound and retreshing sleep—imparts vigor to the action of the blood, which being stimulated, courses throughout the veins, strengthening the healthy animal functions of the years, therebe making scittify a necessary result, strengthening the frame, and giving life to the disestive organs, which naturally demand increased nutsiance—result, improved appetite, Northroo & Lyman of Toronto, have given to the public their superior Quinine Wine at the usual rate, and, gauged by the opinion of scientists' this wine approaches nevest perfection of any in the market All druggists sell it.

Free and easy expectoration immediately relieves and frees the throat and lungs from viscid phlegm, and a medicine that promotes this is the best medicine to use for coughs, colds, infamation of the lungs, and all affections of the throat and chest. This is precisely what Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syup is a specific for, and wherever used it has a ven unbounded satisfaction. Children like it because it typicasant, Adults like it because it relieves and cures the disease.

Few people were aware that the ceremony was to take place or else even the early hour, would not have prevented a large attendance of the friends of both bride and groom. As it was there was quite a gathering, principally made up of relatives of the happy young couple. Precisely on the stroke of the hour, the bride walked up the central sisle leaning on the arm of heriather. She was daintly attired in a travelling gown of grey, hat and gloves to match and carrying a lovely bouquet of carnations. After the service was concluded, Mr Bourne the organist played the wedding march, and the young people received the hearty congratulations of those present, who also accompanied them to the Queen St. station where they took the train for Boston, their fature home. As a general thing, however, people spend on what the averaging with a various remedies. away. As a general thing, however, people spend so much time experimerting with yardous remedies that the cough is well under way before they know it. Then comes the long siege. You feel the hard, racking all through your system and get relief from nothing. You fill your stomach with nauseating mixtures to no purpose. Then you use compounds containing narcotic, which deceive temporarily, and leave you slightly worse. Some coughs of this kind hang on for weeks or even months, and, of course, they frequently develop into serious lung troubles. A true specific for all coughs is Adamson's Botanic Cough Balsam, and it should be kept in the house against any emergency. of the offer a householder, name Beahan, was called away for the night, and to give Mrs. Beaman some sense of security, he borrowed huge St. Bernard dog from his neighbor, Eggby, gave orders that the dog was to sleep in the sitting room, and

That night Mrs. Beeban was awakened by a terrible uproar. Rushing into the sitting room, she found that the St. Bernard had pinned to the floor a masked man. Assistance was hastily summoned and the intruder was secured and marched off to jail, which was in the basement of Cyrus Horablower's windmill. The burglar had been captured beyond a doubt!

The village was all excitement. The prisoner was arrainged before the important little justice, and remanded for exam-

In the meantime Mr. Beahan returned, and lost no time in applying for the reward offered by the richest citizen.

It was paid. No sooner had this been done than the Eggbys arose in indignation, and after asking with fine scorn whose dog had captured the thief, demanded the re ward for themselves.

The town was immediately split into two factions, the Beahanites and the Eggbyites. Feeling ran bigh. At last a civil action was begun by the Eggbys for the recovery
