PUTTING ON A SNOW IN PRISON

Negro Minstrel and Vaudeville

Some of the Jokes and Songs - Talent Trained by Chaplain.

In the two prisons on the government reservation at Fort Leavenworth more than fifty professional and 200 amateur actors are confined.

Among the professional talent are men who have appeared on Broadway, the actor's Paradise, says the Kansas City Star, and seen their names emblazoned on the electric signs above the theatre district.

Many are graduates of dramatic schools. Not a few are composers of music that not only has been published but also sold.

A score of them are musical comedians that have been presented in vaudeville and burlesque houses.

The military prison contains about thirty professional actors and twenty are in the Federal prison.

The amateur talent is about evenly divided in numbers in the two institutions.

The majority of the professional and the military prison have done songs and dances and acrobatic turns, although several have been "legitimate" performers are there.

One of them is a graduate of the University of Leipzig and the composer of more than fifty popular songs.

Shows have been given by the inmates of the military prison for several years, but it was not until last Tuesday night that the Federal prisoners gave a performance to which the public was admitted. It was complimentary to the officers, jurymen and witnesses in attendance.

Warden R. W. McClaughry and Deputy Warden W. H. Mackey had supervision of the entertainment.

Mackey was the active promoter, due in a great measure to his having had some musical experience. For Mackey is a P. B. D. That means professor of the bass drum. Anyhow he made good with the prison show.

The show was free. The first part was a minstrel performance and the second a vaudeville bill.

The performance was given in the prison chapel, seating 1,200 persons. Stage is 29 by 50 feet. The chapel stage needs a drop curtain, but this was not available. The stage was back sets are cleverly executed, a former member of the Maybray gang having done the work. It was the intention to have him paint the drop curtain, but business will call him away from the prison in a couple of weeks.
