CLOSING STOCK LETTER.

(J. C. MACKINTOSH & CO.)

New York, April 4.—Today's market was as active and strong of undertone as any which has been witnessed during the current year. There was moderate increase of outside buying but the chief impulse seemed to be derived from strong interests who were materially assisted by short covering. It looked as if there were a concerted movement to lift prices to a higher level and the more adverse features of the news budget, therefore had little or no effect. The advance in shares, the Coppers and U. P. were the features. The strength of the two groups first named had some foundation in favorable trade conditions and it appeared that a large short interest in U. P. was being driven to cover. It was the general expectation that the Supreme Court has had ample opportunity during its protracted recess to consider the Minn. rate case and it was predicted that a decision would be handed down on Monday. In view of the findings of the courts below the chances strongly favor a decision for the railroads in which event the sentimental effect must be subject to lift the whole market higher irrespective of other developments. The same day, however, will witness the convention of the new congress and the beginning of efforts to revise the tariff. While the impression that revision will be made along less drastic lines than those favored by the president it would be surprising if the agitation of this question failed to exert a repressive influence upon speculative activities. As has been frequently suggested, however, a restoration of normal market conditions is highly desirable from the standpoint of large banking interests who will be called upon to underwrite large new capital requirements and it would not be surprising to see the recovery in the market go further.

DEVELOPMENTS AFFECTING MARKET

(F. B. McCURDY & CO.)

New York, April 4.—The Balkan situation seems unchanged. The powers shift responsibility regarding the proposed blockade of the Montenegrin coast. Austria may seize Antivari in order to save Scutari, says the Sun. Herta may resign the presidency of Mexico to satisfy all factions. Paris sentiment is cheered by easy money in Berlin. The Bank of England statement was good. France may shortly issue a huge government loan, says the Journal of Commerce. The tariff bill is agreed on, save for the wool and sugar schedules. Free sugar and wool are uncertain of passage. Firemen's strike in the advance will sum up today. U. S. Rubber common is now on a six per cent. basis. The stock exchange incorporation bill will probably pass. These factors do not appear sufficient to create any fresh demand of consequence, but the market held steady during the afternoon. People who have studied the subject of the rise in the Mississippi River, claim that if there are extensive overflows the weather during April is almost certain to be unsettled in the eastern belt, with a frequent showers or rains owing to extra condensation, and this view doubtless will be confirmed. The impression of the new crop start and which in any case would be more or less apparent owing to the idea that a large crop is necessary.

CLOSING COTTON LETTER.

(J. C. MACKINTOSH & CO.)

New York, April 4.—Continued liquidation in the May option was the absorbing feature during the early session of today's cotton market. The premium of that month practically vanished in the forenoon and it looked as if liquidation in this month had about run its course. This impression was intensified during the afternoon rally as the pressure upon the May option was not renewed. Prices rallied sharply during the afternoon on the rather bullish week-end figures and renewed apprehensions of delay in crop preparations because of possible frost in the Mississippi River. It was reported to be rising from Memphis to New Orleans and it was feared that rains reported through the valley would soften the levees and result in an overflow. While crop advances as a whole were favorable cables indicated that the stock of foreign spinners was smaller than generally supposed and it is possible that any backwardness of crop preparations may cause a resumption of the demand for foreign consumption. The market closed steady at from 3 to 6 points above last night's closing.

PRICE'S LETTER ON COTTON MARKET

(F. B. McCURDY & CO.)

New York, April 4.—There was a renewal of near month liquidation at the opening of the market this morning and for a moment or two during the middle of the morning May and July contracts were selling on even terms. At within a point of July, however, a good demand developed for May and a prominent local dealer who bought 15,000 bales of May at this difference said he believed it possible to buy May here and sell May-June in Liverpool at the present parity and make money. Prices steadied on covering of shorts, rather more bullish weekly figures than expected. Reports that rains in the Mississippi Valley had aggravated the river situation by softening the levees, and steady supply of goods from the market did not appear sufficient to create any fresh demand of consequence, but the market held steady during the afternoon. People who have studied the subject of the rise in the Mississippi River, claim that if there are extensive overflows the weather during April is almost certain to be unsettled in the eastern belt, with a frequent showers or rains owing to extra condensation, and this view doubtless will be confirmed. The impression of the new crop start and which in any case would be more or less apparent owing to the idea that a large crop is necessary.
