AROUND THE CITY

Leather Cushion Found.
A leather cushion found on King street east yesterday awaits the owner at the central police station.

Keys Found by Police.
Two keys found on Main street await an owner at North End police station.

Fined for Profanity.
Fred Ross was arrested yesterday afternoon on the charge of using profane language. He was taken before Magistrate Ritchie, fined $5.00 and given eight days.

A Needless Alarm.
About 10.30 o'clock last night some person saw a watchman passing through the I. C. R. carpenter shop off Mill street with a lantern, and thinking the place on fire gave the fire department a needless run to box 152.

A Pleasant Shower.
Miss Nell Driscoll was tendered a novelty shower last evening, in view of an interesting event to take place in the near future. About one hundred and fifty young people were present and presented Miss Driscoll with gifts appropriate to the occasion. Refreshments were served and an enjoyable evening spent.

Fair Prize Winners.
The Prentice Boys' fair was continued last night in their hall, and was attended by a large crowd. The different features proved popular, the prize winners last night being: ring toss, George Stafford; ten pins, George Stafford; air gun, Mr. Carlson; ladies' bean toss, Miss McCormick. The drawing for the door prize will take place to night.

Heavy Travel.
The Union Depot presented a busy spectacle on the arrival of the Pacific express yesterday afternoon. This train, owing to the rush of travel came in, in two heavy sections, the first being fifteen minutes late and the second thirty-five minutes behind time. Each section was filled to capacity and although a considerable number remained in the city, it was found necessary to despatch the train to Montreal in two sections.

PROVES ORE GOES DOWN TO DEPTH

ASSURES CAMP'S FUTURE.

(Special to The Journal.)
Rochester, Aug. 21.—The Causten tunnel on Nenzel hill, the longest that has been projected in this camp, encountered the vein early this morning at a depth of 430 feet.

The strike is the most important recorded in the history of Rochester, for it demonstrates the much mooted question of the depth of the ore. It makes it certain that Rochester will become a big camp.

The Causten tunnel was in three feet of ore tonight, and the end was not in sight. No assay returns have yet been made, but the ore appears to be of shipping grade, corresponding in appearance to the rich ore found near the surface.

Cutting the vein in the Causten tunnel on the Rochester Mines' company's property and the strike in the Stoker tunnel in the Rochester Weaver property demonstrates the largest continuous ore shoot ever found in Nevada in the same length of time given to development.—Nevada State Journal.

J. S. Currie informed The Standard last evening that a letter had been received corroborating the foregoing report published in the Nevada Journal. This is gratifying news for holders of Rochester Hill's stock as the new strike proves for a fact that the Causten vein will go down at least another two hundred feet. The shaft in Codd lease is now down about 227 feet. It is estimated the company is about five hundred per cent. better off, pertaining to the proposition in general, than they were in February last.

MRS. WALTER NYLES FEARS HUSBAND HAS LEFT CITY

Entered Union Depot, Late Last Evening, and Told Sad Story to Police Officers— Says he Took $400 Before Vanishing.

Crying bitterly, Mrs. Walter Nyles, of Adelaide street, entered the Union Depot about eleven o'clock last evening and between sobs told I. C. R. Policeman Gorman that her husband had taken $400, the sale price of her real-estate, which she has just disposed of, and she was afraid that he was leaving the city on the Halifax train.

Mrs. Nyles, showing signs of hard work, but clearly dressed, with tears running down her cheeks, told Officer Gorman that her husband had entered their home on Adelaide Road about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon and had taken the money from the satchel in which it was placed for safe keeping, ignoring all her demands that it be given back the man left the house, returning shortly after supper when he stated his intent of going to bed. He then went into the bedroom where their three year old boy was sleeping. Later when she entered the room she found he had gone. Fearing the worst the distracted woman, knowing that her family would starve without the money, rushed to the Union Station, where she told her story to Officer Gorman. Officer Frank O'Leary of the police force was also called in and a thorough search made of the Halifax express but without results. The station was carefully guarded until the express departed but Nyles did not show up.

To a Standard reporter Mrs. Nyles said that she wanted the money and did not care where her husband went. "I don't care about him," she said, "but without the money my children will starve." She said that she had sold her house a few days ago to a Mr. Day who lives up the St. John river. He paid her $400 and she will have to give up her home in a few days.

With the knowledge of the starvation that is facing her little family, unless some kindly person comes to their aid, tears again entered her eyes, but she kept bravely on with her story. My eldest child is a girl, she said, and is thirteen years old, and my son, who is the baby, is but three years of age. It was into the little fellow's room that the father went when he said he was going to bed.

When asked why she had not put the money in the bank, Mrs. Nyles answered that she had intended doing so, but had not been able to come to the city, owing to her household cares. The money was all she had in the world and the unfortunate woman was counting on it keeping her during the coming winter; now if her husband does not return she will have to work for herself and infant children during the cold weather.

To one of the police officers Mrs. Nyles said that her husband had been drinking for some time past, and seemed afraid that he was then spending her money in drink. She also said that he had beaten her at different times.

It seems that Nyles was the victim of a serious accident at Sand Point last winter, when he fell down the coal hold of a steamer sustaining a broken leg and other injuries. Since that time it is understood that he has been unable to work, and it is probable that the house was sold to support the family. Persons interested in the case do not think that Nyles will leave the city but on the other hand believe that he is spending the money in drink. The police have the case in hand and will, it is understood, arrest him on sight.

Mrs. Nyles, who was born in America, left the station after the departure of the Halifax express and was much relieved when assured that her husband was not on board.

GOOD PROGRESS WITH PAVING PROGRAMME

Work well Underway and Expectation is it will be Finished on Scheduled Time.

The paving programme is being carried along with all possible despatch and it is hoped to have the work completed on schedule or nearly so. The Union street job is being rushed and during the past few days excellent progress has been made and Ccm. Agar said yesterday that the work next should see the job completed. The work of laying the bricks along the sides of the car tracks is finished except for a few feet and today, or tomorrow, this should be completed. The brick paving between the tracks will probably be done next week. The concrete work is about done and the week after next should see the top surface laid. On the north side of King square the work is nearly completed. Yesterday men were engaged on the Sydney street job between Scribner's Corner and Union street, putting on the top surface. One side was almost completed and a start made on the other side. The work is being pushed along rapidly and a few days should see it finished.

The south side of the square remains to be done and a start will be made as soon as the other section is completed. With this paved the block from Union to Leinster and from the corner of Union street to the Dufferin hotel will make an excellent roadway and constitutes a good season's work.

BIG PROFITS WAIT FOX FARM INVESTORS

The Taylor Silver Black Company has a Proposition both Attractive and Safe.

The attention that has been given, of late, in the public press to the Silver Black Fox industry shows the interest with which the investing public regard the P. E. I. industry. It can be now fairly said that the fox business is the favorite investment of today, and many people are taking a share in the industry to reap the benefit of the higher prices which are confidently prophesied for the latter end of this year.

The Taylor Silver Black Fox Company, of Montague, P. E. I., is a particularly favorable medium for investment. They have seven pairs of the best pedigreed P. E. I. foxes, one of the most up-to-date ranches on the island, a manager of long and successful record, R. A. Taylor. All expenses paid until September, 1914, and a guarantee that amply protects the shareholder. Apply to C. H. McLean, secretary, or A. C. Jardine, treasurer, 93 Prince William street, St. John, N. B., for prospectus or for any information concerning the company.

A very special waist announcement at F. A. Dykeman & Co. A natty attractive stylish voile waist which was made to be retailed at $2.40 is to be placed on sale Saturday morning at $1.19. The unique design calls forth admiration from everyone who sees it. Some of them are all white, others have a touch of blue voile on the trimming around the collar and on the front. Some have tiny lace trimmings, while others have a large dainty embroidery medallion on the front. These waists are suitable for evening wear or for dress up occasions. $1.19 is the sale price. Sizes 24 to 44.

TOURIST TRAVEL IS STILL VERY HEAVY

Visitors Think Weather Here Delightful — Large Party of Mystic Shriners due here September 18th

While residents of St. John view the close of August as the forerunner of the autumn, the tourists apparently look upon this season as the most ideal for a trip this way, and during the past few days the travel to St. John has been particularly heavy. The visitors for the greater part have been of the tourist type and a noticeable feature about the influx is the number of automobile parties coming from across the border from adjoining States, but a stray party from the western States have found the road to New Brunswick, while yesterday a party reached here all the way from Maryland.

Besides the individual tourists, who are looked for during the next few weeks, a number of large parties are booked for September. Among the numbers is a party of Mystic Shriners from Melba Temple, Springfield, Mass., who are due here September 18th. There are about 100 in the party. Before coming here they will visit Annapolis Valley. Their itinerary includes a trip up the St. John River.

On September 4, 9, 16 Raymond and Whitcombe parties of about twenty people each are coming and on September 25th a Gillespie party is due to arrive.

This will practically conclude the summer tourists and will mark the beginning of the sportsmen for the hunting season.

ST. JOHN INTERESTED IN BROOKLYN ACTION

"Suit Involving Millions" Started, Says New York World—Half Interest in Big Harbor Contract.

A recent issue of the New York World published the following: A suit involving millions was started yesterday in the Supreme Court, Brooklyn, by Walter G. A. Hemming against James P. Craven, who obtained the contract for the improvement of St. John harbor, Canada.

Hemming alleges that in 1910 he, with Frank R. Schell, Howard Pardee and Nathaniel Higgins formed a syndicate for the construction of the Chair and Erie Ship Canal. Craven later was let in on the deal, Hemming says, and went to Canada to negotiate a guaranteed bond from the Dominion Government to cover part of the cost of the canal.

It is alleged Craven received $50,000 for expenses while in Canada, where he was also to try to obtain the contract for the St. John harbor project. Craven failed to get the bond issue, but he did get the contract.

Hemming says Craven bought out the interest of Schell, Pardee and Higgins in this contract and transferred it to the English contracting firm of Norton Griffiths & Co. Hemming claims a one-half interest in the contract, an accounting from Craven and the appointment of a receiver.

Craven demurred to the complaint on the ground that Schell, Pardee and Higgins should be made parties to the suit. Justice Benedict sustained this contention.

JOHN B. ANDREWS IN A PECULIAR CASE

Well Known St. John Man Arrested on Theft Charge Paid Sum Due and got Receipt on Warrant.

John B. Andrews, a bookkeeper, was a surprised and very indignant man yesterday when Policeman McNamara, armed with a warrant, called at the business house where Mr. Andrews is employed and took him into custody, as the warrant charged him with stealing.

The warrant had been issued by George A. Fawcett, a justice of the peace, for Westmorland county, and was properly backed by R. J. Ritchie, the magistrate of the St. John police court. The warrant was brought from Sackville yesterday by a constable of that town and who presented it to Chief of Police Clark and requested that Andrews be located for him. When Chief of Police Clark saw that the warrant was in proper form he sent Officer McNamara out for the man wanted and in a short time the officer returned to the Central Station with Andrews in custody, and he was then handed over to the Westmorland county constable.

To be arrested on the charge of stealing over a hundred dollars is a very serious predicament, and as Mr. Andrews claimed he was innocent of any crime he felt he had good cause for indignation.

As soon as he was handed over to the custody of the visiting constable the two left the Central Station and it was not long after when a telephone message was received at the station, and the person on the phone claiming to be Mr. Andrews, informed the police officer that the matter had been settled.

It has been learned on good authority that Mr. Andrews had been employed by a firm in Sackville for some time and when he needed any money he had been allowed to draw it out. Relations with his employer became strained recently and Mr. Andrews left his position, having drawn in the firm's books a statement of every dollar he had received.

Mr. Andrews is said to have also notified the firm that when he left them he had overdrawn a little over a hundred dollars. His books showed the past few days the travel to St. John has been particularly heavy. The visitors for the greater part have been of the tourist type and a noticeable feature about the influx is the number of automobile parties coming from across the border from adjoining States, but a stray party from the western States have found the road to New Brunswick, while yesterday a party reached here all the way from Maryland.

Besides the individual tourists, who are looked for during the next few weeks, a number of large parties are booked for September. FURTHER PLANS FOR LABOR DAY PARADE

Fully Three Hundred Mounted Teamsters will be in Line — Committee Working Hard.

A special meeting of the Trades and Labor Council was held last evening when further details were arranged in connection with the Labor Day parade. To the line-up printed in last evening's papers there has been added the 62nd band. The file and drum band of the city has volunteered to join in the ranks of the parade and will furnish music in the procession. It was reported that at a special meeting of the teamsters of the city it was decided to assist in every way possible to make the parade a grand success, and 300 teamsters will take part.

A number of floats in addition to those already mentioned will be in the line of procession, and the committee who have the arrangement of matters in hand feel assured that the procession next Monday will outclass any of its kind previously held in the city.

A final meeting will be held on Saturday evening at 8 o'clock at the Labor Council hall in having the teamsters removed from the south side of King Square was dealt with. Much discussion was heard on the matter and a committee was chosen to interview the commissioners in reference to the matter.

Victoria Bowling Academy.

The Victoria Bowling Academy reopens tomorrow Saturday. During the close season new alleys and new lighting have been installed and the interior of the academy has been beautifully decorated.
