COST OF LIVING AT CAPE TOWN.

Resettlement of South Africa Brings Out Prominently the Question of Emigration to the Dark Continent--Some Facts Good to Know.

with families to provide for, should not dream of going out to try their luck;
but there is no reason why young men, especially mechanics with good constitutions and not afraid of hard work, should not go out even "on spec."

To leave a good position in England for the sake of trying as a venture something in the same line in Africa is not to be commended; but a clerk or a laborer drawing a moderate salary here stands a fair chance of increasing his fortunes and bettering his position out there.

bettering his position out there.
On the Cape government railways employment can always be found for expert mechanicians; while there are good openings for those who are experienced in various trades—for instance, in the fruit industry, in dairy farming, or in other trades and industries. Those who intend to obtain employment on the railway would find it an excellent thing to make themselves acquainted with the block system of signalling, which is to be introduced on the Cape lines. In fact, every intending emigrant should make a point of acquainting himsels with the most recent improvements in his especial trade.

A POST MORTEM REVELATION.

Dead Swedish Treasury Official Found to Have Been in Arrears.

These discrepancies were marked especially when it came to approaching the crucial points. Much hinged on the time spent in the graveyard by the five boys on the fateful Friday afternoon. First came Harry Kelley's story. The last time he saw Dohenty, he said, was at 2 o'clock that day in the graveyard. Higgins, Christord King and Goodspeed were the others there. Dohenty, Kelley said, busied himsely while in the graveyard in reading a nowspaper. Kelley told that he left the party and that King did the same. Higgins, when spoken to about the graveyard, maintained that he left there at 1.30 o'clock, went from there to the Opera House with Dohenty and then back to the graveyard, staying there all afternoon with Goodspeed. Stockholm, Aug. 14—An investigation of the department of one of the principal officials of state treasury named Tougberg, who was killed by an accident in June, reveals a serious defalcation. Three cheques, respectively for 3,000, 5,000 and 9,000 crowns, were raised by Tougherg to 30,000, 50,000 and 90,000 crowns, and were cashed by him at the state bank. It is supposed he had lost heavily in Bourse speculations. Clifford King, when sought, told that he and Kelley left the party about 1 or 1.30 o'clock. A little later he went back

THE CONDITION OF MRS. JOHN SHOTT, OF ORANGEVILLE.

Suffered From a Burning Sensation in the Stomach--Food Became Distasteful and

She Grew Weak and Despondent. From the Sun, Orangeville (Ont.) With the resettlement of South Africa passengers on board the White Star boats the question of emigration to Cape Colony and the new territories will naturally attract the attention of many.

The advantages which South Africa of fers to the newcomer, be he farmer, clerk, nechanic, or professional man are many:

The Bucknall liners are more expensive and carry first-class passengers only, the line of the courtesy of Mrs. John Shott, a lady well known and much esteemed by many of the residents of Orangeville, to give the particulars of another, of those cures that have made Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a household remedy thirogenous that have made Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a household remedy thirogenous that have made Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a household remedy thirogenous that have made Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a household remedy thirogenous that have made Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a household remedy through the courtesy of Mrs. Shott, a lady well known and much esteemed by many of the residents of Orangeville, to give the particulars of another, of those cures that have made Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a household remedy through the courtesy of Mrs. Shott, a lady well known and much esteemed by many of the residents of Orangeville, to give the particulars of another, of those cures that have made Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a household remedy through the courtesy of Mrs. Shott, a lady well known and much esteemed by many of the residents of Orangeville, to give the particulars of another, of those cures that have made Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a household remedy through the courtesy of the particulars of another, of the residents of Orangeville, to give the particulars of another, of the residents of Orangeville, to give the particulars of another, of the residents of Orangeville, to give the particulars of another, of the residents of Orangeville, to give the particulars of another, of the residents of orangeville, to give the particulars of another, of the residents of orangeville, to give the particulars of another, of t The Bucknall liners are more expensive and carry first-class passengers only, the fare being £25. On the Union Castle boats (fare £10 third-class) the third-class passengers have only a part of the lower deck, and, of course, merely third-class accommodation. On the White Star boats the trip to the Cape, everything included, need not cost more than £16.

The great question is, of course, that of living at the Cape. A salary of £150 at Cape Town is often said to be equal to one of £60 in London; but there is no necessity why it should be so. In London to live in chambers, he must be pre pared to pay £7 to £9 per month; for although a room can be hired furnished for 7s. 6d. weekly in Bree street or the partial paralysis, heart tro St. Vitus

I described the suburble themselves acquainted with the block system of signalling, which is to be introduced on the Cape lines. In fact, every intending emigrant should make a point of acquainting himsels with the most recent improvements in his especial trade. There are many industries at the Cape which are as yet in their swaddling clothes, and in which the help of experts would be of inestimable value. Of these the chief is perhaps the fishing industry, which gives promise of becoming one of the most valuable of Cape industries. At present it is chiefly in the hands of the Malay fisherman; but of late the Italian community have interested themselves largely in the business, and many of them have prospered exceedingly in consequence.

community have interested themselves largely in the business, and many of them have prospered exceedingly in consequence. The intending emigrant should carefully consider his line of action. He should visit the agent general's office in Victoria street and obtain the latest information he can get, and if he has an agent or friend at the Cape who can help him in any way he should communicate direct with his friend and try to obtain a temporary situation which will give him time to become settled before he attempts anything on his own account.

Having definitely decided to go out, the next thing will be the question of cost. An outfit for the Cape Colony should be as somplet as possible, and need not find into many pounds. It would be better for the emigrant to take a small outfit and some ready money than to invest most of his cash in material on this side. The next thing to be deended will be the transport. The Union Castle Company, while the quickest and most comfortable line, is also the dearest, and the emigrant would do well to take a berth in one of the Australian White Star boats of a berth ranges from £9 to £16, according to position of eabin, etc.; but all the Alen died this afternoon and Mrs. Allen's Many conflicting accounts are current, but the one generally believed is that Allen returned home unexpectedly and found Chavez in his home and that he assaulted Chavez who, it is said, drew a pistol and began to fire. One bullet hit Allen in the abdomen after passing through the body of Mrs. Allen, who had rushed between the men to separate them.

The shooting of Mrs. Allen is believed to have been unintentional. Chavez rushed from the house and drove off in his ouggy. He subsequently surrendered.
