Curious Bits of News.

It is said that the pawnshops of Paris are filled with bicycles, and that when the wheels are put up at auction it is hard to get a good bid for them. What a change has come over the scene in a few years," says a Paris pa-per. "And may not a prophecy re-garding automobiles be safely risked? It seems to be only a question of time with most fads and fancies."

The "Canadian Gazette" (London, England), prints a paragraph stating that a professor in a Toronto college made a test of the literary knowledge of 40 of the second-year students. Ten of the 40 could not mention six plays of Shakespeare, 14 did not know who wrote "In Memoriam," 22 did not know Sam Weller, 34 were unacquainted with Falstaff, 26 could not mention a book by Ruskin, and 35 were similarly ignorant of Wordsworth and Browning. -

Some days ago a swarm of bees entered a roadside letter-box near Mullingar, in Ireland. A number of letters were in the box, and the postmaster-general offered a reward of two shillings (fifty cents) to any person dislogg-ing the bees. This tempting offer re-sulted in the sending of a stinging let-ter from the owner of the swarm, who threatened, if the bees were injured, to take legal proceedings against Lord onderry, as his own offer to remove the intruders was rendered fruitless by the refusal of the post-office authorities to allow the door of the letter-box to be opened.

During the burning of the Standard Oil Company's tanks at Bayonne, N.J., in July, 1900, an immense column of smoke, shaped at the top like an um-brella, rose into the air, where very little wind was stirring, to an eleva-tion, measured by triangulation, of 13,-411 feet, or more than two miles and a half. Above the column white clouds formed in an otherwise cloudless sky, and remained visible for two days, the fire continuing to burn and the smoke to rise. After the explosion of a gas oil-tank flames shot up to a height of 3,000 feet, and the heat radiated from them was felt at a distance of a mile and three-quarters, where it was more noticeable than close to the fire.

Houghton Hall, which is to be the residence of the British heir apparent and of the Duchess of Cornwall on their return from their trip around the world, enjoys the peculiar distinction of being haunted, not merely by one but by two ghosts. The one is supposed to be the ghost of Dorothy Walpole, sister of Sir Robert Walpole and wife of Viscount Townshend, a little brown figure who enjoys the credit of having disturbed the rest of King George IV. at Houghton Hall, and of having scared him away, cursing his hosts for having put him in a room which they knew to be haunted. The other ghost is understood to be that of a member of the Walpole family who was shot by his brother on the premises, which is supposed to haunt the billiard-room after

The old rule for obtaining one's expectation of life — subtracting your present age from 86 and dividing by 2 which has been floating the rounds of the newspapers for many years, is no longer used by insurance companies. The rule which was based upon 86 years as the limit of life is now considered obsolete. It was originate moivre, whose name it bears, and was used in his treatise on annuities, written in 1725. It was at first deemed correct by insurance men, and was used by the Northampton Company in 1780 in preparing tables when life insurance was comparatively new. By these tables a person of 20 may expect to live 33 years; one of 30, 28 years; one of 40, 23 years. According to the modern computation a person of 20 may expect to live 42 years; a person of 30, 34 years; a person of 40, 28 years; a person of 50, 21 years; and a person of 60, 15 years; figures being given without the decimals.

A Chinese Funeral.

A prominent Chinaman died the othr day in Boston, and his fellow-countrymen, according to their custom, prepared to bury 'aim with the rites of their race and religion.

The coffin was piaced on trestles in the middle of the street. At its head stood a small table on which were platters containing roast pigs, a fowl and other food. At the foot lay a mat. From the houses on either side the friends of the dead man came, in white garments, to burn joss-sticks and offer prayers. The dead man's son, also robed in white, came out alone, and loosening the long hair of his queue until it hung about his face, knelt sobbing on the mat.

The Chinese as we see them are a stoical people, but it was plain that the son was a mourner in fact as well as in name, and if bearing counts for anything, so, too, were some of the dead man's friends.

Meantime a crowd—of white men— was gathering on the sidewalk, and in a little while was pressing close about the coffin and commenting aloud and cracking jokes. In the very midst of the service a photographer pushed to the front, and, shoving some of the mourners aside, ordered others to stand where they were while he took a pic-ture of the ceremony for an afternoon

Let us suppose for a moment, says the "Youth's Companion," that the scene is shifted from Boston to Pekin, that the mourners are Americans in-stead of Chinamen, the rites Christian instead of pagan; now crowd the spot with a mob of uninvited strangers, who chatter in a strange tongue and laugh, and having satisfied their curiosity, go away. Is it hard to imagine the feelings of the dead man's son in either

"But," exclaimed the lawyer for the defendant, jumpling to his feet, "there are extenuating circumstances."
"They is?" cried the judge in alarm. "Ef I thought thet, durned if I wouldn't giv' 'im fifteen yeres."

WOMEN WHO WEAR WELL.

It is astonishing how great a change few years of married life will make in the appearance and disposition of many women. The freshness, the charm, the brilliance vanish like the bloom from a peach that is rudely handled. The matron is only a dim shadow, a faint echo of the charming maiden. There are two reasons for this change, ignorance and neglect. Few young women appreciate the shock to the 'system through the change which comes with marriage. Many neglect to deal with the unpleasant drains which are often consequent on marriage and motherhood, not understanding that this secret drain is robbing the cheek of its freshness and the form of its fairness. As surely as the general health suffers when there is derangement of the health of the delicate womanly or-gans are established in health the face and form at once witness to the fact in renewed comliness. Half a million women and more have found health and happiness in the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

CANADIAN HEAD FOR MILITIA

Gen. O'Grady-ha y Will be Last Imperial Officer in Charge of Canadian Forces.

nis Term of Office Will Expire on De cember 31'and a Canadian Will Succeed him.

Ottawa, Oct. 2.-Important changes are contemplated in connection with he command of the militia. There has een a growing feeling in the Dominion for some years that the time was rapidly approaching when a Canadian should be appointed to the supreme command of the militia forces of the ountry, and this feeling has been intensified since so many Canadian officers have gained experience of actual warfare on the South African veldt. Major-Gen. O'Grady-Haly's tenure of office as general officer commanding the militia of Canada will terminate on Dec. 31 next. His appointment origin ally was for one year, from July 19, This was extended for three months, and now the further extension s made to enable him to complete his report of the military operations of

It is pretty well understood that Ma or-Gen. O'Grady-Haly will be the last mperial officer, at any rate for a long time, to occupy the post of general of-ficer commanding in Canada. The government incends to bow to the sentiment of the country and give a Canadian official a trial. Under our militia act as it stands at present, a Canadian cannot be appointed, but after Gen. O'Grady-Haly leaves the position will be filled tentatively until such time as the erquisite changes can be made in the militia act. It will be necessary to amend the clause which provides that the general officer commanding shall be "an officer who holds the rank of colonel, or rank superior thereto, in his majesty's regular army." Power will also be taken to promote Canadian officers to rank higher than that of colonel. The only provision in this re-spect now existing gives this right to the government in times of war to create major-generals.

THE CAPTURE

How Miss Stone Fell Into the Hands o Turkish Brigands.

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 30 .- A detailed account of the capture of Miss Ellen M. Stone, the missionary, by brigands in Turkey, has been received in a letter from Mrs. H. C. Haskell, of Samokov. Bulgaria, to a relative here. Her letter says Miss Stone had been hearing her usual summer school for Rible workers at Bansko, Macedonia. On Sept. 3 a party of six students from the Collegiate Institute at Samokov, three or four Bulgarian teachers, M and Mrs. Tscilka, who had spent several years in America, Mrs. Chschera and Miss Stone, started for Bjamiak, 12 hours later. From there they were to go to their different homes. At 4.30 o'clock that afternoon, as they were resting in the mountains, Miss Stone and Mrs. Tecilka being on horseback and the rest on foot, they were surrounded by thirty or forty armed These men were dressed in Turkish costume, but were masked or blackened. They ordered the party to march, and drove them up to the steep mountain side. Miss Stone told the boys they were taking them away from the road to rob and perhaps kill them. She did not speak of capture as it is almost unheard of for brigands to take women.

After going an hour's distance the brigands stopped and demanded their They took what gold they had, but returned the silver. this was done one of them said to Miss Stone: "We want you," and ordered her and Mrs. Tscilka to go with She made no remonstrance Mr. Tscilka made a move to follow his wife, but they forced him back. A part of the brigands kept watch on those that remained to keep them from hurrying to inform the govern-ment, but next morning let them go.

The brigands murdered one of the men of the party before they released the captives, to get his horse. They took this animal as well as the horses ridden by Miss Stone and Mrs. Tscilka. The students came to Samokov and wired Dr. House at Salonika, Miss Stone's station. He immediately went to the American consul and also telegraphed Consul-General Dickinson, who knew Miss Stone. The news spread over Bulgaria like a flash, for Miss Stone was widely known and greatly beloved.
