Miss Tims' diary up until April 11th, arrived the end of June. She had been very busy owing to Miss Marsh being ill for a time, but the latter was some better when the Packet left. The school had gone on very satisfactorily, as well as the Sunday School and Bible Classes on Sunday. We are sure many of our readers will remember the two women workers there, especially during Mr. Marsh's absence, as they have had, notwithstanding the kindness of the Indians, a good deal to try their patience and test their faith.
