QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Miscellaneous.

CONVEYANCING.

A farmer wants to take his son into partnership with him, and to transfer the whole management of farm to the son; the business to be conducted in father's name, and the son to have authority to use the father's name in doing business; and, also, he wants to transfer farm to the son at his decease, subject to certain bequests to other members of the family. To make a contract for the above legal, would it be necessary to have the papers drawn up by a conveyancer, or would it be perfectly legal for one of the parties to draw up the papers, providing same were duly signed, sealed and witnessed.

Ontario.

Ans.—To have the papers prepared as proposed would not be illegal; but it is really a matter to be attended to by an experienced and skillful solicitor.

THUMPS.

Have a bunch of pigs six weeks old. At two weeks old, one (the fattest of bunch) got wheezy. I forced the sow and pigs to take exercise; also lessened her rations. Pig got better for a week, then got wheezy again, but soon got better. Ever since it has not thrived, and a few days ago staggered, and now has lost the use of hind legs.

T. P.

Ans.—Wheezing in young pigs is due to too liberal feeding of grain, or of their mother's milk, without sufficient exercise. The trouble is technically known as thumps. The heart and lungs become clogged with fat, and the blood fails to circulate freely. The only hope for pigs thus affected, is to provide exercise in the sunshine, if possible, and feed laxative food, as bran and oats. The digestive organs of your pig seem to have been altogether thrown out of gear by having had repeated attacks.

HEIFER FAILING TO CONCEIVE

I have a fine registered Jersey heifer, twenty months old, that has been served three times, on the following dates: February 4th, March 12th, and April 2nd. She gets no grain, except what is in the silage she gets once a day, but is in quite high condition. If she comes in heat again, what can I do to make conception surer?

SUBSCRIBER.

Ans.—The most common removable cause of cows or heifers failing to conceive, is closure of the opening through the neck of the womb. When the cow shows oestrus, have the neck of the womb examined. The operator oils his hand and arm, inserts hand through vulva and vagina until the fingers meet the neck of the womb. If it be closed, he dilates it with a finger, or, if necessary, uses a pointed piece of perfectly-smooth hardwood, about 1/4-inch in diameter. In some cases, considerable force is required to accomplish the end. Breed the cow in about an hour after the operation.

GOSSIP.

W. G. Pettit & Sons, Freeman, Ont., send the following notes with a change of advertisement: "The past few months with us have been very encouraging to the business of breeding Shorthorns. The inquiry has been exceptionally good, and we have sold over twenty head, besides our contribution to the Toronto sale. Inquiries have been from a very wide section of country, and we have shipped cattle as far west as Alberta, and also to points in Quebec. The young bulls we are offering are a very desirable lot, both for breeding and individuality, and the prices are not out of the way. In females, we can show intending purchasers a choice lot of heifers, several of which are strong enough to show against the best of the breed. The Clyde stallion which we advertised in 'The Farmer's Advocate' has been sold and shipped to Almon Boswall, of Pownall, P.E.I. The Billy we exhibited, winning first at Toronto last fall, has also been sold to P. M. Brett, Live-stock Commissioner for Saskatchewan.

Poultry Fencing that is Stronger than Seems Necessary

We make our poultry fencing close enough to turn small fowl—then we make it extra strong, so it will last for years and keep the cattle out. The heavy, hard steel top and bottom wires hold it taut and prevent it from sagging.

PEERLESS POULTRY FENCE SAVES EXPENSE

It is well galvanized so as to protect it from rust. It makes such a firm, upstanding fence that it requires less than half the posts needed for the ordinary poultry fence, and that means a big saving to you. Write for particulars. We make farm and ornamental fences and gates of exceptional quality. Agents wanted where not now represented.

MURESCO

For Walls and Ceilings

The first step in making a home beautiful is to coat the walls with Muresco. It gives just the restful, quiet background for pictures and furniture. Dingy walls and ceilings make it impossible to beautify any room.

Muresco is a powder. It comes in five-pound packages—any tint—and in applying is mixed with boiling water. It is easy to use and economical. Ask your dealer for Muresco. Our descriptive literature about Muresco will be sent on request.

Twenty-five Million Pounds of Muresco Were Sold in the U. S. Last Year.

Moore's Paints We are also the makers of Moore's House Colors, a line of paints that have no equal for durability and economy.
