The Golden Gate. A lady stood at the golden gate,

At the golden gate shut close and lorn The little spring-birds chirped merry and swee The little spring-flowers sprang up at her feet : she shdied back a spring shile, gay and young-"Twill open, open to me, ere long Wait," said the lady -- " wait, wait : There never was night that had no morn"

The lady sat at the golden gate : The May had withered from off the thora : Warm July roses crushed cheek to check In a rapturous stillness, faint and weak : And a languid love-air filled the breeze, And birds ceased singing in nest-hung trees " Wait." said the lady -- " wait, wait : There never was night that had no morn."

The lady knelt at the golden gate, The dumb, closed gate-forlorn, torlorn' The sun laid on her his burning hand, The reapers' song came over the land And the same round moon that lighted the Showed at her leet dead, drifted leaves: Alas " sighed the lady. " Yet, wait, wait There never was night that had no morn."

The lady crouched at the golden gate, With steadfast watch-but so lorn, so lorn The earth lay whitening in one shroud, The wind in the woods howled long and loud Till the frosty stars shot arrowy rays, And fixed forever her death-strong gaze A soul rose singing : " No more I wait : On earth was night-in heaven is morn."
