

VOLUNTEERS OF 49TH REGIMENT

The roster of the Forty-Ninth Regiment's recruits for the Third Contingent now contains the names of 134 men of the 39th Battalion. Since the last published list, 45 names have been added as follows:

PRIVATE

W. A. McMichael,
W. J. Wallace,
F. A. McDonald,
J. Kelly,
J. A. Milady,
R. Cameron,
J. Dale,
J. West,
A. Gadsby,
C. Burtley,
W. Madden,
W. Packer,
F. Hammond,
C. Day,
R. Hanson,
T. Connor,
J. Stewart,
T. Bell,
A. Hasleton,
C. Fletcher.

J. Smith,
E. Childs,
W. Cockill,
W. O'Brien,
W. Perry,
F. Johnson,
J. Varin,
J. Anderson,
Kennedy,
T. Gibbons,
W. Norris,
Isaac Maracle,
J. Tonnell,
F. Nicholson,
J. D. Reeves,
Harold Andrews,
J. Lunny,
Philip Woodcock,
F. Smith,
Tom Lovack,
A. Hagerman,
A. Roche,
Geo. Kent,
Roy Fletcher.

The volunteers will attend divine service at Christ Church on Sunday next. The Rev. R. C. Blagrove, rector, is the 49th Regiment Chaplain.

ST. VALENTINE AND OTHER SAINTS

Sermon by Rev. Chas. G. Smith at Baptist Church on Sunday Morning

At the Victoria Ave. Baptist church on Sunday morning, the pastor, Rev. Chas. G. Smith gave a short address on St. Valentine and other saints. He used the text Romans 1-7 "Called to be saints" in Bible language the term "saint" stood for three things, 1—an angel; 2—a spirit; 3—a good man. These saints are born not made, they are "born again", and redeemed by Christ. We have all heard of a self-made man—they are "made in Canada" and elsewhere. But you never heard of a genuine self-made man, for they are divinely made, or as St. Paul says "called of God." So a true saint will never be guilty of the hideous homage of worshipping himself, or parading his virtues and ecclesiastical about like a strutting peacock. Every man who responds to the divine call and receives the Christ by faith becomes a saint—in the making. Pascal's idea of a saint was artificial and inglorious. He said a saint was a dead man, credited with posthumous powers and canonized by the price of the cardinals. St. Paul's idea was vastly different. He said a saint was a living man, alive unto God forevermore and called by divine ictus to great service and to life everlasting. In this sense every Christian is called to be a saint, and we should live, by divine grace, worthy of our high calling. Every century has at least two outstanding saints. They seem to come in pairs, two by two, in Apostolic fashion. In the first century there were Paul and Peter and in the 2nd century there were Ignatius and Loyola, in the 3rd century there were Cyprian and Valentine. St. Valentine is immortalized because his birthday was made to synchronize with the celebrations on Feb. 14, in honor of the Roman Pan and June and known as the festival of the Lupercalia. Little is actually known of the life of St. Valentine, he undoubtedly was a remarkable character and a Christian missionary of unique gifts in the Roman Empire. The emperor Claudius hated the Christians and charged them with being unpatriotic because they refused to offer libations to the pagan gods. He was afraid of the Christianizing powers of Valentine, and sent his friend Asterius to win him back to paganism. But Asterius himself was converted to Christianity instead, largely because of the healing of his little blind daughter because of the healing of his little blind daughter by the prayers and anointing of Valentine. Valentine was imprisoned, tortured, and finally beheaded. The Jesuits for us are these first, Every good day is traceable to some good man or influence e.g. Christmas, Easter, Good Friday, Sunday, Thanksgiving, Dominion Day, and Valentine's day, second, let us purify all social customs relating to Valentine's day and taboo everything ugly, nasty, or silly; third, let us live as true saints of God as Valentine did; fourth, let us put more love into each other's lives. Valentine's day is day for great hearts, loving dead, kind thoughts, and simple faith.

A CENTURY OF PEACE.

The following is a sermon delivered at St. Andrew's Presbyterian church by Rev. A. S. Kerr on Sunday—Feb. 29-11. The Lord will give strength unto his people. The Lord will bless his people with peace.

The connection made here between peace and strength is significant. They harmonize. The best illustration is found in the relations which have existed between Great Britain and the United States for the last century. It is just one hundred years since the Treaty of Ghent was ratified by Washington. To-day is the Sunday nearest that date and it has been set apart as an occasion of Thanksgiving.

When the question as to the appropriateness of going on with the celebration arose, on account of the great European war in which Great Britain is engaged, there appeared to be a unanimous sentiment for adhering to the plans made—on the part of the leaders of both political parties and also the heads of the church, both Protestant and Catholic. The century of peace between Great Britain and the United States is an object lesson to the nations. There is a boundary line of nearly 4,000 miles altogether unfortified. This must be an astonishing thing to the war makers of Europe. An agreement was reached in 1817 whereby all ships of war were to be removed from the Great Lakes with a few exceptions. And this agreement has always been adhered to if not in the letter, in the spirit. Another great example of national brotherhood is found in S. America between the Chileans and the Argentines—on the Andes there is a statue of Christ which is a pledge between these peoples "That sooner shall these mountains crumble into dust than that Chilean and Argentines break the peace which they have sworn to maintain at the feet of Christ the Redeemer."

There have been differences but these were all submitted to arbitration boards and amicably settled. The relations existing between these two great nations shows the more excellent way to all the nations of the earth.

How has it come possible? The answer is comparatively easy. It has been possible because of a community of ideals. Their mission may be said to be identical. Every nation has a mission. God chose three great nations of antiquity to prepare the way for modern civilization. The Jews gave men religion, the Greeks art and science, Rome ideas of law and government. The contributions of these three peoples of antiquity we find synchronized in the Anglo Saxon Race. If the mission of Great Britain and the United States is identical can it be defined? Yes. It may be said to be the spread of constitutional freedom, the progress of civilization and the extension of the Gospel. Now if it is true that these great nations have been able to maintain peace, because of a community of ideals it is also true that because there was no such community between Great Britain and Germany the present war became a certainty. Back of the conflict of arms is the conflict of ideas. Germany has adopted a new moral code which is the essence of immorality. The State is supreme. And anything that is judged as of value to strengthen or enlarge it, is justifiable, whether it be morality or immorality. Germany's ideas are not freedom but mastery, not righteousness but might, not peace but war. There has been emanating from the German press an average of 700 vols. a year on the military art and that coming was bound to produce its harvest of blood and tears.

Peace is of more value to the state than war. But we do not deny the fact that war does produce certain benefits. It would be strange in this present conflict if the expenditure of so much blood and treasure did not result in some advantage. The present conflict is consolidating the British Empire. It is uniting all classes of society and all political parties. It is having a sobering effect upon the minds of the people. It is purifying the national life. Norway has prohibited the manufacture of intoxicants from foodstuffs. France has prohibited the sale of absinthe. Russia the sale of vodka, thereby sacrificing an annual revenue of 485,000,000 dollars. We are told that crime in Great Britain has decreased in a marvelous way. But while this is true yet no nation is ever justified in going to war to attain these advantages. That would be an immoral act. The end does not justify the means. We are not to do evil that good may come. There are compensations for war but they are over-balanced by the evils. War is at best only a hateful necessity, when we think of the loss of life and property, of how the nations of Europe are being plunged into debt for generations to come we rejoice that here in this new land it is possible to live together with our neighbors in peace and harmony.

In the story of the Dutch Republic we are told how a certain city was besieged by Spaniards under the Duke of Alva. It was surrounded by a great wall behind which the people felt secure. But the big battering rams were brought to make an impression. The Dutch immediately commenced the building of an inner wall. They no sooner completed it than the outer wall gave way and the shouting and exultant Spaniards burst through only to meet an unsurmountable obstacle. That nation lives in the picture line of danger that has not the inner wall of Christian conviction and principle in its national life. The outer fortifications have their use such as the army, the navy, laws, civilization, but the nation is imperilled if its foundations are not laid broad based upon the fear of God. "He that dwells in the secret place of the Most High shall abide under the shadow of the Almighty." May God be the glory in the midst of our national life then will He be a wall of defense around the people. May the grim and ghastly struggle of the present hour soon cease that we may rejoice in the dawn of a new day that will bring peace and good will to men.

THE KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS BALL

Successful Annual Function in Academy and Council Parlor Last Evening

(From Tuesday's Daily.)

Last night was a gala night in the Knights of Columbus circles, for it was the occasion of the annual ball of the Belleville Council No. 1003.

No fewer than one hundred and fifty couples were present and thoroughly enjoyed the evening of dance, music, the progressive euchre, the refreshments and the genial social atmosphere which pervaded the Academy.

The ball was a gala night in the Knights of Columbus circles, for it was the occasion of the annual ball of the Belleville Council No. 1003.

No fewer than one hundred and fifty couples were present and thoroughly enjoyed the evening of dance, music, the progressive euchre, the refreshments and the genial social atmosphere which pervaded the Academy.

The ball was a gala night in the Knights of Columbus circles, for it was the occasion of the annual ball of the Belleville Council No. 1003.

No fewer than one hundred and fifty couples were present and thoroughly enjoyed the evening of dance, music, the progressive euchre, the refreshments and the genial social atmosphere which pervaded the Academy.

The ball was a gala night in the Knights of Columbus circles, for it was the occasion of the annual ball of the Belleville Council No. 1003.

No fewer than one hundred and fifty couples were present and thoroughly enjoyed the evening of dance, music, the progressive euchre, the refreshments and the genial social atmosphere which pervaded the Academy.

The ball was a gala night in the Knights of Columbus circles, for it was the occasion of the annual ball of the Belleville Council No. 1003.

No fewer than one hundred and fifty couples were present and thoroughly enjoyed the evening of dance, music, the progressive euchre, the refreshments and the genial social atmosphere which pervaded the Academy.

The ball was a gala night in the Knights of Columbus circles, for it was the occasion of the annual ball of the Belleville Council No. 1003.

No fewer than one hundred and fifty couples were present and thoroughly enjoyed the evening of dance, music, the progressive euchre, the refreshments and the genial social atmosphere which pervaded the Academy.

The ball was a gala night in the Knights of Columbus circles, for it was the occasion of the annual ball of the Belleville Council No. 1003.

No fewer than one hundred and fifty couples were present and thoroughly enjoyed the evening of dance, music, the progressive euchre, the refreshments and the genial social atmosphere which pervaded the Academy.

The ball was a gala night in the Knights of Columbus circles, for it was the occasion of the annual ball of the Belleville Council No. 1003.

No fewer than one hundred and fifty couples were present and thoroughly enjoyed the evening of dance, music, the progressive euchre, the refreshments and the genial social atmosphere which pervaded the Academy.

The ball was a gala night in the Knights of Columbus circles, for it was the occasion of the annual ball of the Belleville Council No. 1003.

No fewer than one hundred and fifty couples were present and thoroughly enjoyed the evening of dance, music, the progressive euchre, the refreshments and the genial social atmosphere which pervaded the Academy.

The ball was a gala night in the Knights of Columbus circles, for it was the occasion of the annual ball of the Belleville Council No. 1003.

No fewer than one hundred and fifty couples were present and thoroughly enjoyed the evening of dance, music, the progressive euchre, the refreshments and the genial social atmosphere which pervaded the Academy.

The ball was a gala night in the Knights of Columbus circles, for it was the occasion of the annual ball of the Belleville Council No. 1003.

No fewer than one hundred and fifty couples were present and thoroughly enjoyed the evening of dance, music, the progressive euchre, the refreshments and the genial social atmosphere which pervaded the Academy.

The ball was a gala night in the Knights of Columbus circles, for it was the occasion of the annual ball of the Belleville Council No. 1003.

THE OLD TIME CONCERT WAS FINE SUCCESS

Ladies Aid of West Belleville Church Gave One of the Most Pleasing Church Entertainments of the Year

(From Tuesday's Daily.)

Last night mirth and jollity reigned supreme in the School Room at West Belleville Methodist Church. It was the occasion of a dramatic entertainment of rather "Old Time Concert" for which the energetic Ladies' Aid Society has been making careful and continuous preparation for a month past.

The audience derived most amusement in the first act from the display of family photographs, which were posed for by well known members of the congregation. In the second act the piece-de-resistance was a quilling party. Running all through there was a sparkling clever dialogue.

The acting of all those who took part showed really excellent finish and ability. The humorous lines were well brought out, though not overacted, and the work of the individual performers was characterized by great naturalness and appreciation of the parts.

The cast was as follows:—Mrs. Kelly Village Hostess
Mrs. Chas. Walters
Mrs. De Vise Dignified Woman
Miss Sarah McCruden
Mrs. Barton Pleasant Woman
Mrs. M. Leavens
Mrs. Goodens Very Businesslike
Mrs. Wm. Drury
Mrs. Hick Backward Woman
Mrs. Dan Ketcheson
Mrs. Vernon and Mrs. Good—Stylish City Visitors—Mrs. Arthur Gordon and Mrs. Percy Moor.
Thomas' Wife A Kindly Woman
When you and I were young, Maggie
Miss Skinning—An Unclaimed Blessing and "A Man Hater"—Miss S. J. Herity.
Mrs. Runkle Considerable to Say
Mrs. Geo. Clapp
Mrs. Meek A Gentle Woman
Mrs. J. Carter
Mrs. Bond A Loud Talker
Mrs. W. Terex
Mrs. Donely A Young Mother
Mrs. Robt. Andrews
Mrs. Jacks Plain Speaker.
Mrs. Snider
Mrs. Lane An Excitable Woman
Mrs. Bacon
The concluding feature of the comedy was an improvised concert. Mrs. (Rev) Martin, notwithstanding her upstairs, the costumes of the ladies in the cast were themselves a sight to see. And just where they succeeded in obtaining all these relics of by-gone fashions is a mystery. But the ensemble, while mirth-provoking, was by no means unattractive.

The audience derived most amusement in the first act from the display of family photographs, which were posed for by well known members of the congregation. In the second act the piece-de-resistance was a quilling party. Running all through there was a sparkling clever dialogue.

The acting of all those who took part showed really excellent finish and ability. The humorous lines were well brought out, though not overacted, and the work of the individual performers was characterized by great naturalness and appreciation of the parts.

The cast was as follows:—Mrs. Kelly Village Hostess
Mrs. Chas. Walters
Mrs. De Vise Dignified Woman
Miss Sarah McCruden
Mrs. Barton Pleasant Woman
Mrs. M. Leavens
Mrs. Goodens Very Businesslike
Mrs. Wm. Drury
Mrs. Hick Backward Woman
Mrs. Dan Ketcheson
Mrs. Vernon and Mrs. Good—Stylish City Visitors—Mrs. Arthur Gordon and Mrs. Percy Moor.
Thomas' Wife A Kindly Woman
When you and I were young, Maggie
Miss Skinning—An Unclaimed Blessing and "A Man Hater"—Miss S. J. Herity.
Mrs. Runkle Considerable to Say
Mrs. Geo. Clapp
Mrs. Meek A Gentle Woman
Mrs. J. Carter
Mrs. Bond A Loud Talker
Mrs. W. Terex
Mrs. Donely A Young Mother
Mrs. Robt. Andrews
Mrs. Jacks Plain Speaker.
Mrs. Snider
Mrs. Lane An Excitable Woman
Mrs. Bacon
The concluding feature of the comedy was an improvised concert. Mrs. (Rev) Martin, notwithstanding her upstairs, the costumes of the ladies in the cast were themselves a sight to see. And just where they succeeded in obtaining all these relics of by-gone fashions is a mystery. But the ensemble, while mirth-provoking, was by no means unattractive.

The audience derived most amusement in the first act from the display of family photographs, which were posed for by well known members of the congregation. In the second act the piece-de-resistance was a quilling party. Running all through there was a sparkling clever dialogue.

The acting of all those who took part showed really excellent finish and ability. The humorous lines were well brought out, though not overacted, and the work of the individual performers was characterized by great naturalness and appreciation of the parts.

The cast was as follows:—Mrs. Kelly Village Hostess
Mrs. Chas. Walters
Mrs. De Vise Dignified Woman
Miss Sarah McCruden
Mrs. Barton Pleasant Woman
Mrs. M. Leavens
Mrs. Goodens Very Businesslike
Mrs. Wm. Drury
Mrs. Hick Backward Woman
Mrs. Dan Ketcheson
Mrs. Vernon and Mrs. Good—Stylish City Visitors—Mrs. Arthur Gordon and Mrs. Percy Moor.
Thomas' Wife A Kindly Woman
When you and I were young, Maggie
Miss Skinning—An Unclaimed Blessing and "A Man Hater"—Miss S. J. Herity.
Mrs. Runkle Considerable to Say
Mrs. Geo. Clapp
Mrs. Meek A Gentle Woman
Mrs. J. Carter
Mrs. Bond A Loud Talker
Mrs. W. Terex
Mrs. Donely A Young Mother
Mrs. Robt. Andrews
Mrs. Jacks Plain Speaker.
Mrs. Snider
Mrs. Lane An Excitable Woman
Mrs. Bacon
The concluding feature of the comedy was an improvised concert. Mrs. (Rev) Martin, notwithstanding her upstairs, the costumes of the ladies in the cast were themselves a sight to see. And just where they succeeded in obtaining all these relics of by-gone fashions is a mystery. But the ensemble, while mirth-provoking, was by no means unattractive.

The audience derived most amusement in the first act from the display of family photographs, which were posed for by well known members of the congregation. In the second act the piece-de-resistance was a quilling party. Running all through there was a sparkling clever dialogue.

The acting of all those who took part showed really excellent finish and ability. The humorous lines were well brought out, though not overacted, and the work of the individual performers was characterized by great naturalness and appreciation of the parts.

The cast was as follows:—Mrs. Kelly Village Hostess
Mrs. Chas. Walters
Mrs. De Vise Dignified Woman
Miss Sarah McCruden
Mrs. Barton Pleasant Woman
Mrs. M. Leavens
Mrs. Goodens Very Businesslike
Mrs. Wm. Drury
Mrs. Hick Backward Woman
Mrs. Dan Ketcheson
Mrs. Vernon and Mrs. Good—Stylish City Visitors—Mrs. Arthur Gordon and Mrs. Percy Moor.
Thomas' Wife A Kindly Woman
When you and I were young, Maggie
Miss Skinning—An Unclaimed Blessing and "A Man Hater"—Miss S. J. Herity.
Mrs. Runkle Considerable to Say
Mrs. Geo. Clapp
Mrs. Meek A Gentle Woman
Mrs. J. Carter
Mrs. Bond A Loud Talker
Mrs. W. Terex
Mrs. Donely A Young Mother
Mrs. Robt. Andrews
Mrs. Jacks Plain Speaker.
Mrs. Snider
Mrs. Lane An Excitable Woman
Mrs. Bacon
The concluding feature of the comedy was an improvised concert. Mrs. (Rev) Martin, notwithstanding her upstairs, the costumes of the ladies in the cast were themselves a sight to see. And just where they succeeded in obtaining all these relics of by-gone fashions is a mystery. But the ensemble, while mirth-provoking, was by no means unattractive.

The audience derived most amusement in the first act from the display of family photographs, which were posed for by well known members of the congregation. In the second act the piece-de-resistance was a quilling party. Running all through there was a sparkling clever dialogue.

The acting of all those who took part showed really excellent finish and ability. The humorous lines were well brought out, though not overacted, and the work of the individual performers was characterized by great naturalness and appreciation of the parts.

The cast was as follows:—Mrs. Kelly Village Hostess
Mrs. Chas. Walters
Mrs. De Vise Dignified Woman
Miss Sarah McCruden
Mrs. Barton Pleasant Woman
Mrs. M. Leavens
Mrs. Goodens Very Businesslike
Mrs. Wm. Drury
Mrs. Hick Backward Woman
Mrs. Dan Ketcheson
Mrs. Vernon and Mrs. Good—Stylish City Visitors—Mrs. Arthur Gordon and Mrs. Percy Moor.
Thomas' Wife A Kindly Woman
When you and I were young, Maggie
Miss Skinning—An Unclaimed Blessing and "A Man Hater"—Miss S. J. Herity.
Mrs. Runkle Considerable to Say
Mrs. Geo. Clapp
Mrs. Meek A Gentle Woman
Mrs. J. Carter
Mrs. Bond A Loud Talker
Mrs. W. Terex
Mrs. Donely A Young Mother
Mrs. Robt. Andrews
Mrs. Jacks Plain Speaker.
Mrs. Snider
Mrs. Lane An Excitable Woman
Mrs. Bacon
The concluding feature of the comedy was an improvised concert. Mrs. (Rev) Martin, notwithstanding her upstairs, the costumes of the ladies in the cast were themselves a sight to see. And just where they succeeded in obtaining all these relics of by-gone fashions is a mystery. But the ensemble, while mirth-provoking, was by no means unattractive.

The audience derived most amusement in the first act from the display of family photographs, which were posed for by well known members of the congregation. In the second act the piece-de-resistance was a quilling party. Running all through there was a sparkling clever dialogue.

The acting of all those who took part showed really excellent finish and ability. The humorous lines were well brought out, though not overacted, and the work of the individual performers was characterized by great naturalness and appreciation of the parts.

The cast was as follows:—Mrs. Kelly Village Hostess
Mrs. Chas. Walters
Mrs. De Vise Dignified Woman
Miss Sarah McCruden
Mrs. Barton Pleasant Woman
Mrs. M. Leavens
Mrs. Goodens Very Businesslike
Mrs. Wm. Drury
Mrs. Hick Backward Woman
Mrs. Dan Ketcheson
Mrs. Vernon and Mrs. Good—Stylish City Visitors—Mrs. Arthur Gordon and Mrs. Percy Moor.
Thomas' Wife A Kindly Woman
When you and I were young, Maggie
Miss Skinning—An Unclaimed Blessing and "A Man Hater"—Miss S. J. Herity.
Mrs. Runkle Considerable to Say
Mrs. Geo. Clapp
Mrs. Meek A Gentle Woman
Mrs. J. Carter
Mrs. Bond A Loud Talker
Mrs. W. Terex
Mrs. Donely A Young Mother
Mrs. Robt. Andrews
Mrs. Jacks Plain Speaker.
Mrs. Snider
Mrs. Lane An Excitable Woman
Mrs. Bacon
The concluding feature of the comedy was an improvised concert. Mrs. (Rev) Martin, notwithstanding her upstairs, the costumes of the ladies in the cast were themselves a sight to see. And just where they succeeded in obtaining all these relics of by-gone fashions is a mystery. But the ensemble, while mirth-provoking, was by no means unattractive.

The audience derived most amusement in the first act from the display of family photographs, which were posed for by well known members of the congregation. In the second act the piece-de-resistance was a quilling party. Running all through there was a sparkling clever dialogue.

The acting of all those who took part showed really excellent finish and ability. The humorous lines were well brought out, though not overacted, and the work of the individual performers was characterized by great naturalness and appreciation of the parts.

The cast was as follows:—Mrs. Kelly Village Hostess
Mrs. Chas. Walters
Mrs. De Vise Dignified Woman
Miss Sarah McCruden
Mrs. Barton Pleasant Woman
Mrs. M. Leavens
Mrs. Goodens Very Businesslike
Mrs. Wm. Drury
Mrs. Hick Backward Woman
Mrs. Dan Ketcheson
Mrs. Vernon and Mrs. Good—Stylish City Visitors—Mrs. Arthur Gordon and Mrs. Percy Moor.
Thomas' Wife A Kindly Woman
When you and I were young, Maggie
Miss Skinning—An Unclaimed Blessing and "A Man Hater"—Miss S. J. Herity.
Mrs. Runkle Considerable to Say
Mrs. Geo. Clapp
Mrs. Meek A Gentle Woman
Mrs. J. Carter
Mrs. Bond A Loud Talker
Mrs. W. Terex
Mrs. Donely A Young Mother
Mrs. Robt. Andrews
Mrs. Jacks Plain Speaker.
Mrs. Snider
Mrs. Lane An Excitable Woman
Mrs. Bacon
The concluding feature of the comedy was an improvised concert. Mrs. (Rev) Martin, notwithstanding her upstairs, the costumes of the ladies in the cast were themselves a sight to see. And just where they succeeded in obtaining all these relics of by-gone fashions is a mystery. But the ensemble, while mirth-provoking, was by no means unattractive.

The audience derived most amusement in the first act from the display of family photographs, which were posed for by well known members of the congregation. In the second act the piece-de-resistance was a quilling party. Running all through there was a sparkling clever dialogue.

The acting of all those who took part showed really excellent finish and ability. The humorous lines were well brought out, though not overacted, and the work of the individual performers was characterized by great naturalness and appreciation of the parts.

The cast was as follows:—Mrs. Kelly Village Hostess
Mrs. Chas. Walters
Mrs. De Vise Dignified Woman
Miss Sarah McCruden
Mrs. Barton Pleasant Woman
Mrs. M. Leavens
Mrs. Goodens Very Businesslike
Mrs. Wm. Drury
Mrs. Hick Backward Woman
Mrs. Dan Ketcheson
Mrs. Vernon and Mrs. Good—Stylish City Visitors—Mrs. Arthur Gordon and Mrs. Percy Moor.
Thomas' Wife A Kindly Woman
When you and I were young, Maggie
Miss Skinning—An Unclaimed Blessing and "A Man Hater"—Miss S. J. Herity.
Mrs. Runkle Considerable to Say
Mrs. Geo. Clapp
Mrs. Meek A Gentle Woman
Mrs. J. Carter
Mrs. Bond A Loud Talker
Mrs. W. Terex
Mrs. Donely A Young Mother
Mrs. Robt. Andrews
Mrs. Jacks Plain Speaker.
Mrs. Snider
Mrs. Lane An Excitable Woman
Mrs. Bacon
The concluding feature of the comedy was an improvised concert. Mrs. (Rev) Martin, notwithstanding her upstairs, the costumes of the ladies in the cast were themselves a sight to see. And just where they succeeded in obtaining all these relics of by-gone fashions is a mystery. But the ensemble, while mirth-provoking, was by no means unattractive.

The audience derived most amusement in the first act from the display of family photographs, which were posed for by well known members of the congregation. In the second act the piece-de-resistance was a quilling party. Running all through there was a sparkling clever dialogue.

The acting of all those who took part showed really excellent finish and ability. The humorous lines were well brought out, though not overacted, and the work of the individual performers was characterized by great naturalness and appreciation of the parts.

The cast was as follows:—Mrs. Kelly Village Hostess
Mrs. Chas. Walters
Mrs. De Vise Dignified Woman
Miss Sarah McCruden
Mrs. Barton Pleasant Woman
Mrs. M. Leavens
Mrs. Goodens Very Businesslike
Mrs. Wm. Drury
Mrs. Hick Backward Woman
Mrs. Dan Ketcheson
Mrs. Vernon and Mrs. Good—Stylish City Visitors—Mrs. Arthur Gordon and Mrs. Percy Moor.
Thomas' Wife A Kindly Woman
When you and I were young, Maggie
Miss Skinning—An Unclaimed Blessing and "A Man Hater"—Miss S. J. Herity.
Mrs. Runkle Considerable to Say
Mrs. Geo. Clapp
Mrs. Meek A Gentle Woman
Mrs. J. Carter
Mrs. Bond A Loud Talker
Mrs. W. Terex
Mrs. Donely A Young Mother
Mrs. Robt. Andrews
Mrs. Jacks Plain Speaker.
Mrs. Snider
Mrs. Lane An Excitable Woman
Mrs. Bacon
The concluding feature of the comedy was an improvised concert. Mrs. (Rev) Martin, notwithstanding her upstairs, the costumes of the ladies in the cast were themselves a sight to see. And just where they succeeded in obtaining all these relics of by-gone fashions is a mystery. But the ensemble, while mirth-provoking, was by no means unattractive.

The audience derived most amusement in the first act from the display of family photographs, which were posed for by well known members of the congregation. In the second act the piece-de-resistance was a quilling party. Running all through there was a sparkling clever dialogue.

The acting of all those who took part showed really excellent finish and ability. The humorous lines were well brought out, though not overacted, and the work of the individual performers was characterized by great naturalness and appreciation of the parts.

The cast was as follows:—Mrs. Kelly Village Hostess
Mrs. Chas. Walters
Mrs. De Vise Dignified Woman
Miss Sarah McCruden
Mrs. Barton Pleasant Woman
Mrs. M. Leavens
Mrs. Goodens Very Businesslike
Mrs. Wm. Drury
Mrs. Hick Backward Woman
Mrs. Dan Ketcheson
Mrs. Vernon and Mrs. Good—Stylish City Visitors—Mrs. Arthur Gordon and Mrs. Percy Moor.
Thomas' Wife A Kindly Woman
When you and I were young, Maggie
Miss Skinning—An Unclaimed Blessing and "A Man Hater"—Miss S. J. Herity.
Mrs. Runkle Considerable to Say
Mrs. Geo. Clapp
Mrs. Meek A Gentle Woman
Mrs. J. Carter
Mrs. Bond A Loud Talker
Mrs. W. Terex
Mrs. Donely A Young Mother
Mrs. Robt. Andrews
Mrs. Jacks Plain Speaker.
Mrs. Snider
Mrs. Lane An Excitable Woman
Mrs. Bacon
The concluding feature of the comedy was an improvised concert. Mrs. (Rev) Martin, notwithstanding her upstairs, the costumes of the ladies in the cast were themselves a sight to see. And just where they succeeded in obtaining all these relics of by-gone fashions is a mystery. But the ensemble, while mirth-provoking, was by no means unattractive.

The audience derived most amusement in the first act from the display of family photographs, which were posed for by well known members of the congregation. In the second act the piece-de-resistance was a quilling party. Running all through there was a sparkling clever dialogue.