Seldom have the citizens of Brantford been afforded so good an opportunity as they were last evening to see the lantern slides of the American cities which were made by Mr. Richard B. Watrous, a resident of the city of Washington, who addressed the meeting under the auspices of the City of Brantford held in the Y. M. C. A. Mr. Frank Cocksbutt, of the meeting, after a few minutes called upon Mr. Watrous, who presented an address dealing with the problem of beautifying the many benefits derived from a step.

Mr. Watrous, who is a resident of Brantford, which was profusely illustrated by lantern slides, by stating that the beautification of the cities were made in the central part of the plan of some of the cities.

Washington the Beautiful. In the planning of the cities which have grown up around the plan for the future. Cities which are commonly known as English people as towns comparatively a new subject, which is recognized as a beautiful city is largely the result of the plan of some of the cities.

LLOYD-GEORGE SPEAKS OF SUFFRAGE

Militants.

Canadian Press Despatch. OXFORD, Eng., Nov. 2. The Chancellor of the Exchequer, Mr. Lloyd-George, today declared that he thought it impossible for the women suffragists to secure the passage of a bill granting the elementary franchise to women in the British Isles, as they have not the majority of the people behind them and have not captured the machinery of the State. He gave this reply in answer to a question put to him here this morning and before the question of women suffrage was taken up by the Oxford Men's Political Union. Mr. Lloyd-George, in the House of Commons, today, being in favor of the women, should wreck the bill if it did not grant them the elementary franchise.

Chancellor Lloyd-George, who is ready to do anything within the limits of party discipline to advance the cause of women, but for the present, he did not feel called upon to go beyond those limitations. The limits indicated the way got on without him, Mr. Lloyd-George added, and he thought that his cabinet colleagues held the same views as he did, in a similar standpoint.

Mr. Lloyd-George reiterated the militancy of some of the women who had set public opinion in the British Isles against them and said, no use in trying to force the woman's suffrage bill against the wishes of the public.

In regard to the forcible women who declared a strike while detained in the House of Commons, the Chancellor of the exchequer said that the alternative was to allow them to starve and that was a course which would do nobody any good.
