CURED BY CUTICURA WHEN HOPE HAD GONE

"My head was one mass of scabs, my forehead was covered down almost to my eyebrows, and I had to wear my hat all the time. My body was covered with spots in size from a pinhead to as large as a silver dollar. A white, crusty scab would form and itch, and words cannot express the torture and humiliation I suffered for fifteen wears. I tried meany doctors. torture and humiliation I suffered for fifteen years. I tried many doctors, and all kinds of treatments, but could get no help, and I thought there was a hope for me. A friend told me to at Cuticura. I did, and in three days 7 head was as clear as ever. I plied Cuticura Ointment night and rning, also taking a hot bath with thousa Soap three times a week, and ng the Ointment freely after the h. After using one cake of Cuticura p and two boxes of Cuticura Ointment I was completely cured, without rk or blemish. I was so pleased I i like running down the street to I every one I met what Cuticura d done for me. (signed) H. B. Frankt, 717 Wash'n St., Allegheny, Pa."

Humor and Philosophy

By DUNCAN M. SMITH

THE LAST STATION.

Adown the road the poorhouse looms,
A specter large and grim
For those who cannot beat the game
And weary of the swim,
For those who falter by the way
And cannot keep the pace
And own that they are down and out,
Fligged in the human race.

Within its dark, forbidding walls
The lowly sons of fate
As equals meet and elbows touch
With those who once were great.
The nother who has nursed a brood,
The poet who has played
Upon the heartstrings of mankind,
The once high prince of trade.

It seems so far in early youth, But oh, in middle life
Its sladow filts across our path When weary grows the strife!
And when in our declining years We seek its lowly fare
May we at last find respite from Ambition, strife and care.

Useful Parent.

An Ohio man can foretell weather by the aid of his father in a way well calculated to cause the weather department to blush. He recently won a prize for light, ornamental predicting in competition with some experts who were drawing a salary from a government which presumably didn't

It appears that the old gentleman has a choice collection of diseases scattered about his joints and that he makes a practice of having a different kind of pain for each variety of weather. By this means he can tip off storms, sunshine, occasional showers or whatever may be locked up in the damp, mysterious bosom of weather futurity.
This teaches us that we may put our parents to some useful purpose, par-ticularly if they will insist on having rheumat'sm, and that if we will carefully cultivate their talents and their acquaintance we may know whether to take our umbrella or our straw hat when we hie ourselves away to the merry picnic.

The Stingless Bee.

Our benign and cunning agricultural department has imported from the Caucasus a busy bee that doeth not improve each shining hour by stinging the human race.

This bee carries a stinger, but only as an evidence of good faith and to prove that it is a bee and not for shooting purposes.

This is only in line with progress. We have the wireless telegraph, the horseless carriage, the spineless states-man and a few others. Why not the

With the introduction of this gentle and well broken honey maker the small boy will not have to bid goodby to his parents as he goes to play in the woods. But, after all, will that be any way to raise children? It has always been regarded as a part of the development of the youth of the land for them to get stung in early childhood and the left ear.
