ORDERED TO RETURN PROFITS OBTAINED IN STERLING CONVERSION

VANCOUVER, Sept. 20.—Twenty-one men appeared before the Royal Commission to investigate frauds in connection with the conversion of Sterling exchange into Canadian currency at yesterday's session.

Of these, four were ordered to return profits on the transaction to the government, including a total of about $2,750.

The others were able to show that their transactions had been legitimate, or that private sources of revenue had been so confused with pay and allowance that it was impossible to distinguish between them.

Clifford E. Field, who was ordered to pay the government $1,750 received pay amounting to $12,000 during the year, and he converted into Canadian funds at par, about fifteen thousand dollars. He explained that he had taken a large amount of private money to England with him when he went overseas.

"I am not going to say that something else besides having to pay back $1,835 is not going to happen to you," Commissioner Clarkson told G. W. Pace, who stated he had taken about eleven thousand dollars to England and transferred it back with other

The Woes of Mrs. Newlywed

"My bureau drawers stick dreadfully," fussed Mrs. Newlywed. "How can I fix them so they will work easier?"

"Take a piece of common soap, soften it in your hand and rub on the part that sticks," said Mrs. Neighbor.

Boys and Girls

Have the bedroom in which your child or your children are to sleep bright and sunny. Give each child a separate bed to sleep in. Have the sleeping room cool and without drafts. See that the clothing of the little sleeper is loose at the neck and arms, and keep its head uncovered. See that there is plenty of circulating fresh air.

Through the pores of the skin the body is continually throwing off poisonous vapors. So, if the head is under cover, the child will be breathing bad air. The night clothes should never be starched and should be soft about the neck. Half the time when a young child or baby cries, it is for want of fresh air or fresh water. Wiping the lips of a crying baby with cool water will often soothe and refresh it.

Before putting the baby to bed, always give it a sponge bath; the water no more than ninety-six degrees. Pat the flesh gently, dry gently with a soft towel, and then use a little powder to keep the skin from chafing. ever allow a child to sleep on anything but a thin pillow. No pillow at all is better.

Proper Manners

"If I am invited out to dinner to the home of a married friend of mine what should I do when the dinner is announced," asked Edgar.

"When dinner is announced, if the dinner is an informal one, follow the hostess to the dining room. If the dinner is a formal one the host will tell you who you are to take in to dinner," helped his father.

Health Hints

Nurse says that when mothers teach their children the great need of the proper care of their teeth, there will be less work for the dentist later in life. The first, or temporary teeth, should have the same careful attention as the permanent ones. When the teeth are frail in childhood, it is evident that the youngest is not receiving the proper diet and substitution of gluten and whole wheat bread for white bread, syrups and sweets is most imperative.

Syrup of lactophosphate of lime is helpful at such a time, as soft crumbling teeth give evidence that more bone making material is necessary. A well known dentist says "If gluten flour were generally used instead of fine flours in the rearing of children, or for the food of adults, many dentists would go out of business."

If the permanent teeth come thru irregularly, overlapping or twisted they should be strengthened without delay and if the gums are overcrowded it is better to remove a tooth, since the conditions favor decay. For a toothache a teaspoon of soda, dissolved in half a glass of water and then soaked on a piece of cotton and placed in the tooth, will help to allay it. The mouth should then be rinsed with what remains in the glass.

Letters for publication in this paper should be marked plainly "FOR THE EVENING ADVOCATE." Correspondents will please note this. Letters from readers are always welcomed.
