Coban Arrives

AFTER STORMY PASSAGE.
The s.s. Coban, Capt. McPhail, arrived in port this morning with a load of coal to the Reid Nid. Co. The ship left Louisburg Sunday morning and after passing Scatterie met the rough weather experienced for many years. A gale of northwest wind raged and mountainous seas were running. During the storm, which continued until late yesterday afternoon, the ship was completely awash and shipped some very heavy seas. The boats were shifted considerably, but the Coban rode out the seas very well, and though blinding snow-squalls prevailed all day Sunday and Sunday night, she made the run to this port in 48 hours. She has already begun the work of discharging her cargo.

Stafford's Liniment has obtained a large sale in a short time. Everybody is asking for it. For sale by N. Nugent, New Gower Street. Open every night.

MINARD'S LINIMENT CURES DAN-DRUFF.

Big Tramp Ship in Port.

In Collision with Iceberg and is Badly Damaged.

With her bows crushed in to the bulkhead department, as the result of being in collision with an iceberg, the S.S. Manchester Commerce, Capt. Couch, crippled slowly into port this morning and reported to be leaking on the port side.

The ship was bound to Manchester from Montreal with a general cargo. She left the latter port exactly a week ago. At three o'clock on last Saturday morning when the ship was eighty miles to the westward of Green Bay, while going through Belle Isle Straits she struck a large iceberg. At the time the weather was clear and fine and lights could be seen for fully 25 miles distant, said Captain Couch. The Second Officer was on watch on the bridge when the vessel struck the floating menace. Captain Couch was consulting with his chart in his own room, and the weather was so beautifully fine, his presence was not required on the bridge. When the Captain was alarmed of the collision he immediately came to the deck, seeing the predicament of his ship and ordered the engines to be reversed.

Capt. Couch told our reporter today that the iceberg was an immense size and was very high out of the water. He cannot understand how the look-out man did not report and attributes the accident to lack of vigilance. The ship was going at full speed when she struck and it can be realized how her bows were stove in, as the result of the head-on collision. No alarm prevailed amongst the crew and Capt. Couch brought the ship into Point Amour where upon inspection it was found that she was leaking on the port side. It was decided to come to St. John's for repairs, and the ship bore up on Saturday last, experiencing a terrific N.E. gale and snow storm the next day. She crippled along slowly, and the pumps were kept going and prevented the water from damaging the cargo.

The Manchester Commerce is now laying in the stream undergoing a survey to find out the extent of the damages done. It is not yet determined whether she will be dry docked for repairs, but it is not improbable that she will. In connection with the collision a marked feature is that if the quarters of the seamen had been forward instead of aft, there is little doubt but that loss of life would have occurred.

The ship belongs to the Manchester Line, and owned by the Furness Withy Co. She was never before before but her captain was 26 years ago in the "Ontarian" which was disabled and had to go into Dry Dock for repairs. The Manchester Commerce was built in 1900 in West Hartlepool, is 5363 tons gross and 3444 nett.
