Our readers are asked to withhold any opinions that they may have formed upon our regiment being that is if they have built their opinmerit and that alone which made possible the issuance of the King's War- tor at 11 p.m. rant. Apparently it was not because of gallantry, or of bravery, or of lowing resolution:or because of individual or collective acts of bravery, (and we well know Liewellyn Jones, having faithfully and was in a good state of preservathat the men of the Royal Newfoundland Regiment are without equal in these virtues) that the regiment was passed into that which is within the Lambert, well known in the coastal set apart for this distinguished honor.
