Cleveland's Veto.

Why He Would Not Sign the Immigration Bill.

Message to Congress Showing Why He Killed the Measure That Was Specially Offensive to Canadians.

Washington, March 3 .- The President's message, vetoing the Immigration Bill, gives at length his objections to the first section of the bill, estab-lishing an educational test, by which the right of a foreigner to make his home with us shall be determined. The message then proceeds: "The fourth section of this bill provides 'that it shall be unlawful for any male alien, who has not in good faith made his declaration before the proper court of his intention to become a citizen of the United States, to be employed on any public works of the United States, or come regularly or habitually into the United States by land or water, for the purpose of engaging in any mechanical trade or manual labor for wages or salary, returning from time to time to a foreign country.' The fifth section provides that it shall be unlawful for any person, partnership, company or cor-poration, knowingly, to employ any alien coming into the United States, in violation of the next preceding section of this act. The prohibition against the employment of aliens upon any public works of the United States is in line with other legislation of a is in line with other legislation of a like character. It is quite a different however, to declare it a crime for an alien to come regularly and habitually into the United States for the purpose of obtaining work from private parties, if such an alien returns from time to time to a foreign country, and to constitute any employment of any such alien a crin such alien a criminal we consider these offense. When we consider these provisions of the bill in connection with our long northern frontier and boundaries of several of our states and territories to be but an imaginary line, separating them from the British Dominion, and recall the friendly intercourse between the peo-ple, who are neighbors on either side, provisions of this bill affecting them must be regarded as illiberal, narrow and un-American. The residents of these states and territories have separate and special tests, which in many cases make an exchange of labor between their people and their alien neighbors most important, frequently with the advantage largely in favor of our citizens. This suggests the inexpediency of federal interference with these conditions when not necessary to the correction of a substantial evil affecting the general welfare. Such unfriendly legislation as is proposed could hardly fail to provoke retaliatory measures, to the injury of many of our citizens, who now find employment on adjointh of the uncorrainty of ing foreign soil. The uncertainty of construction to which the language of these provisions is subject is a serious objection in a statute which describes a crime. An important element in the offense sought to be created by these sections is the coming regularly or habitually into the United States. These words are impossible of definite Q and certain construction. The same may be said of the equally important words, 'returning from time to time to a foreign country.' A careful examination of this bill has convinced me that for the reasons given and others not specifically stated, its visions are unnecessarily harsh and oppressive, and that its defects in construction would cause vexation and its operation would result in harm t our citizens." REJOICING AT WINDSOR. Windsor, Ont., March 3 .- There was much jubilation in Windsor yesterday when it became known that President Cleveland had vetoed the Immigration Bill, for it would have meant a good deal of loss and inconvenience to many citizens had it become law. whose sons worked in Detroit, and who would have been obliged to sell out their little homes at a sacrifice the President exercised this preroga-
