SAN ANTONIO, Tex., March 17 .- How eriously the siege of Chihuahua, Mexico, by the rebel army has affected living conditions there is indicated in a leter from the correspondent of the San Antonio Express. His communication is dated March 14. As there is no food for the cows, a milk famine threatens the lives of small children and babies of the city. In contrast to the sad condiions prevailing among the poorer classes and also indicating the food to which the better classes are reduced, the correspondent reports a banquet at which "canned goods, beef, potatoes and tortillas" were served.

The dinner was given in honor o rancisco I. Madero, March 8. The comnunication is in the form of a diary, and on March 8, the correspondent wrote: There is enough coal to run the brew ry, electric lights and street railway two or three weeks "

OTTAWA, March 17 .- John S. Ewart. a letter to the Ottawa Citizen critices Earl Grey for his activity on behalf of the Overseas Club, a branch of which has been organized at Ottawa. After eulogizing Earl Grey, Mr. deplores the disagreeable task of finding fault, but says he will be well content if his action secures regard for Canada's freedom and the right to think for herself. The letter describes Earl Grey as a "perfervid imperialist," whose dearest wish is to see Canada unite politically and for war purposes with the Motherland. Canada is divided on the question of imperialism, Earl Grey's advoeacy of federation appealing to only a small minority.

Few concur in his view favoring money contributions to the Admiralty or agree with the idea of universal training. The letter points out that these are questions for the Canadian people to decide, and it is inconsistent with Earl Grey's position as the representative of the king to take a part in the discussion, or be the centre of a Mr. Campbell, explaining his position. bank direct
