WINTER OVERCOATS

THE satisfaction of each customer is the building material used to enlarge our business. So with each sale we set up the equivalent of a "Protectorate" over the product to make sure your expectations are filled to the letter. One of the most effective methods of Advertising is—"by word-of-mouth," passed on by satisfied customers. Our OVERCOATS are built on the above plan by some of the most reliable houses in Canada. Call and see them before purchasing your winter Overcoat.

lights and a serious accident was narrowly averted. And this is only one of several similar instances. For such "road-hogs" reasonable legislation, fortified by public opinion, should be enough to extrude them from the road. If not, some measure should be taken to teach them better manners.

A number of the friends of Miss Dorothy Ingram tendered her a surprise party on Friday evening. Among those present were:—Misses Gladys Wyers, Nora Rossborough, Penelope White, Ina Currie, Dorothy Mowat, Rae Fraser, Helen Lunan, Jean Harding, Trudie Titus, Elsie McDonald, Jessie Smith, Iva Gillis, Marion Alexander, Ruby Gorham, Sophie Metzler, Alma Wetmore, Mary McNichol; Messrs. John Fraser, Alex. McLeath, Fred Harding, Fred Thompson, Mr. King, Sydney Pringle, Alvin Metzler, Grant McBeath, Harold Branch (Bathurst), Harold Wilson, C. Landry (Bathurst), Wm. Farrar, Wm. McKenzie, Aubrey Murray, James McNichol, Fred Gorham, Robin White and James Smith.

Mrs. J. Wesley MacDonald held her post-nuptial reception on Friday afternoon last from four to six at her residence on O'Leary Street. The drawing room was tastefully decorated with greenery, grapevines, plants. The bride, when receiving her many callers, wore a beautiful gown of flame colored georgette heavily embroidered with iridescent beads. Mrs. J. B. Mowat presided over the tea cups and Mrs. H. A. Carr poured the coffee. Mrs. F. E. Blackhall ushered the guests to the dining room and assisting in serving were Mrs. Clifford MacDonald, Mrs. Hubert Henderson, Misses Greta Metzler and Nan Wetmore. Miss Nita MacDonald replenished and little Miss Charlotte Stewart attended the door.

"ROAD HOGS" AND MANNERS. So much has been said through the editorial columns of newspapers about the folly, damaging results, etc. of reckless or excessively speedy driving that it would be almost cruel to inflict another essay of that nature upon the reading public. But—there is something akin to this predominant nuisance that has never been discussed to any extent in local papers. And ist who persists in meeting other autos and vehicles with his headlight on full blast while travelling at a rate of speed anywhere from 15 to 30 miles an hour. And sometimes he takes one or more of your hub-caps with him. That is the "road-hogs" salute. By his manner you will know him.

Only a few nights ago a motorist who thought he was in a hurry passed another car not far from town at a high rate of speed seriously damaging the others hind fender and pushing the car into the ditch. Fortunately the driver of the car had perfect control of the wheel, although temporarily blinded by the glare of the other's
