ur system of Practice consis is in the most imved Medical Inhalations, combined with proper stitutional Treatment. Having devoted our e, energy and skill for the past fitteen years to treatment of the various diseases of the HEAD, THROAT AND LUNGS,
ring which time we have seccessfully treated r 30,000 cases), we are enabled to offer the cted the most perfect remedies and appliances
the immediate cure of all those troublesome ctions.

As we have seen in tracing the relation to Nasal Catarrh and throat diseases to consumption, there are times, perhaps days, or even whole weeks together, when the affection gives little or no annoy nnce, and the patient flatters himself that it has cutirely passed away, when a sudden cold or other cause of irritation occurs, and the progress of the disease is inaterially hastened. At this season of the year, not unfrequently, the disease becomes apparent, and admonishes the patient of the terrible future which must follow if the inflammation is not speedily allayed. Many there are who endeavor to convince themselves that the evil is not of any magnitude, and will soon pass away with the special cause of the irritation; but experience will prove to them the fearful error as it has to thousands who have preceded them to that "bourne from whence no traveller returns."

No one, therefore, who is afflicted with nasal catarth or throat affection is safe while it is suffered to exist. Often slight causes give rise to serious complications, for example: The Uvula, or pendulous organ which hangs down from the palatine arch just over the roots of the tongue, is very apt to get inflamed, and its parts becoming relaxed, it stretches out lengthwise, so that its extremities sometimes rest upon the tongue, touching it and causing an unmananageable cough.

The cause was trivial at first, and might have been quickly removed. How important it is, therefore, that before the patient enters upon any course of medication a careful examination be made by one competent to decade upon the nature and extent of the disease.

Inhalations are applicable to all diseases of the re-

the disease.

Inhalations are applicable to all diseases of the respiratory organs, including catarrh, throat diseases, asthma, bronchitis, consumption; and thousands of cases can be cured by this mode of treatment when nothing else can reach them.

THE OBSTRUCTIONISTS AT WORK IN THE IMPERIAL PARLIAMENT. elaying the Second Reading of the Arrears Bill -Three Motions to Adjourn

As the cable almost daily announces, Mr. Gladstone will meet with much opposition n the way of amendments and riders in the progress of the arrears and repression bills brough the house of commons. Yesterday the premier made an ineffectual attempt to ass the second reading of the former bill n the face of three motions to adjourn. The house of lords adjourned until June 1. An unimportant arrest was made at Philadelphia yesterday. Davitt is in Dublin,

Mr. Mulholland [conservative] strongly opposed either a loan or a gift.

The same day the secretary of state instructed Minister Lowell to send a report by cable of the names of the remaining prisoners and all facts and information respecting them which had not yet been communicated to the department, and which in his judgement would be necessary for a complete understanding of their cases. On April 13. Minister Lowell answered. promising the desired information as soon as it could be obtained. On April 19 were understood to be Americans. on are excluded from the benefits of the land act by being in arrears. This must be remedied. He admitted the proposal was extraordinary, but so was the state of Ireland.

Sclator Booth [conservative] moved an amendment, declaring that it is inexpedient to charge the consolidated fund with any payment for arrears except in the form of a loan. He described the government's plan as communistic and demoralizing. It was an evil precedent and most objectionable. Scotch and English farmers suffered as much as Irish farmers.

Mr. Forster testified to the general lenithing the requisite to draw on the department of state for $200 per man for all such American citizens as might be released and need means of reaching nome. In the telegram of 21st Lowell said he would cause the suspects to be informed that each should receive £40 on release and promise to return. On April 22 the secretary of state cabled Lowell that he was right in his disclaimer of his authority to consent to the duties imposed upon the released prisoners. He was also told the authority to draw money was given in case of need in order that persons released might have the means of reaching home; that the government's money was given in case of need in order that persons released might have the means of reaching home; that the government's the duties imposed upon the released prisoners. On April 28, Lowell reported that the money offers had been withdrawn in all cases; that O'Mahoney was undecided and the other four would no lenger furnish an excuse for agitation. He believed many landlords would accept small compensation from the tenants
in order to get the government's grant.
He strongly favored the grant taking the
torm of a gift.

Mr. Mulholland [conservative] strongly and the other four prisoners would not accept the release offered on condition of a return to the United States. In a letter to Frelinghuysen on May 3, Lowell reports the result of the interview he had with Foster on April 21. In that interview, Lowell assented that Foster should try the experiment of offering a release to all the so-called Amerion respects on condition of their going ican suspects on condition of their going back within a reasonable time to the coun-

Mr. Trevelyan said the bill would give tenants the great advantage of a fresh start, with a feeling of independence which probably neither they nor their predecessors ever before had knewn.

Baron DeWorms moved the adjournment of the debate.

Mr. Gladstone opposed the motion, and it was rejected, 290 to 190.

A second motion to adjourn the debate was rejected, and a third being made Mr. Gladstone said in view of the opposition it was hopeless to proceed. He would take the bill in the morning sitting on Tuesday instead of the repression bill.

IN THE HOUSE OF LORDS. under,",says Lowell, "is a matter very probable of conjecture. Meanwhile it is nearly certain that all suspects except those charged with the crime of violence will be very shortly set at liberty, thus rendering nugatory the most effective arguments in favor of disorder and resistance to law."

James and Hagner-The Assassin will Hang on June 30. WASHINGTON, May 22.—Justice James case. After reciting the crime for which the accused was tried, Judge James passed the district, it was deemed best to review has been raised in this case. The applica tion of this section was sustained after full and careful examination of its language and evident intent. Judge James reviewe authorities pertinent to the exception that the court of the district could not take the jurisdiction because the blow was struck in one county and death ensued in another By earlier authorities there was no con fusion, and it was held that an offence could be enquired into where the fatal blow was struck; that murder subsisted in a fatal blow, and consequently was committed where the fatal blow was struck. It was only when new trials were introduced that juries were no longer allowed to find verdicts upon their own knowledge, and under George IV. juries were summoned from courts where felony was committed. Confusion spread. Emigration from Russia is still progressing. The Jews are selling the whole of their property at any price and hurrying to the frontier. The mayor of Lemberg directed the relief committee there to disburse funds hitherto held back. The Jewish committee at Berlin have resolved that they will only help those whom the action of the Russian authorities or the destruction of their property obliges to emigrate. They are no longer able to assist voluntary emigrants.

was committed within the true meaning and intent of this statute. Upon this point the court were of opinion that if the fact of defendant achieved murder then the crime was clearly cognizable under the federal statute by the courts of this district. Summing up upon this question Judge James said : We hold therefore that the criminal court had jurisdiction to try, con-vict and sentence defendant, and we now come to the inquiry whether error was committed upon trial. After briefly discussing the alleged error in questions put to expert witnesses, Judge James said: We find no error in the admission of this testimony or ruling of the court. The last exception was the day fixed for execution, which in the opinion of the court did not constitute an answering the call to arms are brought to cairo in chains. The ministry of war demanded £25,000 from the treasury. It obmore fully than could well be done in the opinion just read and Justice Hagner had consented to discuss these questions in a > opinion that nothing is necessary to be added to the opinion of Judge James, still, as so much stress has been placed by the dence upon the law as it existed in Mary land when the federal statute was passed and upon the claim that under the law as and upon the claim that under the law as it then existed this crime could not have been tried and punished here, I have deemed it of consequence to show just what that law was. He then reviewed the Maryland law and held that under the Maryland act of 1785 that indictnent would have been good in this district. "It appears passing strange," said, Judge Hagner, "that the law should appear to be at variance with common sense. Sup-pose it happened that the boundary line ran and the house where he died, it would have been most repugnant to common sense to have raised the issue that his murderer could not have been tried because the crim could not have been tried because the crime was not complete in either jurisdiction?"
