

CENTRAL RELIEF BUREAU TO BE UNDER CONTROL OF THE COUNCIL, ALDERMEN DECIDE

Committee Will Meet Representatives of Other Relief Organizations for City To-Night On Issue.

What Chairman Douglass intimated was taken by the public as a move to relieve Relief Inspector McCallum of his duties in the city hall was blocked, temporarily at least, by No. 1 committee last night when it refused to agree to the establishing of a central relief bureau under the control of the Social Service Council. But it was decided that such a central bureau is a necessity and that it should be under the City Council. The committee will meet with the representatives of the other relief organizations of the city to-night to make arrangements for the co-ordination of all relief work, such arrangements to be satisfactory to the relief organizations and subject to the approval of the City Council. This was decided on motion of Mayor Wenlock after prolonged discussion.

A delegation, consisting of Mrs. Alex. Calder, who suggested the relief organizations are hitching their auto to a star, but they want the Council to supply the gas, Mrs. J. J. Goodman, Mrs. B. J. Dunlevy, Miss F. Wydenbaum and Mrs. J. J. Ross representing the relief organizations, waited on the committee to urge that speedy action be taken on the centralization of relief.

It was suggested the opening of a relief store where the poor could get service any time during the day or evening.

NO CENTRAL FUND.

Opening the discussion after the deputations had left, Ald. Smith asked where the funds were to come from for the use of the central relief bureau.

"There is no intention of placing the funds in a common pot," Mayor Wenlock insisted. "Each organization will handle its own money and the clearing house will be used to prevent any overlapping of relief work."

"Are those represented at the meeting the other night genuine relief organizations or not?" Ald. Smith queried.

"If you had been there and seen the ladies you would have known they are genuine in their efforts to relieve the poor," the mayor replied. "But the city's funds will be taken care of and will be given out on order of the mayor any chairman as at present."

"This would necessitate an amendment to the relief by-law and the appointment of one man to handle relief alone," Chairman Douglass suggested.

"All relief work should be centered in the city hall under the relief department," Ald. Smith insisted.

"You can't get the members of the other relief organizations to work with the present city relief officer," the mayor objected.

"The individual employed is not under consideration, but it is the system," the chairman cautioned.

NO NEW OFFICE.

Ald. Walsh questioned if it would be necessary to create a new office. He advised that such would not be needed, but a new appointment might be made.

"There will be no cost to the city for the new appointment," the mayor assured.

"Should we not take up the question of the appointment before we deal with anything else?" Ald. McKay suggested.

"The other relief organizations will make the appointment, all we have to do is provide the money," Ald. Smith interjected.

"What are the complaints against the relief officer? Why are they not placed in writing?" Ald. Drake wanted to know.

"There are always people who make a lot of charges verbally who will not commit them to writing," Ald. Smith explained.

"There will be no hesitation if the charges are wanted in writing," the mayor promised.

"The situation is just this," Chairman Douglass submitted. "The Social Service Council has asked us to allow their secretary or some other person, who must remain a nonentity for the present, to open a central relief bureau. New conditions are not the result of the city's work. Twenty years ago the relief department was created and a relief officer was appointed to look after all relief work in the city. Since that time there have been various changes in the relief work, but the relief officer has been a constant factor in the relief work."

"The city is just 20 years behind the times in its relief work," the mayor asserted.

"A good, capable woman could be of great assistance to our relief officer," Ald. Smith proposed.

"It is not true that a by-law calls for every case to be investigated before relief is given," Ald. Anderson asked.

"The mayor admitted it was," Ald. Anderson further inquired.

own relief officer?" Ald. Anderson submitted.

"Because the other organizations will not work with our officer," the mayor explained.

"The individual has not been at fault," the chairman insisted. "We can amend the by-law and instruct whoever is head of our department and he will carry out our wishes in the discharging of relief."

"The other organizations spend $20,000 a year, while the city does out a measly $1,000," the mayor argued.

"The should not, the other organizations have something to say in this matter," the chairman insisted.

Chairman Douglass suggested that as charges had been made against him, Mr. McCallum should be heard. The mayor objected, but he was overruled by the committee.

Mr. McCallum explained that he had always proceeded to get an immediate report on any relief case coming before him.

Ald. Douglass suggested that a capable assistant be engaged for Mr. McCallum and that a further conference be held with the other relief organizations to arrange a central relief bureau satisfactory to all concerned.

Ald. Smith moved to this effect, but the mayor's motion that the committee attend the general meeting of relief organizations to-night was adopted.

$5.00 REWARD TO FIVEPIN BOWLERS.

We will give $5.00 cash to any two fivepin bowlers in the city that can beat the present holders of the John A. Nash trophy, Mr. Whitehead and Martin Smith, who are the team and the cup is valued at $100, and of course, was supplied by John A. Nash Jeweller, where you will eventually buy."

WARNS AGAINST CLASS STRIFE

Canada Menaced By This, Says Dean Carlisle, of Montreal

ADDRESSES "U" SOCIETY

Declares Chinese Must Join Concert of Nations in Christian Spirit

"Canada is seriously menaced by the efforts of some who are seeking to disrupt this Dominion by ranging class against class, section against section, and province against province," declared Very Rev. Dean Carlisle, D. D., of Christ Church Cathedral, Montreal, in an address delivered at a meeting of the U. W. O. Literary Society at Huron College last night.

The dean, one of the most distinguished graduates of the old Western University and Huron College, and former archdeacon of this diocese and rector of All Saints, Windsor, also envisioned many dangers which threaten civilization and called upon the young men and women present — representing the various classes — to prepare now the proper steps towards prevention.

Unless the unenlightened Chinese are brought into the concert of nations, inspired by Christian mercy, the speaker declared that the grandchildren of the present generation of young men and women would go through a hell of inhuman vices and the pitiless hordes of Mongolia sweeping across Europe and this continent.

Almond equally to be feared, Dr. Carlisle pointed out, was a union of the Mohammedan world, which the world's greatest statesmen considered a possibility by no means remote.

MUST ABOLISH WAR.

"War must be abolished," Dean Carlisle appealed. "Statesmen say a way may be found; science says a way may be found; and financiers declare that unless a way is found the next war will destroy the whole fabric of civilization. And if war may, must not should be found on the authorities stated, then it is your duty in particular, ladies and gentlemen of the University of Western Ontario, to say that a way shall be found."

Asserting the world is beleaguered and national leaders haunted by abysmal dangers, the dean declared that Canadian unity itself was seriously menaced.

"Let the wrath of God rest upon those men or that man — be he bishop or politician, great or small — who seeks to breed hostility and raise barriers between class and class in this Dominion, or between province and province."

God meant men to live together and in a spirit of unity, which is the spirit of the brotherhood of love."

At this point the speaker said: "I am about to make a statement which new and old people will find hard to hear, but I urge upon all of you to stand steadfastly by your religion."

"It matters nothing to me what your religion is except that you stand by it. The world needs religious men and women more than ever before."

"But not people who are religious for what they get out of it in advertisement for commercial or social benefit. You and I have nothing but contempt for that sort of man."

"Now I may be a heretic, but this is my religion. I feel that a man is to be despised who is religious for what he expects to get out of it after he is dead."

"We should be religious not for what we may gain, but for what we may lose hereafter, but for the fact that personal religion makes you happy in making others happy also."

The speaker did not lay stress entirely upon the dangers that menace civilization without pointing out some of the hopeful signs of the day.

"We are looking forward," he declared. "Some of you may remember the future created by higher criticism of the Bible and the pain it gave the ultra-conservatives. One of the leading questions in those days was concerning the destruction of Sodom, as recorded in Genesis, and whether Lot's wife was actually or could be turned to a pillar of salt."

"To-day you never hear such questions. The world understands now that whether Lot's wife was turned to a pillar of salt or not, the important thing is to accept the spiritual lesson taught."

YOUNG DAUGHTER MADE WELL

Mother Tells How Her Daughter Suffered and Was Made Well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Vancouver, B. C.—"My daughter is a young girl who has been having severe pains and weak and dizzy feelings for some time and had lost her appetite. Through an older daughter who had heard of a woman who was taking it for the same trouble, we were told of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. My daughter has been taking it for several months and is quite the right now. It has done all it was represented to do and we have told a number of friends about it. I am never without a bottle of it in the house, for I myself take it for that weak, tired, worn-out feeling which sometimes comes to us all. find it is building me up and I strongly recommend it to women who are suffering as I and my daughter have."

Mrs. J. McDonald, 2847 28th Ave. East, Vancouver, B. C.

From the age of twelve a girl needs all the care a thoughtful mother can give. Many a woman has suffered years of pain and misery—the victim of thoughtlessness or ignorance of the mother who should have guided her during this time.

If she complains of headaches, pains in the back and lower limbs, or if you notice a slowness of thought, nervousness or irritability on the part of your daughter, make life easier for her.
