AERIAL WAR CRAFT.

Germany Leads the Nations With a Fleet of Fourteen.

From a return just issued it appears that there were at the beginning of 1911 forty airships in existence belonging to the nations of the world and intended for use in warfare.

Germany comes first with fourteen aerial battleships and cruisers as against France's twelve. Britain possesses six, and of the remaining eight Italy and Austria own two each, while one apiece is possessed by Russia, Belgium, Spain and the United States.

These figures include airships completed ready for delivery, but not yet handed over, as, for example, the huge semirigid Morning Post, England's biggest dirigible. She holds when fully inflated 350,000 cubic feet of gas as against the 245,000 feet contained inside the envelope of Clement-Bayard II., England's next largest.

Even these monsters, however, are quite small by comparison with some of the latest German aerial Dreadnoughts. For example, Zeppelin III. and Zeppelin IV. have a gas capacity of 525,000 feet and 665,000 feet respectively. To Germany also belongs the distinction of owning the biggest airship in the world, the Schutte, which is of 682,500 feet capacity and is driven by four motors, each of 125 horsepower.

The United States has achieved a record in the other direction by building the smallest aerial cruiser now in existence. This is the Baldwin, which has a capacity of 20,000 feet only.

This is 4,000 less than the little Wilbrows, which created such a sensation last August by appearing unexpectedly over London, having flown from Cardiff during the night.—Pearson's Weekly.

THEIR BOOTS COME OFF.

Peculiar Effect When Men Fall From a Great Height.

Stories they tell in the copper mining region of northern Michigan corroborate what the Literary Digest says of a singular phenomenon: "The strange case we recently noted of a man who fell 400 feet from a Dover cliff and had his boots off when picked up moves W. S. Doolittle of the Sterling Salt company, Moscow, N. Y., to cite instances of similar falls in which the feet were also found to be uncovered. He does not accept the conclusion that the man who fell must have retained sufficient consciousness to pull off his boots. Mr. Doolittle writes: "Some time after the completion of a shaft 1,200 feet deep, during the act of putting down a cable to the mine level, a workman fell from a point about 700 feet from the bottom of the shaft and landed in the sump, or a point a few feet below the mine level. "When his body was picked up and brought to the surface it was found that his boots were off, and these were later picked up and brought to the surface also. In talking this matter over with the engineer in charge he said that several such cases had been brought to his notice. "Just why the boots come off the feet is beyond my comprehension, but in this case, which came under my personal notice, it was a fact, and my friend the engineer stated it as usually being the case."

The female house fly lays from 120 to 150 eggs at a time, and these mature in two weeks. Under favorable conditions the descendants of a single pair will number millions in three months. Therefore all housekeepers should commence using early in the season, and thus cut off a large proportion of the summer crop.

A Smile or Two.

"Are you a friend of the groom's family?" asked the usher at the church wedding. "I think not," replied the lady addressed; "I'm the mother of the bride."

Mike, having been sent by his master to deliver a hare in a hamper, set out on a long journey. Feeling tired and inquisitive, he sat down and opened the hamper to see the hare. In an instant the hare was running down the road. Mike was very upset at this, but suddenly he shouted after it: "It's no good; you don't know where to go. I've the hare on this 'ere hamper."

There was a man once on a time who thought him wondrous wise. He swore by all the fabled gods he'd never advertise; But the goods were advertised ere long, and thereby hangs a tale.—The ad. was set in nonpareil, and headed "Sheriff's Sale."

At a French inn a guest was greatly disturbed one night by a series of incessant jumps and bumpings that appeared to proceed from the room directly overhead. In the morning he complained to the hotel manager, and asked to have the mystery cleared up. A little later the manager brought a foreign-looking individual, and introduced him to the gentleman. "This is Baron von Kotchem Sioschen," explained the manager, "who occupies the room above yours. Perhaps you can tell us, sir, what was that noise that this gentleman complains of?" "Vhy," said the baron, indignantly, "it was the doctor's instructions. He leaf me a bottle of medicine, which say, 'Take the mixture two nights running, then skip the third night.' And so I do it. I had run the first two nights, and last night I skip!"

An elderly gentleman of rural appearance had hardly seated himself in the crosstown street car when a young lady who had followed him in approached him.

"Sir, did you lose a five-dollar bill?" she asked.

For a moment the farmer observed her with a surprised, curious look, then he said, convincingly, "Yes, ma'am, I did."

"Then here it is," said she, handing the bill to him, "I picked it up behind the car floor."

"Thank ye very much, young lady, for your honesty. This is a most remarkable happening!"

"O, I don't think so, sir. I believe everyone should return the money in such a case as this. What is there so remarkable about it?"

"Why, I lost my five-dollar bill two years ago!"—Judge.

Grammar in Rhyme.

Three little words you often see Are articles, a, an and the. A noun's the name of anything, As school or garden, hoop or swing. Adjectives show the kind of noun, As great, small, pretty, white, or brown. Instead of nouns, the pronouns stand: Her head, his face, your arm, my hand. Verbs tell of something to be done: To read, count, laugh, sing, jump or run. How things are done, the adverbs tell, As slowly, quickly, ill or well. Conjunctions join the words together, As men and women, wind or weather. The preposition stands before A noun, as in, or through the door. The interjection shows surprise, As oh! how pretty! ah! how wise! The whole are called nine parts of speech, Which reading, writing, speaking teach.

Is there anything more annoying than having your corn stepped upon? Is there anything more delightful than getting rid of it? Holloway's Corn Cure will do it. Try it and be convinced. Cigarette smoking, like bridge, is fast becoming a vice in London, and one sees young women of good social position smoking publicly at the Ritz, the Carlton, Claridge's and other hotels. Many American women who would not dare be seen smoking at home smoke in European hotels and restaurants. But there are still in England a large percentage of society women who frown upon this custom and who will not tolerate it in their houses.

A GOOD NAME IS TO BE PRIZED.—There have been imitations of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil which may have been injurious to its good name, but it so, the injury has only been temporary. Goodness must always come to the front and throw into the shadow that which is worthless. So it has been with Electric Oil: no imitation can maintain itself against the genuine article.

There is no other country in the world where there are so many toy shops as Japan. In all the towns and in most of the villages there is a children's bazaar, and the neighborhood of the principal temples is crowded with stalls containing things to amuse children. At the great religious festivals, even the poorest are to be met with their arms full of toys to take home to the children; and the number of men and women who earn a livelihood by itinerant street shows gotten up solely to amuse the children, can be counted by hundreds. These entertainments include theatricals, where brave deeds are performed by heroic warriors, story-tellers, song-singers, and even conjurers.
