WOMAN EXILE FAILS TO ESCAPE FROM SIBERIA.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 9.—A second attempt to escape from exile in Siberia was made early this morning by Mme. Catherine Breshkovskaya, "mother of the Russian Revolution," whose case at the time of her condemnation in March, 1910, aroused such a wide-spread interest in Europe and America.

Should Lawrencetown Have the Electric Light?

Principal B. S. Ban's of the Lawrencetown Schools, has introduced a splendid idea into his school, in having the scholars debate each week on some subject of local interest. We print herewith two opinions on the subject "Should Lawrencetown Have the Electric Light?"
Lawrencetown should have electric lights for several reasons.
First. Any town that wants to grow prosperous should be attractive, and nothing is more attractive than a clean, well lighted street.
Second. Many accidents are avoided, for instance, on a dark night in winter when the roads are slippery people sometimes slip and a broken limb is the result. Another instance is, when one of the occupants is carrying a lamp, it is oftentimes dropped and the house is burned, where with the electric lights few accidents happen.
Instead of the housekeepers standing and cleaning lamps, she can sit down and rest or mend some rents that are always to be found in some of the children's clothes.
Electric lights cost more, but what is the cost compared with the convenience and pleasure of the lights.
They also have a good impression on home seekers. Well lighted town would offer more openings for industries than one that was not lighted. If a small town like Lawrencetown can have electric lights her citizens must be a progressive and prosperous people.
The next thing in order should be, a modern school house and ample grounds for recreation and school gardens, instead of our very ancient and inconvenient buildings. Our school yard at present is too small and too much under water.
GRADE IX, 16 yrs.

I would like to know why Lawrencetown should have electric lights. I think it is too big a thing for a little town like Lawrencetown. It will increase the taxes a lot more, which are heavy enough now, and the people will begin to move out because of the taxes.
The cost of building the plant, wiring the houses and poles and street lights will be about $5,000 and when anybody sees Lawrencetown in debt as much as that, it is not very likely they would come to live here.
Just think of the nuisance of getting up cold mornings and hunting around for the electric light bulb, and perhaps knocking your head against it, and after you found it you could not turn it on, because there was something wrong with the engine, you would not like it very well. While it is an ordinary kerosene lamp where you could find it and matches in their place, it would be more convenient I think.
Then when you have to pay $12.00 per year for five lights, and a lot of repairs, I should think you would be glad to go back to the old way of using the common kerosene lamp, which is not so hard on the eyes.
The electric lights do not have to be cleaned and filled like the kerosene lamps, so the girls would have more time to walk around the streets and not care about helping in the house.
The people in Lawrencetown will have the town so in debt, pretty soon that their children will have to earn all they can to pay off the debt that their extravagant fathers made, and therefore lose a chance of getting an education.
As our school house is a very poor affair and our small school yard has under water, I should think if the people would use the money that I mentioned before in buying some more land for a good place to play baseball and tennis, tear down the old school house and build a new one it would be of more credit to the town and vicinity than wasting their money on electric lights.
Prof. Blair, of the Experimental Farm in Kentville, said when he was down to the school exhibition, that if we would send him the plan of the school ground, he would tell us where to plant some shrubs and things, but I think he had better recommend a special breed of ducks to put in our duck pond.

DONALD B. MESSENGER.

The Hindu controversy in British Columbia has entered on a new phase. Chief Justice Hunter has given a sweeping decision condemning as illegal all the Federal orders in Council which have hitherto kept Hindus out of British Columbia. The only grounds on which a Hindu may now be excluded are those of idiosyncrasy, disease, crime or mendacity, merely grounds which apply against Indian born citizens entering Canadian eastern ports. The decision was given specifically in favor of a priest named Bhagwan Singh. Several days ago Chief Justice gave an oral judgment giving Bhagwan Singh his freedom on his proceedings. On Saturday Chief Justice Hunter added a written judgment, which went further than his brief court pronouncement. As to the other order in Council referring to natives or citizens coming by a continuance journey from India and which had been previously declared ultra vires by Mr. Justice Morrison in the case in re Babbin, the learned Chief Justice concurs, as the order in Council refers to "natives or citizens" whereas the statute merely says "a native or naturalized citizen." His Lordship says he assumed the Legislature had some manifest intention when it amended the act in 1908 to insert the word "naturalized" to give it larger classification. He holds that the word "natives" is to be used as an adjective qualifying the word "citizen." The Hindu question is assuming grave proportions in South Africa, and this decision, opening the door to Hindu immigration in British Columbia, will increase the difficulties of the Imperial Government and leave unaltered the troubles of self-governing Dominions.

AN INTERESTING decision and one which will have considerable effect on the liquor business was handed down by the full bench in Halifax last week. The action was Laurence A. Wilton of Montreal against the Mayflower Bottling Company of Sydney for $1,300 odd claimed by the plaintiffs for liquor sold to the Mayflower people.
The local firm pleaded that the goods were sold to them contrary to the provisions of the Nova Scotia Temperance Act, which was, to the plaintiffs' knowledge, then in force.
The case was tried at the last term of the supreme court civil sittings, in Sydney and His Honor Judge Longley decided in favor of the defendants dismissing the action on the grounds set forth in the defence.
The decision at Halifax confirms the first finding by a dismissal of the court dividing two for and two against. The action will probably be taken to the supreme court of Canada.

INDIAN POPULATION INCREASES.

The Indian population of Canada shows a decided increase this year over 1912. There is a notable lack of acute contagious diseases. These are two of the most important statements made in the annual report of the Department of Indian Affairs, which was issued recently. The Indian population in 1912 was 104,956, this year it is 106,490. But there is a decrease noted in the number of Eskimo inhabitants from 4,600 to 3,447.
The provinces which have gained in Indian population are: Alberta, from 24,781 to 25,172; Manitoba, from 10,573 to 10,822; Nova Scotia, from 1,969 to 2,018; New Brunswick, from 1,903 to 1,920; Quebec, from 12,817 to 12,843; Saskatchewan, from 9,545 to 9,699; Northwest Territory, from 5,262 to 8,090.
Decreases are recorded in Prince Edward Island, 300 to 292; Ontario, 26,393 to 26,077, and the Yukon, 3,500 to 1,389.
Tuberculosis, says the report, continues to be the most formidable of all the maladies from which the Indian has to suffer. This is due to the inability of the aborigines to comprehend and put into effect the primary laws of sanitation. However, the Indian is being educated to the importance of avoiding overcrowding in houses, and it is hoped that this will decrease the number of cases of consumption. Officers find that cleanliness is more often observed than formerly.

NOVA SCOTIA TEMPERANCE ACT WINS.

An interesting decision and one which will have considerable effect on the liquor business was handed down by the full bench in Halifax last week. The action was Laurence A. THE CAUSE OF RHEUMATISM

It is frequently supposed that rheumatism is brought on by cold and damp effects on the surface of the body, but this theory is wrong. Cold and damp only excites the disease that is settled in the blood. Rheumatism is a blood disease and Ebumo is guaranteed to remove the cause and enrich the blood so that uric acid cannot exist. Rheumo is a wonderful rheumatic cure. If you have rheumatism in any form, don't delay in going to W. A. Warren's drug store and get a bottle of Rheumo today. $1.00 a large bottle. Be sure to go to W. A. Warren's. Other stores cannot supply you.

PROF. LAFOUNTAIN DISCOVERS SECRET RAILWAY MAIL CLERKS MUST BE STRICTLY TEMPERATE.

Good news for those who suffer with scaly, itchy scalp full of dandruff and disease and whose hair hinders them from appearing clean and healthy and well kept. Men and women may now have beautiful hair and lots of it. You with falling hair whose shoulders always bespeak a diseased scalp; you whose hair is turning gray and is thin and lifeless and ragged; you who have no pleasure in knowing the grandeur of a clean, healthy scalp and glorious hair can now be as proud of your hair as any man or woman with luxuriant hair, and opportunity is right at your door. Professor Lafountain has found the real secret of glorious hair and we have spent thousands of dollars to give you this chance. We have appointed a reliable druggist in your town to handle this wonderful discovery and to guarantee that it is genuine in the large shaker top bottle so as to be applied properly, and it is only 50c. for this treatment so that no one on earth can afford to be without it. Try SAGINE at our risk. If it does not repay you it won't cost you a cent. SAGINE is for beautifying hair and preserving and a dressing for the hair as well as a scalp tonic and hair grower and dandruff cure. W. A. Warren is sole agent in Bridgetown.

From the Postmaster General, Ottawa, a circular has been sent to the railway mail clerks over the Dominion about as follows:-
"Railway mail clerks have already been notified that they should not take liquor. The postmaster general has been informed in a general way that in many cases this notice has been disregarded, and whilst he has no desire to take any one unaware, he has given instructions that a general warning be issued to all railway mail clerks that the moment it is credibly reported to him that any Railway mail clerk uses liquor he may as well send in his resignation, because he will be dismissed and no amount of influence will bring about his re-instatement."
"Railway mail clerks must understand that on account of the heavy responsibility which rests on them and also that so much money is entrusted to their care in registered letters and otherwise, it is absolutely indispensable that liquor should be discarded entirely."
"Railway mail clerks must also understand that under no circumstances shall any liquor be carried on a post-car, and that no person other than those on duty, as mentioned in the printed instructions to railway mail clerks, shall be permitted to have access to a postal car, and that any violation of these rules will lead to instant dismissal.—Truro News.
