xcuses, and of a young ty; for this street where $s$ church and e a spirit of ch is a sure decorum and gs, and that ich his dignirovement on, ge acquisition eretofore senrom sergeant's rs who attend ees, would be committees of discharge the In the admiss collection of sastrous to the mended, and if e admitted: by e may exclude $y$ of man is far 1 whose casket ith mud, which, cious jewel. So oval of intoxicaful members of see the relative he individual to vice may remove all others which followed in its train. It is only by such efforts that we can look forward to the consummation of our brightest hopes : the dissolution of all orders and societies of temperance in consequence of the liquor traffic having become so disreputable and its customers so few, that it will not pay the few despicable characters engaged in it. Then shall 'the wilderness and tho solitary place be glad, and the desert shall rejoice and blossom as the rose.'"

