

do know that very interesting and instructive tables are on the black-board, and numerous maps, etc., hang on the walls of the class-room of history at the College. Further, that the teaching in that department has been definite and successful—with some students, at any rate—is illustrated by the fact that, after Dr. Schurman obtained the Gilchrist Scholarship, he wrote to Prof. Tufts, under whom at Acadia he had studied, that his history had put him through the examinations.
