are never imilated or counterfeited. This is especially true of a family medicine, and it is positive proof that the remedy imitated is of the highest value. As soon as it had been tested and proved by the whole world that Hop Bitters was the purest, best and most valuable family medicine on earth, many imitations sprung up and began to steal the notices in which the press and people of the to and from the St. Lawrence for the benefit country had expressed the merits of H. B., of citizens of this Dominion; that this Board and in every way trying to induce suffering invalids to use their stuff instead, expecting to make money on the credit and good name of H. B. Many others started nostrums put up in similar style to H. B., with variously devised names in which the word "Hop" or "Hope" were used in a way to induce people to believe they were the same as Hop Bitters. All such pretended remedies or cures, so matter what their style or name is, and especislly those with the word "Hop" or "Hope" in their name or in any way connected with tericits. Bewere of them. #### PARNELL WELL SATISFIED

IRELAND GAINS RENEWED STRENGTH AND HOPE FROM AMERICA.

To Redress Expected from the Present Parliament—"We are Foreigners— in It."

Lordon, May 1.—There is no disguising the fact that the character and declarations of the Philadelphia Convention have produced a profound impression in Great Britain. The discipline, the self-control, the intense earnestness and unanimity of that representative body are neither ignored nor ridiculed, although some of the London papers affect to prefend, that the spectacle is nothing more than a familiar recurring ebullition of Irish American unreasonableness. Some of the editorial comments on the reso lutions adopted are extremely caustic, but confidence is expressed that English states-manship will be found amply capable of meeting and disarming every form of "treas-onable complracy hatched at home or abroad."

Mr. Parnell was interviewed to-day by s correspondent, who is also a personal friend, as to the possible results of the Philadelphia convention and its effect on the condition of Ireland. He spoke reluctantly and cautions. ly, and would probably have preferred to say nothing at all. He expressed a positive regret at having been unable to go to America, and tacitly admitted that prudential ressons had much to do with preventing him from sailing on April 9, as he had intended, although the sudden change in the character of the parliamentary work at that time, and the fact that the Irish whip would resign, were quite sufficient reasons for abandoning the American trip. The prudential reasons grew out of the Explosives bill, as already stated in these despatches, and

He said that it was as yet too early for him or any one to criticise the proceedings in Philadelphia or the results of the convention, as the latter had been but imperfectly reported by cable in the English press. He had no hesitation in saying that he was greatly pleased at the fact that so large a body of Irishmen, so great a number of men who had su!fered themselves or represented others who had suffered long under every possible provocation which could excite the feelings of patriotism, should have easily conducted the largest convention of the present age with moderation and good political sense.

Mr. Parnell at this point in the interview almost forgot his apparent determination to be reticent, and, before he checked himself, spoke with much warmth, as follows:

"We have nothing to expect from the present Parliament-absolutely nothing. It is resolutely set in advance against every proposal in Irish interest—even against such legislation as humanity demands. We seem to be alone in Parliament. We are alone. We are foreigners. The very principles which the Ministry not long ago urged Parliament to apply in legislation for Ireland, are at present set saide, as if the Irish people were by themselves a humanity the government of whom experience proves nothing, and for whom a new political philosophy must be dis-covered. And yet the Irish people practi-cally ask for nothing but the application to them upon their own soil of the principle that taxation and representation ought to go together. They believe that they know best what is good for themselves, and naturally feel, and will forever feel an unconquerable spirit of resistance to the form of Government that makes colonists of them in their native land. The cosire for selfgovernment among the Irish has never for one instant been quieted, and among them more than among any other people has been demonstrated to be absolutely uncon- Francisco has given great offence. duerable. For England to ignore this desire is political folly, to attempt to govern the Irish without concession to this desire, is political crime."

"Mr. Parnell," the correspondent asked. why do you state that you have nothing to hope for from this Parliament?"

Because," replied he, "there can be nothing hoped for from a body which at every vote rises with an overwhelming majority against every measure proposed for the Irish people except that of emigration."

"How do the majority seem to desire to apply that principle?"

"They seem to desire to apply it rigorous ly, both as a Parliamentary reply to every statement of Irish grievances and as a measure in practice by which to rid themselves of every lileh trouble."

QUEBEC, May 2. MONSIEUR-As the Star of the East led and guided the magi to our Redeemer's feet, so does the crucifix treated with your compound, in the darkness of my chamber, in the solemnity of the night, lead my soul-from earth to heaven, where in eternal glory reigns the Being whose emblem shines and overshadows my sleeping moments. Yours in X, BRO. JOACHIM.

From the New York Correspondence of the Dublin Freeman's Journal, February 16, 1881.

Through the courtesy of Mr. J. R. Maxwell & Co., proprietors of M. Cerqui's Chemical Compound, we were favored with a private view of one of the most wonderful discoveries of the century. I was led into a room, the curtains were drawn and every ray of light was excluded, and in the darkness, where first I saw only plain plaster figures, there stood out in clear, bright, awe-inspiring distinctness, first the figure of the Saviour suspended in space, as it were, then ow either side the figures of Mary and Joseph, while dooming up in the foreground was the figure of an angel bearing a crown that seemed to rain light. If ever-a feeling of faith and veneration possessed a Catholic, it then overwhelmed the writer, the scene was so novel and reverential. Upon leaving we were presented with a cross; it is kept on a bracket in our chamber, and in the darkness of night inseems to say, sleep safe, His cross watches and guards you.

We also have the honor to refer to the following Clergymen and Sisters:

Rev. Thos. Kierns, Lehigh, Avenue, Philadelphia, Pa.; Rev. J. Slattery, Susquehanna, Pa.; Rev. J. Murphy, Blossburg, P2.; Kev. M. Voigt, Franciscan College, Reardon, Easton, Pa.; Convent of Good Shepherd, Baltimore, Md.

$1.00 EACH!

If you possessed a Cross or any religious object treated with this compound, you will readily see how much satisfaction and with what a reverential feeling such an object would be viewed at night, when darkness and silence reign supreme, then like protecting figures, insignias of our faith, beautifully bright, uninfluenced by the surrounding gloom, they are an inspiration for the last thought or word before sleep overcomes us.

We are now manufacturing such Crosses, and a number of different Statuettes, Crucifixes, and the usual Church Ornaments, and treating them with this wonderful compound. We also desire to inform you that we are prepared to treat, at a nominal cost, any articles of a like nature you may wish to have rendered as distinct at night as they are during the day.

• For $1.00 we will send you a Cross, including pedestal, possessing this desirable quality, confident that after once witnessing the feeling it inspires, looming up like a torch of faith in the blackness of night, you will of he more, and urge upon your friends the satisfaction the possession of one gives in the silent hours es the night.

81.00 each fc: Crosses. 82.00 for Cruelfixes, 9-inch figure. 83.00 " " 17 "

Crosses $9,00 per dozen, or $5.00 per half dozen.
