

TOWARDS A RAPID REACTION CAPABILITY FOR THE UNITED NATIONS

Table of Contents

Foreword by the Minister of Foreign Affairs and the Minister of National Defence

Glossary of Acronyms

Executive Summary

| | |
|--|----|
| I Why Rapid Reaction? | 1 |
| The UN at 50..... | 2 |
| Post-Cold War Peace Operations | 2 |
| International Peace and Security..... | 3 |
| The Humanitarian Imperative | 4 |
| Cost-Effectiveness..... | 5 |
| The Need for Rapid Reaction..... | 6 |
| II Principles of the Study | 8 |
| Towards a Rapid-Reaction Capability for the UN..... | 8 |
| Orientation of the Canadian Study | 9 |
| Principles of Rapid Reaction..... | 11 |
| The Four Levels of Rapid Reaction..... | 12 |
| The Idea of Rapid Reaction..... | 13 |
| Organization of the Study..... | 15 |
| III The Record of Rapid Reaction: Recent Experience | 17 |
| The Concept of Rapid Reaction | 17 |
| France..... | 18 |
| The United States of America | 19 |
| The NATO Model | 20 |
| An Assessment..... | 21 |
| The Elements of Rapid Reaction Considered..... | 23 |
| IV Elements of Rapid Reaction: How the UN Shapes Up | 25 |
| From "Steady-State" to Rapid Reaction | 25 |
| Early Warning | 26 |
| The Decision-Making Process | 28 |
| Transportation and Infrastructure..... | 30 |
| Logistical Support | 30 |
| Financial Arrangements..... | 32 |
| The Availability of Well-Trained Personnel..... | 33 |
| The Special Requirements of Rapid Reaction | 35 |