

November
Seventeenth
1926.

Colonel Frank P. Day,
Strath Haven Inn,
Swarthmore, Pa.

My dear Colonel:

I am sorry that I have not before this acknowledged receipt of your letter of October 15th and your kindness in sending me the Forum.

I read your war story "The Iroquois" with very much pleasure indeed, and I am today sending the magazine on to Mrs. Fortier, formerly Mrs. O'Donohue. I have also ordered the novel "Rivers of Strangers" and shall look forward to reading it with much interest.

I was down at St. John, N.B., on Armistice Day and had the great pleasure of speaking to some three or four hundred officers who had gathered there from all parts of the Maritimes. There were a great many of the old 25th and 26th there and we spent a very enjoyable evening together.

I shall always be very glad to hear from you and I hope of your continued success.

Ever yours faithfully,