

alent leaves Quebec the day the timber arrives. A delay of a year or so often confronts the man who saws his lumber and allows it to season. He has also to run the risk of seeing his logs hung up for a considerable period if the weather conditions are not favorable.

The St. Anthony Lumber Company, operating at Whitney, on the Western or Parry Sound division of the Canada Atlantic Railway, is building a branch railroad 15 miles in length. It will run from Opeongo to Whitney and will be used for the purpose of conveying logs from the company's limits to the mill. The Canada Atlantic Railway Company is building 25 flat cars at its car shops in Ottawa for use on the new road. This is the second distinctive lumber road on the western division, Mr. J. R. Booth having one extending from Madawaska to his limits. He is thus able to convey logs during the winter season and the St. Anthony Lumber Company will likely follow suit.

A few days ago 111 cribs of timber belonging to Munro & McCool, of Pembroke, and valued at $150,000, were seized at a small village on the St. Lawrence river near Quebec City. The seizure was made at the instance of four river men who claimed they were dismissed at Ottawa while a balance of $85 was due them. As the firm was anxious to rush the timber to Quebec the costs of the seizure and the back bill of wages were paid and the release of the lumber thus secured.
