ONE 'SOREHEAD' LESS IN CANADA. Little Misunderstanding by Which a Father and Ten Children Were Left Adrift at Midnight Straightened Out.

Here's a case to make you think: Daniel Sage of Redford, Nottinghamshire, arrived in Toronto late last night with his wife and 10 children, ranging from 15 years down to six weeks old. He worked nearly a year in Michigan about 30 years ago, but there was one of those little misunderstandings that seem bound to happen sometimes, as a result of which Mr. Sage and his interesting family were the centre of an excited group at King and Yonge streets about 11 o'clock last night.

Mr. Sage is well-to-do. He is on his way to Woodstock, where his sister lives. His train was delayed about six hours by the wreck of the Erie yesterday, and when he arrived here he missed the special that had been made up for western points. So he had to hustle around for some place to house that large family of his, someone at the Union Station directed him to the Women's Welcoming Hotel at 68 Wellesley street, telling him that he wouldn't have to pay any fare on the street car.

Consequently, when the conductor of a Yonge street car naturally and properly demanded fares, Mr. Sage refused to be "imposed" upon. Obeying his instructions, the conductor told him he would have to leave the car, with that big family.

Wild Reports Spread. Mr. Sage tried to explain, but his English is a trifle broad, and the argument was continued to Yonge and King streets, at which point quite a little group gathered, and wild reports of a madman being driven off the streets reached The World Office. The World investigated, found a real man who refused to be identified, but who had the "welcome" spirit strong in him, had offered to pay the fares for Mr. Sage; explained the whole business to a few citizens and left him soothed and in his right mind concerning it.

SIR WILFRID NOT SURE HE'LL SAIL FOR LONDON. R. L. Borden Proposes That House Adjourn for Six Weeks to Enable Premier to Attend Conference.

Ottawa, March 25.—(Special.)—There were dramatic moments in the house this afternoon. Sir Wilfrid Laurier's announcement that he might not attend the colonial conference; R. L. Borden's proposition to adjourn the house for six weeks on Wednesday next; Mr. Bourassa's trenchant charge that the premier's duty was to remain at home until he had redeemed the honor of parliament; Mr. Foster's humorous and audacious retort that if Mr. Bourassa got too gay (the word he used was "rusty") they (the government and opposition) might combine to squelch him, properly equated by R. L. Borden's indignant denial that any "saw-off" had been arranged, or was contemplated, following each upon the other in quick succession, and fairly flashed in the tense atmosphere of the chamber, electric with apprehensions of to-morrow.

BOURASSA SPEAKS TO-DAY. Told by George E. Foster That Both Sides Will Unite to Squelch Him—The Provincial Subsidies.

Ottawa, March 25.—(Special.)—There were dramatic moments in the house this afternoon. Sir Wilfrid Laurier's announcement that he might not attend the colonial conference; R. L. Borden's proposition to adjourn the house for six weeks on Wednesday next; Mr. Bourassa's trenchant charge that the premier's duty was to remain at home until he had redeemed the honor of parliament; Mr. Foster's humorous and audacious retort that if Mr. Bourassa got too gay (the word he used was "rusty") they (the government and opposition) might combine to squelch him, properly equated by R. L. Borden's indignant denial that any "saw-off" had been arranged, or was contemplated, following each upon the other in quick succession, and fairly flashed in the tense atmosphere of the chamber, electric with apprehensions of to-morrow.

BOURASSA'S MOTION. Hon. George E. Foster interpellated the member from Labelle, Mr. Bourassa, who had given notice of bringing up certain matters to-morrow affecting members of parliament, how did he intend to proceed?

MR. BOURASSA SAID THAT HE PROPOSED bringing up the matter referred to upon motion to go into supply. The first minister had stated that the report of the insurance commission had not changed respecting the member for North Toronto, Mr. Foster, which required the attention of this house. Mr. Bourassa could not agree to this. He would, however, offer an amendment to-morrow, upon going into supply, which would quote from the report of the commission and the comments of the press thereon. The amendment would refer to Messrs. Foster, Fowler, Bennett and Laforgue, and also to the statements made by Mr. Fowler respecting the connection of ministers and members with "women, wine and graft."

MR. FOSTER: You are taking a leap in the dark. Mr. Bourassa: Perhaps.

R. L. BORDEN'S prime ministerial motion may not go. Mr. Borden's motion was a foundation for the newspaper reports stating that he might not attend the colonial conference.

SIR WILFRID LAURIER feared that he might be unable to go. He desired to go, but owing to the slow progress of the business of the house, he was "contemplating the possibility of canceling the trip."

MR. BORDEN then moved the adjournment of the house so as to discuss this matter. It would be a great misfortune, he said, for Canada not to be represented at the conference. To obviate this possibility, the opposition would make almost any sacrifice or concession. He suggested that when the house adjourned Wednesday next it stand adjourned for six weeks.

NO SAW-OFF. Mr. Borden emphatically denied that there was any saw-off respecting the Fowler charges and other scandals. Any such charges were false and unwarranted. The house should not prosecute until these charges were disposed of. He feared that Sir Wilfrid Laurier did not wish to attend the conference and had always intended to send some minister in his place.

SIR WILFRID LAURIER presented this institution. He was anxious to do his duty, but his duty might be in Ottawa, instead of in London. He hoped to get away there. He believed that he could get away by the 15th if the opposition co-operated with him in hurrying up prorogation.

MR. FOSTER hoped that sufficient restraint might be put upon the floods of eloquence on both sides so as to enable the first minister to go on the 5th of April. He thought it important for Sir Wilfrid Laurier to be promptly on hand. No government bill embodying any question of policy remained undisposed of, except Mr. Oliver's Dominion Lands Act. It would do no harm if that bill was laid over.

MR. FOSTER then added significantly: I can assure the right hon. gentleman for my part and I think many
