SUM/UP MILLION DOLLAR ESTATE

Counsel Presents Final Arguments in Famous Legal Conflict.

LAUDS HON. J. S. DUFF

Justice Lennox, Presiding, Pays Tribute to Late Agriculture Minister.

The case will be resumed this morning, when I. F. Hellmuth. K.C., will open the arguments in the famous million dollar case of Taylor against Davies, commenced yesterday morning before Justice Lennox at Osgoode Hall. The testimony was taken nearly a year ago, but for one cause or another the arguments were postponed from time to time. His lordship said yesterday, he would like to attend the funeral of his old friend the late flow. J. S. Duff, but he did not feel justified in again adjourning this case which should have long ago been disposed of. He took occasion, however, to pay am eloquent attribute to the lete minister of agriculture. Mr. Duff was a man of ideals, his lordship observed, but not an idealist. He was a man of strong ambitions, of unflagging energy, and at the same time of a most kindiy disposition.

The case of Taylor against Davies has excited great local interest as all parties are well known, and the property involved is immensely valuable. Isabella Taylor brings the action as a creditor of the firm of Taylor Brothers which made an assignment in 1901. The firm owned 140 acres northeast of the city which included the Don Valley Brick. Works. This property, even at that, time, the plaintiff claims, was worth at least $500,000, but it was sold by E. R. C. Clarkson, the assignme, to the late Robert Davies for $45,000. Davies was the brother-in-law of the property. He was also one of the inspectors of the estate. The suit is brought to set aside the conveyance from Clarkson to Davies as in fraud of creditors.

Mr. Nesbitt, in opening the argument for the plaintiff yesterday, said that Taylog Brothers made an assignment in 1901 to E. R. C. Clarkson. The late Robert Davies, their brother-in-law, held a mortgage upon 140 agrees of land, including a couple 140 acres of land, including a couple of paper mills, and the Don Valley Brick Works, for $100,000. He was appointed one of the inspectors of the estate. Immediately after the assignment Davies rented the entire property from the assignee for $25 per month, took possession, ran the business and remained in possession until his death. Subsequently, about February, 1902, the assignee conveyed the property to Mr. Davies upon the latter glving the Taylor Brothers a credit of $45,000 upon their debt to him evidenced by the mortgage. There was no advertisement that the pro-perty was for sale, nor was it ever attempt to ratify the transaction by calling a meeting of the creditors in June, 1902, but Mr. Nesbitt claimed that the meeting was illegal and that only a small percentage of creditors attended.

Mr. Nesbitt argued that Mr. Davies, Mr. Nesbitt argued that Mr. Davies, being an inspector of the estate, was disqualified from buying the property of the estate no matter how innocent the transaction might appear. It was not necessary to prove fraud, for fraud would be presumed. As inspector Mr. Davies came into possession of knowledge as to the condition of the estate, and the value of the property which he cunningly concealed from the creditors. The hand of Davies was to be seen in every move made from the time of the assignment urtil he sequestered this "Naboth's vineyard."

ment uptil he sequestered this 'Naboth's vineyard."

Mr. Nesbitt said the assignee seemed to be entirely under the influence of Davies. He did not advertise the property for sale, nor did he advortise the meeting of creditors called to confirm that sale. If the property had been offered for sale it would have brought $600,000 in 1902.

M. K. Cowan, K.C., dwelt upon the great value of the property for brickyard purposes in 1901 and 1902. It contained several strata, all of sreat value. There was 35 feet of clay used for buff pressed brick, about 40 feet of wise cut clay and other clay mixed with sand, and below a deposit of shale, said to be 400 feet dept. It is one of the most wonderful pieces of property in the world, and in 1901 the Don Valley Brick Works were known from one end of the continent to the other. Taylor Brothers did not assign because the business did not pay, but because they had been called upon to make up losses to the extent of $200,000 in outside ventures.

Justice Lennox said: "I will have no difficulty in reaching the conclusion that this was a magnificent property for the brick business. Of course, there remains the question as to the water of the market, and the salability of the property in 1902."

the question as to the state of the market, and the salability of the property in 1902."

Mr. Cowan argued at length that the property would have brought a good figure had it been placed on the market in 1902. It would have brought at least ten times as much as Mr. Davies purported to pay for it. He called attention to the fact that Mr. Davies had taken possession of the property and business immediately after the assignment and had actually made 9,000,000 bricks within the year. He had taken over the entire working force and selling organization with the goodwill of the business as a going concern. This he had done without asking anybody except Mr. Clarkson. That he intended to hold on to the property was evident from the first. Long before he got the deed from Mr. Clarkson he bought a new boiler and two presses, tone down an old stone kiln and built a new drying shed 120 feet long. Certainly a shrewd business man like Mr. Davies would not have expended money in this way unless he intended to hold on to the property.

Anymore, the was also one of the inspectors of the estate and as such of it is said could not traffic in any of the property of the estate. The suit is brought to set aside the conveyance from Clarkson to Davies as in fraud of creditors.

When the trial was on a year ago it was stated that Mr. Davies was unsible to testify, and indeed did not know accounted his physical condition it was not touch accounted his physical condition it was not estated. The property control of the testimony Mr. Davies mas deed, and the accounted his physical condition it was not droubled in the case had been brought. On accounted his physical condition it was not droubled in the control of the testimony Mr. Davies mas deed, and the accounted his physical condition it was not droubled in the control of the testimony Mr. Davies has deed against his personal alsersentatives. Riccardo Martin Will be Heard With Boston National Co. in Elaborate Productions.

Riccardo Martin, who is America's greatest tenor, and whe will visit this greatest tenor, and whe will visit this city this sesson with the Boston-National Grand Opera Company at the Alexandra next week, went contrary to the wisnes of his parents when he decided upon an operatic career. If he had followed their desires he would to day belong to one of the three professions—law, medicine and theology. He was born in Kentucky. He was sent to Columbia University. New York. There music drew him. He did not take it up vocally, however, but studied composition under the late Edward MacDowell. His compositions were frequently sung. Martin went to Italy, and while he was there, a famous teacher heard him and strengly advised him to cultivate his voice. Martin followed his advice, and after a successful Italian debut, returned to the United States. His Metropolitan debut was made in 1907 as Frust.

UNIVERSAL SERVICE.

Editor World: Reading your very interesting article in Monday's World, you have struck the keynote of the situation by advocating universal service as the remedy to fill up our Canadian divisions at the front, but something more effective than moral suesion, recruiting meeting, and expensive methods now in vague, should be adopted. The time has passed for political "pussy-footing," and the situation to get the men promised by Canada is entirely in the hands of the gubic, especially the mothers who have given and sent sons, wives who have given and sent sons, wives who have given and sent husbands to defend our hearths and homes. If our women, who are vitally interested, would start a coast to coast petition, addressed to the premier, demanding that the Milita Act be put in force at once, this is the only universal way to fill the ranks, and at the same time, demonstrating one law for all.

Means of Stopping Strike Deemed a Grave Menace.

Baltimore, Nov. 20.—The organized labor forces of the country today avowed extreme hostility to the writ of injunction as a means of stopping a strike. First a resolution was adopted unanimously at the morning session of the convention of the A. A more radical step was taken at the afternoor session when the committee on the executive council's report took up that feature of the report dealing with the decision of the Massachusetts supreme court, classifying labor as property. The committee submitted, and the convention unanimously adonted, a recommendation that any injunction dealing with the relationship of employer and smploye and based on the dictum that labor is property, be disregarded, let the consequences be what they may.
