COL. MARLOW CRITICIZES COMMISSION METHODS

Dr. (Col.) F. W. Marlow, former A.D.M.S., M.D. No. 2, describes the policy of the military hospitals commission and its treatment of returned soldiers in the following words: "The first thing that strikes me is the fact that the medical profession of Canada is deprived of authority over medical problems, while S. A. Armstrong, director of the military hospitals commission, is a layman, is pre-eminently above the medical profession of Canada in dealing with the problem of returned soldiers, and may the time come when their work will receive the recognition it deserves, to the extent that they will be regarded as being worthy of trust and capable of managing distinctly medical problems without the intervention of parading, sedated laymen who, not having had the advantage of a medical training, are as a burden most difficult to shake off."

Dr. Marlow concludes his remarks with the following words: "The medical profession continues to perform the work involved in the interest of the soldiers, their dependents and the state, but may the time come when their work will receive the recognition it deserves, to the extent that they will be regarded as being worthy of trust and capable of managing distinctly medical problems without the intervention of parading, sedated laymen who, not having had the advantage of a medical training, are as a burden most difficult to shake off."

Col. W. K. McNaught is ill and operation is performed

After consultation yesterday afternoon, Drs. W. P. Caven, Norman Anderson, A. Primrose and Chas. Shuttleworth decided that the condition of Col. W. K. McNaught, who is seriously ill at his home, 614 Huron street, was such that an operation was necessary. The operation was successfully performed last night, and the patient was reported as resting easily early this morning.

for the pursuit and they compelled him to halt on the intermediate line before Laon, St. Quentin and Cambrai. If he had continued his retreat further he would have run grave risks of disaster from the attacks of the allied horsemen on his rearward columns, while on the march. The result of his premature halting was a failure to straighten his line as planned and the leaving of two dangerous salients east of Arras and north of Soissons. It is these salients which the British and French have just reduced.

As the present French operation has about reached all its objectives, the British will probably take up the next assault. They have the choice of either smashing the enemy north of Lens and about La Bassée towards Lille, or of smashing him upon the St. Quentin-Cambrai road. About equally valuable results would accrue from either attack. By smashing a way thru the St. Quentin-Cambrai road they could get close enough to the thru railway line from Westphalia to the western front to interrupt its traffic. This result would eventually compel another great retirement of the enemy.

If the Germans had announced before last Monday that they had retired from much more than the Siegfried line, the story would have gained more credence. As it is, however, with the French boldly pressing forward and flattening out salient after salient and taking more than 19,000 prisoners in five days, the German withdrawal has nothing voluntary about it. From their exceeding violent and vicious counter-attacks and their heavy losses in guns and war material, they betray their great reluctance to yield ground.

On the British front the usual pause before battle has set in. The artillery, however, keeps up its ceaseless activity. In the previous night the British improved their positions by gaining a little ground about Villiers Guislain.

The Canadian war records office in a graphic, clear communication on the great event, came the flood of descriptive writing on the capture of Vimy Ridge. It seems that the Canadian centre and right wing carried everything before them and at a comparatively early hour on the first day they had seized the fourth and last line of German defence on the eastern slopes, but the Canadian left wing had had fighting. It had its advance checked between the first and second lines of objectives by heavy fighting, the pressure of the enemy being directed chiefly against the centre and left flank. To make matters worse, groups of Germans emerged from a tunnel and fled into the front line trenches, which had just been carried. These then fired on the Canadian rear. The Canadians on the left fought all day and by ten o'clock at night they had disposed of the Germans in the front lines at their rear and they had carried all before them and reached their objectives in the centre. They let the temple, the sole remaining hill of the Ridge on their extreme left, remain in German hands till the next day. They then stormed it.

The railway which the British army is building from Egypt into Palestine and Syria is about to have another section added, for the British covering forces have just driven the Turks in fighting near the site of ancient Gaza from an advanced position on a front of six and a half miles. British warships near the coast assisted the operation by pouring a heavy flanking fire on the Turks. Having the command of the sea, the British expedition can always outflank the Turks in its progress thru Syria. If Sir Archibald Murray keeps on with his campaign he will be the first modern general to emulate the triumphs of the great Pompey; but Syria then was rich and prosperous and not drained of men and goods by long years of blighting Turkish rule.

Sir Stanley Maude is proceeding to rid Mesopotamia of the Turks with great rapidity, and on the whole, with surprising success, for it shows great stead behind him to support an army fighting on the banks of an Asiatic river hundreds of miles from the sea base and that, too, after a surprisingly rapid advance and the fighting of many battles. The latest success of the British, the routing of the 18th Turkish Army Corps, with the taking of more than 1200 prisoners, probably uncovers Samarra, now a day's march distant from the battlefield. This town is the supposed terminus of the far eastern section of the Bagdad railway.

WANTS DRYDOCKS BUILT IN CANADA

Robert Rogers Seeks Admiralty Works at Halifax and Esquimaux.

TO AID SHIPBUILDING

Construction Would Make Navy Independent of U. S. Ports.

Canadian Associated Press Cable. London, April 20.—Hon. Robert Rogers spent the greater part of the day in visiting the Canadian officers and men fresh from Vimy Ridge. A large number of men have arrived in the London hospitals.

Mr. Rogers has taken up the question of building admiralty drydocks at Esquimaux and Halifax with Sir Edward Carson, first sea lord, and A. Bonar Law, chancellor of the exchequer, and he is seemingly hopeful that something will result.

"Canada is entitled to this consideration," Mr. Rogers said, "not only for the part which she has played in the present war, but because of the efforts of the Canadian Government to encourage shipbuilding in Canada. There should be no reason why British ships, when in Canadian waters, should go to American ports for repairs."

The long-standing grievance concerning the cattle embargo is also receiving attention, but there is no ground for assuming that any immediate alteration is likely.

PLANS FOR "VICTORY" PARADE AND SERVICE

Band of Irish Battalion Will Give Program at Massey Hall Meeting.

The musical program at the meeting at Massey Hall on Sunday night for the commemoration of Canadian victories in Flanders will be furnished by the brass band of the 20th Irish Canadian Battalion. It will probably be the last public concert of the 20th band before the unit leaves Toronto.

The Second Q.O.R. Regiment will probably have the strongest representation of any of the city militia units in the divine service parade on Sunday afternoon at St. Paul's Anglican Church in commemoration of the Q.O.R. will parade two companies, 500 men, and also the Q.O.R. brass and bugle bands. Lieut.-Col. W. Band will be in command of the Q.O.R.

OFFICIAL WAR REPORTS

Paris, April 20.—Hard fighting continues between the French and the Germans all along the southern front in France. The French war office, in its latest communication issued this evening, records further progress for the forces of Gen. Nivelle north of the Aisne, in Champagne, and in the Argonne forest. More than 19,000 Germans have been made prisoner and guns in excess of 100 have been captured by the French since the offensive began last Monday.

The war office communication says: "Between St. Quentin and the Oise there has been great activity by both armies, particularly in the region to the north of Grugies. "The day was calm south of the Oise. "To the north of the Aisne our troops, harassing the enemy, have continued to progress toward the Chemin des Dames. We have occupied the Village of Sancy. "About 6 o'clock this evening, after very violent preparation by our artillery, the Germans launched an attack with large effectives on the region of Ailles and Hurléville, which was broken by the fire of our artillery and machine guns and completely repulsed. The artillery fighting in this region continues very active. "In Champagne we have captured several important points of support in the grove of Moronvilliers, despite the stubborn resistance of the enemy. We have made since the 16th of April, between Soissons and Aubervilliers, more than 19,000 prisoners. The number of guns we have captured during the same period and which have been counted up to the present, exceeds 100. "In the Argonne, after sharp fighting, our detachments penetrated up to the second enemy trench. They found a great number of German dead. "There is nothing to report from the remainder of the front. "Belgian communication: A reconnaissance attempted last night by the enemy in the region of Stuyvenkerke was dispersed by our fire. Prisoners remained in the hands of the Belgians. During the course of the day the artillery activity has been great in the region of Dinmuid and Steenstraet. "This afternoon's statement says: "South of St. Quentin the enemy's artillery kept up a heavy fire, to which our batteries replied vigorously. During the night patrol encounters occurred north of Orville. In the region of Laffaux we made appreciable progress and took fifty prisoners. We repulsed several counter-attacks by the Germans in this sector. "On the Vaucouleurs Plateau and southwest of Coucy we carried several trenches with grenades. East of Louve a well-conducted operation enabled us to gain ground and take 250 prisoners. "In the Champagne the night was marked by the violent reaction of the enemy. Very strong counter-attacks, preceded by bombardments, were launched by the Germans in the region of Moronvilliers. Our curtains of fire and our machine guns completely negated these efforts, which cost the enemy very heavy losses. A score of prisoners remained in our hands. "Everywhere else the night passed in quiet. "On April 16, ten German aeroplanes and two captive balloons were brought down by our pilots in aerial engagements."

London, April 20.—The official statement issued by the war office this evening says: "Beyond mutual artillery activity at a number of places along the front there is nothing of especial interest to report. "We gained ground along the night in the neighbourhood of Villers Guislain," says today's official statement. "Elsewhere there was nothing especially interesting."

Paris, April 20.—The following official communication was issued to-day: "Orient: After brilliant counter-attacks our troops recaptured a few elements of trenches which had been lost on the 18th at Tervena Stena. About 60 prisoners, most of them Germans, remained in our hands. To the east of the Cerna the Serbian troops repulsed two enemy attacks. "Berlin, April 20, via London.—The official statement issued by the German war office this evening reports that new engagements developed during the afternoon between Promies, east of Rheims, and the Suppes Valley.

SCORE'S GREAT SALE.

Every yard of goods in R. Score & Son's great stock of fine British wools in suitings, overcoatings, trousers and waistcoatings is worth special emphasis for its value during the $50,000 estate sale, but it seems very opportune today that spring overcoatings have the special word. Certainly the range is a comprehensive one from the standpoint of assortment. Made up in one or other of the splendid styles shown and tailored by Score's a gentleman has in the garment a guarantee for satisfaction and service, and a wholesome sense of being well dressed whether he carries it on his back or a cool morning or evening, or tosses it over his arm at mid-day.

"PHYSICAL EDUCATION." "Physical Education in Schools" was the subject of an address delivered by H. F. Armstrong, supervisor of Toronto Playgrounds, in Brown School, Avenue Road, yesterday afternoon. The lecture was illustrated with a number of lantern slides, and was given under the auspices of the Home and School Association. Donald Campbell, boy soprano, rendered several solos. There was a large attendance.

The death of Margaret Duncan, wife of George B. Padgett, reeve of Markham Township, took place at the family residence near Buttonville on Thursday after a long illness. The late Mrs. Padgett was a daughter of Rev. Mr. Duncan, a former minister at Brown's Corners Presbyterian Church, and was held in the highest esteem and respect by her friends. Her brother, Dr. Frank Duncan, died a short time ago. The funeral will take place this afternoon at 2 o'clock to Brown's Corners Cemetery.

RATEPAYERS UNITE IN CENTRAL BODY

Associations Representing Various Parts of the City Get Together.

WATCH CIVIC AFFAIRS

Organization Intended to Bring About Improved Municipal Government.

tives from city ratepayers' associations from the city ratepayers' associations were held yesterday in R. Honeyford's office, Kent Building, Yonge street, when delegates were present from the following associations: Leslieville, Eastcourt, Business Men, Ward Five, Ossington-Oakwood, Tax Reduction, Caledonia District, Deser Park.

Richard Honeyford was elected chairman and John Walsh secretary pro tem. The objects of the organization, as outlined by Mr. Honeyford, were to form a united body from delegates elected from the various city associations with power to act on their behalf in discussing questions of city-wide importance, and to unite in protesting against any matter of injustice by the city authorities against any particular section or district in Toronto.

The meeting which represented the majority of the principal city associations, brought forward many suggestions, and matters to be discussed at the next meeting, which, it was decided, would be held in Deser Park, Hall College street, in the course of a week. The election of officers and framing of the bylaws was held over to next meeting.

L. W. Mullen, president of Leslieville Ratepayers' Association, said that their organization has a membership of over 300, and was delighted that a central organization was in process of formation. He promised the loyal support of the united ratepayers. He pointed out that the bungling and flagrant acts of incompetence being constantly enacted at the city hall, he said, "the new organization will no doubt be able to fix the responsibility on the proper parties."

Dr. G. W. McIntosh, president Caledonia District Ratepayers' Association, said: "We have been dissatisfied for the past seven years with civic mismanagement, and have decided to affiliate ourselves with the united ratepayers." He pointed out that but for the combination of the Leslieville Association, the Deser Park Association, and the Caledonia District Ratepayers' Association, the district would have had to pay 61 cents per foot for the district sewerage instead of 31 cents per foot, which, as a result of combined action of the above organizations, was found to be a civic error.

Geo. R. Ellis said the water question would be a matter for settlement by the new central body. Other speakers were L. J. Jarvis, C. B. Blackburn, Ossington-Oakwood; John Walsh, and C. G. Brown, Deser Park, and W. Chapman of the Leslieville Association. Letters were read from the president of the York County Association, and the Deser Park Association, promising to take up the matter of the central body with their associations.

King Township Council

Demands That Fare Be Lower

The King Township Council have notified the management of the Aurora and Schomberg Railway that steps will be immediately taken to enforce the penalties of the Dominion Railway Act relating to the rates on electric roads if the company does not immediately make a reduction in the fares from Bond Lake to Schomberg. At the present time the charge is 3 cents a mile instead of two, and in view of the fact that the road has passed from steam power to electricity the council are making this demand. The company are given to May 15 to make the change, after which the whole matter will be referred to the Ontario Railway Board.
