

we resolve to grasp the standard more firmly and, bearing it aloft, march onward till it shall be planted and unfurled in holy triumph on the hill-top of victory.

HUNGERFORD—T. J. Sabine, Pastor.—Some are striving together for the faith, and with earnest heart and liberal hand, to sustain the cause of God. A larger number seem indifferent to the interest of the Denomination and the glory of God. Congregations about the same as last year, but the success for which we hoped, has not as yet been seen.

CAMPBELLFORD—J. G. Yelland, J. Pooley, Pastors.—We have preached, prayed, entreated, warned, and visited, with little visible effect. The station suffers the lack of leading members, in several of the appointments. No Sabbath Schools, or other social and public means of grace, except when held by one of the ministers. We want more Aarons and Hurs, more brotherly love and regard for a brother's feelings. Though cast down we are not destroyed. Special Services, held during three months, were attended with little visible results. In the midst of our labors, many have been the refreshing manifestations of God's presence, cheering us in our work of faith and labor of love. Congregations and Sabbath Schools about the same as last year; except at Campbellford, here the congregation has considerably improved. Many of our friends give liberally, while others do little or nothing. In the face of our common foe, leaning on the Divine arm, our motto is "Fight and Conquer."

BELLVILLE—A. Schuster, Pastor.—The word proclaimed has shown its scattering, as well as its ingathering effects, and a few have held firm to our cause. God has greatly blessed both Pastor and people. Sabbath School is increasing. Congregations have steadily increased and promise well for the future. We believe Belleville Mission has seen its darkest days. Our financial position, under the circumstances, is as good as last year. We have peace in our midst, and prosperity is sure to follow. This Mission, if carefully treated, will, in a few years, rank among the best in the Denomination.

PRINCE ALBERT—R. Allin, Pastor.—During another year, precious seed has been sown with but little apparent fruit. We toil on, hoping, and praying, that the seed sown may bear fruit after many days. Our services are moderately well attended, and at times have been characterized by the presence and power of the Spirit. Class and Prayer Meetings are not so well attended as their importance demands. When our members are as prompt and faithful in attending all the means of grace as they are in their temporal affairs, then may we expect prosperity in every department of our work. Financially, our receipts equal disbursements.
