Physician Climbs Pole to Patient

Five hundred residents of one of the most fashionable sections of New Rochelle, N. Y., watched the rescue of Nicholas Calif, who was shocked by the current in a high tension wire on the New York, Westchester and Boston railroad, near Webster and Madeline avenue.

Dr. Paul B. Fitzgerald, police surgeon of New Rochelle, and Thomas Goochilla climbed the steel upright through a maze of heavily charged wires to reach Calif, and for nearly two hours steadied the injured man on a narrow cross-tree and gave him stimulants until the power was shut off and he was taken to the ground.

Calif was painting the steel upright and straightened up to light a cigarette. His head came in contact with a wire. Flung about his head and he fell senseless, doubled over the cross tree on which he had been standing.

He was taken to the New Rochelle hospital, where it is said his chances for recovery are small.

A current had been turned into the wires to test the motors of the train.

Barley & Balmum Ticket Agencies

Clinch Brown's, Union and Waterloo streets; George M. Ross, Main street.

The new field bread of the United States army is to have its first trial in the Philippines. It is much like ordinary "household" bread, except that each loaf is baked separately with a thick hard crust, which will keep it in good condition for a fortnight. After that it can be freshened by dipping in water and rebaking.

CANADIAN CLUBS AND CELEBRATIONS ON DOMINION DAY

A Suggestion From the West and the Reason For It

(From the Moose Jaw News.)
The Canadian clubs from the Atlantic to the Pacific might well consider the advisability of holding Dominion Day celebrations in every city where a club exists.

At the present time, particularly in the west, there is a great deal of exciting the national idea, of proclaiming the oneness and indivisibility of confederation, of inculcating the spirit of unity and cooperation between the various geographical divisions of the dominion and of emphasizing the fact that the dominion and the Canadian people stand for something more than a mutually advantageous trade relationship. Of themselves, the ordinary influences making for national assimilation are unable to cope with the great mass of persons of alien birth who are coming into the dominion. It is an undeniable fact that foreigners are not, in Canada, as quickly assimilated into the national life as they are in the United States. In other words, the foreigners do not become Canadians as quickly as they become Americans.

To this must be attributed largely the feeling of restiveness existing in the western provinces. It exists, not so much because the country is not prosperous; for no country is more recently settling and increasing in prosperity than western Canada does. The restiveness is to be attributed to an impression that the interests of eastern and western Canada are not identical.

Now is this surprising. Strangers to Canada and Canadian history naturally look upon political questions from a material standpoint. They have a particular fondness for her form of government; but for the express purpose of improving their lot in the world. As yet the stranger in western Canada is the builder of a business rather than a nation builder.

To build up his business he is prepared frequently to sacrifice regard for national interests. The very nature of the west and its industrial organization renders the stranger provincial in his outlook.

There being little manufacturing done in the country, he is unable to realize the necessity of developing such industries; hence he is unable further to realize the importance of interprovincial cooperation.

Talk as men may about this or that form of national fiscal policy, but Canada will never realize her possibilities, never measure up to the full stature of nationhood, until her population become impregnated with an ardent national spirit.

To do this should be the special work of the Canadian clubs and nothing could be more timely than that they should on Dominion Day arrange for a chain of national celebrations extending across the continent. The carrying out of this proposal would be a good day's work for Canada.

STRONG EVIDENCE.
Visitor in asylum grounds—Now, tell me, what is that poor fellow's delusion? Inmate—Oh, he thinks he's Hackenschmidt.

Visitor—Dear, dear, how absurd! Inmate—Yes, of course it's absurd; I'm Hackenschmidt.

YOUNG LADIES OF ST. PETER'S GIVE A FINE PRODUCTION

Pontia Cleverly Presented in St. Peter's Hall Before Very Large Audience

The presentation of the sacred drama "Pontia, Pilate's Daughter," by the young ladies of St. Peter's parish last evening in St. Peter's Hall, King street, was witnessed by an audience which filled the spacious auditorium to overflowing, and which was thoroughly appreciative of the performance given. It was declared an instantaneous and distinct success, and the young ladies participating were heartily commended for the able manner in which they enacted the various roles, and the exactness with which even the minutest detail was attended to in the presentation of the play. The piece deals with the lives of the early Christians, their martyrdom, sacrifices, ideals and lofty ambitions to lead souls to God, and there are many scenes which require of the performers some strong emotional acting and this the principals gave. The performance was under the direction of Mrs. A. C. Wilson and Miss Mac Mullin was pianist. St. Peter's Y. M. C. A. orchestra played several pleasing selections.

The title role was taken by Miss Genevieve Dever who gave a clever, exacting and pleasing presentation of the role of Pontia, who is gradually induced to become one of the increasing host of noble women taking up the standard of the Saviour and wearing the robes of Christianity. She was ably assisted by the other young ladies in the cast, particularly Miss Mary Carlin, who as Agrippina, Empress of Rome, was forceful and capable and Miss Annie Gonnell as the mother of Pontia also played well. Miss Madge Edlyns took advantage of all opportunities to please. The choice of the other young ladies in the various roles would have been difficult to excel as they each fulfilled the requirements of their parts with ease and grace, adding materially to the success of the performance.

The remaining cast was as follows:—Corina, smaller sister of Pontia—Miss Beatrice Gonnell.
Flavia, noble Roman lady—Miss Genevieve Hansen.
Petronilla, Jewish maiden—Miss Annie Carlin.
Damonah, daughter of Herodias—Miss Nellie Dever.

Miranda and Octavia, smaller children of Empress—Miss Ethel Walsh, Miss Ena Higgins.
Miriam and Ruth, Jewish girls—Miss Alice Kelly, Miss Emma Conlogue.
Cornelia, Roman Augustus's wife—Miss Margaret McMenamon.

Cassandra, Greek—Miss Mary Cogger.
Roxana, Persian—Miss Esther Martin.
Ethelinda, British—Miss Katherine Coughlan.
Flamentina, vestal Virgin—Miss Florence Gallagher.
Phamphilia, keeper of Palentine prison—Miss Alice Casey.

Mistress of Slaves and Angel—Miss Helen Murphy.
First Slave—Miss Edna Creary.
Second Slave—Miss May Gonnell.
Fourth Slave—Miss Mary Granan.
Fifth Slave—Miss Ethel Creary.
Roman Maidens—Misses Ethel Creary, Edna Creary, Cleophas Jeffrey, Mary Cogger, Alice Casey, May Conolly, Esther Martin, Genevieve Hansen, Mary Granan, Emma Conlogue.

The costumes were admirable and striking while the stage settings were also carefully arranged.

This Year's Immigration
(Canadian Finance)
There is a great rush of immigrants into western Canada this spring. New records are being made almost daily in that respect. One day recently 2,540 persons arrived in Winnipeg on the various railway lines. They come from the various railway Europe, Eastern Canada and the United States. A fact that is being specially commented upon is the increase in immigration from Great Britain. The settlers of this year appear to have more money than those who arrived in other seasons, the new-comers from the south being especially well off financially.

Some of the United States authorities are quite alarmed over the number of settlers moving from that country to western Canada. They are said to be particularly uneasy over the formation of the "Million for Manitoba League." This organization will make a strenuous effort to induce more of the southern farmers to settle in this province.
