Personal

Ottawa, August 27, 1919

My dear Stevenson:

I have just finished reading your exceedingly kind and helpful article in The Evening Post of August 23. I wish I were worthy of what you have written; be assured, however, that your words are a real incentive, and not a little appreciated as the evidence of a much valued friendship.

May I take advantage of this note to repeat what I have already said to you - that I shall welcome at all times opportunities of conference with yourself on matters of public interest, and much hope you will never hesitate to call, or ring me up, when there is any subject concerning which you may wish to have a word.

I think we both look at the industrial and social problems of our day from much the same standpoint, and certainly with kindred sympathy. I shall be grateful for any help you can give me in the endeavour to make prevail policies and principles which we hold in common.

With warm personal regards,

Believe me,

Yours very sincerely,

W. L. MACKENZIE KING

P.S. - May I thank you also for the splendid article in The Nation on the National Liberal Convention.
