

Gleaned by the Way.

'Did you say your new doctor's name was Steed?' 'Yes, Dr. Steed. I should be afraid to engage him; sounds as if he were a great charger!'

Whooping Cough Cured. Mrs. Henry M. Edwards, Atlas Park, Ont. writes: 'I think a great deal of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Licorice and Turpentine as a cure for whooping cough. My children were very bad with this annoying disease. This medicine relieved attacks of hard coughing and made a comfortable sleep in coughing, bronchitis and severe colds.'

'Which do you prefer,' said the enthusiastic young lady—'music or poetry?' 'Poetry,' answered Mrs. Cayenne. 'You can keep poetry shut up in a book. You don't have to listen to it unless you choose.'

Soothing and Healing. As a means of soothing the inflammation and healing the raw surfaces of the throat, it is difficult to imagine anything so wonderfully effective as Dr. Chase's Ointment. Relief from the distressing itching comes almost immediately, the sores heal and gradually a new, velvety skin is formed. There is no treatment so effective in curing children.

Two commercial travellers were comparing notes. 'I have been out three weeks,' said the first, 'and have only got four orders.' 'That beats me,' said the other; 'I have been out four weeks and have only got one order, and that's from the firm to come home.'

CASTORIA. The Kind You Have Always Bought

A few minutes had the misfortune to fall down stairs the other day, and that part of the anatomy commonly denominated the "tummy bone" came in contact with the wall. On being picked up and asked if she was hurt, she rubbed her arm for a moment and said, "No, but my elbow is awful dizzy."—Union Signal.

'What,' asks the Wyoming Tribune, 'has become of the old-fashioned freckle-faced boy, who got the water, chopped the wood, split the kindling, milked the cows, led the pigs, curried the horses and did such other chores as his parents found for him to do?' He's probably kept busy handing his lazy son money with which to buy rolled up trousers and cigarettes.

To prove to you that Dr. Chase's Ointment is a certain and absolute cure for such troubles as itching, sore throat, inflammation of the throat, etc., you may see by the following that it is a most wonderful remedy. It is the most amazing, said a metallurgist, 'how the world relies on metals for its metaphors and similes.'

'Thus, an orator is silver-tongued. An explorer is bronzed by African suns. A resolute chap has an iron will. A sluggish mover with leaden feet. An artist has a copper-lined stomach. A millionaire has tin. A swindler is as slippery as quicksilver. A borrower has brass.'

The village sexton was just locking up the churchyard gates when a tourist approached. 'Had something on here to-day?' asked the newcomer. 'Ay,' replied the sexton; 'old Squire was buried to-day.'

'Oh!' remarked the tourist. 'Sudden wasn't it? Any complaint?' 'No,' was the reply, 'no complaint; everybody satisfied.'

CASTORIA. The Kind You Have Always Bought. The young lady sighed deeply and was almost affected to tears. 'Harold,' she said, 'declares that if I don't marry him he will kill me. And I am afraid he will.'

'And Randolph that if I don't marry him he will go into politics and become great and famous, and then he says I shall see what I have missed. And I am afraid he will keep his word, too.'

CASTORIA. The Kind You Have Always Bought. The prosecuting counsel had been very convincing in his treatment of the witnesses for the defence. So much so that one of these, a young doctor, determined to retaliate.

'You claim to be acquainted with the various symptoms attending congestion of the brain?' asked the lawyer. 'Yes.'

'We will take a concrete case,' continued the counsel. 'If my learned friend, the counsel for the defence, and myself were to bang our heads together, should we get congestion of the brain?'

'The young physician smiled slightly. 'The probabilities are,' he replied, 'that the counsel for the defence would get the congestion.'

Home Makes the Boy.

A good boy is the natural product of a good home and all the efforts of philanthropy to make boys better are consciously imperfect substitutes for the natural influence of a healthy-minded home. The great and overshadowing peril of a boy's life is not as many suppose, his bad companions or his bad books or his bad habits; it is the peril of homelessness—having no bed or room which can be called one's own—but that homelessness which may exist even in luxurious houses—the isolation of the boy's soul; the lack of any one to listen to him, the loss of roots to hold him to his place and make him grow. This is what drives a boy into the arms of evil and makes the street his home and the gang his family; or else drives him in upon himself, into uncommunicated imaginings and feverish desires. It is the modern story of the masses because it was empty and precisely because it was empty there entered seven devils to keep him company. If there is one thing that a boy cannot beat it is himself. He is by nature a gregarious animal and if the group which gives himself to be denied, then he gives himself to be denied. A boy like all things in nature, abhors a vacuum and if his home is a vacuum of lovelessness and homelessness, then he abhors his home.

An alarm clock kept in the kitchen may be set to ring at the time the vegetables should be put over the fire or the hot bread or the cake or pudding is due to be done and as a guide to time in many other matters.

Racks for kettle and pan covers may be made on the back of the door of kitchen closets and will save much trouble. Get brass screw hooks and arrange them on the lower edges of the crosswise panels of the door. Screw larger hooks at each end of the panels and stretch the door springs attached to these across the panels. The distance of the spring from the bottom of the panel varies according to the size of the covers. The hooks for the springs for the large covers should be put about the middle of the panel and for the smallest covers quite near the bottom.

Kitchen Help.

A dozen grains of rice in a salt-cellar will absorb dampness and keep the salt in powder. It also breaks the lumps that there may be in the salt. An alarm clock kept in the kitchen may be set to ring at the time the vegetables should be put over the fire or the hot bread or the cake or pudding is due to be done and as a guide to time in many other matters.

Does Your Heart Flutter? Short Breath. Easily Fatigued. Rush of Blood. It's in this condition that sudden and unexpected death comes.

The heart is an untiring index of strength. Bodily vigor and a strong heart go hand in hand. A slight fluttering and shortness of breath is a sign of falling strength, arising from weakened digestive power, or from weakness of the nervous system.

The organic and dangerous affections of the heart seldom manifest themselves until the climax is reached, when death usually supervenes. Even a small variation in strength renders the heart susceptible on the emotional side, and a little fright, anxiety or haste will set it going at a frightful rate.

You ought to know that when your heart flutters easily, when your breath comes in gasps, when you tire quickly upon exertion, and rest does not recuperate, you have allowed yourself to run down.

It is under these conditions that Ferrone acts like magic in its strengthening power. Tens of thousands of Canadians can testify to the marvelous curative power of Ferrone.

When it's remembered that Ferrone has the power of making rich, red blood, of giving tone to the system, of vitalizing all the functional powers of the body, it will be easily seen in cases such as yours, in which these fluttering sensations are present, Ferrone will speedily restore you to health.

Ferrone makes you strong because it enables you to digest your food, because it makes rich, red blood—because it tones, strengthens, reinforces the whole system.

I was so overcome with heart fluttering and acute indigestion I could scarcely walk upstairs without panting and catching for my breath,' writes E. K. Young, a well known merchant in Augusta. 'After using one box of Ferrone I improved, and after two months I was cured and am sound and healthy as ever to-day.'

The Bigger—Please, sir, will you kindly assist a poor man who has three wives to support? The Pedestrian—'Why, do you mean to say you are a bigamist?' The Beggar—'Oh, no, sir. Two of them are the wives of my sons-in-law.'

Your Enormous Strength.

Even those of us who take no interest whatever in physical culture have one set of muscles developed to a remarkable degree. We have been training them unconsciously from our earliest years, till now they exert a pressure of no less than 300 pounds. Dr. Joseph Head has been making some interesting experiments and has discovered that to bite a piece of boiled beef we exert a pressure of three pounds. A rascal lamb needs four pounds, corned beef two, pork twenty five, and roast beef as much more very easily for yourself. Take a crust of dry bread, lay it on a table, and place weights upon it till it is crushed. You will find that the weight necessary is about fifteen pounds. Can it be wondered at that we sometimes chip or break a tooth—especially when we substitute for the comparatively soft things mentioned such a hard substance as brittle coffee.

An eminent authority, who has made a careful and scientific study of the relative values of drugs having a specific action on the kidneys, bladder, and liver, pronounces this an excellent combination.

Analytical Chemist Tells of Patent Medicines.

A graduate in organic chemistry, who has made a study of many of the best known patent medicines on the market, states that many have virtue, but as a rule people have to pay for a lot of unnecessary expense. The following is the recipe of a well-known secret preparation, and is known by authority to be one of the best stomach and liver tonics. It is prescribed by many of the best physicians.

This mixture cures constipation and biliousness. The recipe:—Fluid Extract Cascara..... 3/4 oz. Syrup Rhubarb..... 1/2 oz. Carmin Compound..... 1/2 oz. Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla 5 oz. Take a teaspoonful after each meal at bed time.

Walking Correctly. Many children are taught at home and at school to walk on their toes. This will do in a sick room when one has squeaking shoes, but it is not natural or elegant. Put the heels down lightly at first and the toes last; this keeps the body erect, instead of bending the body forward, as a person must walk on his toes. Walking should be more thoroughly taught in our gymnastic schools. It costs little to learn to walk correctly, and it is well worth while to spend a little time to acquire the art.—New York Telegram.

Every student in our schools should be moral if for no other reason than for the excellency and worth of character and the life it centers. No character is complete until it is swayed and elevated by genuine piety. No heart is fully happy till it is imbued with the spirit of piety. No life is all it may and should be till its motives are baptized in the waters of piety.

A SURGICAL OPERATION.

If there is any one thing that a woman dreads more than another it is a surgical operation. We can state without fear of a contradiction that there are thousands, yes, thousands, of operations performed upon women in our hospitals which are entirely unnecessary and which have been made by LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND.

For proof of this statement read the following letter:—Mrs. Letitia Blair, Camillon, Ont., writes to Mrs. Pinkham:—'I was sick for five years. My doctor told me it was ulceration, and another told me it was a fibroid tumor, and advised an operation. Not one knew what I suffered, and the bearing down pains were terrible. I wrote to my sister about it, and she advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It has cured me of all my troubles, and I did not have to have the operation after all. The Compound also helped me to pass safely through Change of Life.'

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN. For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains and backache.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice, she has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

The Liquor Traffic Against Itself.

The naïveté of the liquor leaders in some of their arguments on proposed temperance legislation is often amusing and sometimes pitiable. It is clear that, as a rule, the liquor seller is on a distinctly lower moral level than most other people, that he thinks along that lower level, and so long as he is in the business he is incapable of seeing either himself, his fellows or his 'business' as others see them.

While the $1,000 tax bill has been pending before the Ohio Legislature several utterances from that source have attracted our attention. Ernest Muller, president of the Cleveland and Sandusky Brewing Company, said:

'There is no question but that the bill, by being made a law, would reduce the number of saloons, but I do not believe that it would force the right ones out of business. As I understand the bill, it is aimed at what are commonly known as "bad places"—the low grog-shops, the wine-rooms, etc. These places, however, are making enough money to pay the $1,000-a-year tax, or even a $1,500-a-year tax.'

'They would continue in business as heretofore, while the small but perfectly respectable and orderly places, some of which have been in business for years, would be forced to close up. They could no longer continue in business. Yet they are the ones that we want in business; that the people want in business, if they want any at all.'

This is certainly suggestive. With what perfect assurance this brewer talks about "perfectly respectable and orderly places" just as if there were any such! But even this brewer seems to think they are not numerous. But he says the "orderly" places do not pay. They have too small an income to pay the big liquor tax. That, too, is quite an admission. We at all times thought there was a big profit in the sale of liquor, but it seems this applies to the disorderly, illegal, criminal resorts, not to the "respectable" ones.

Here is proof of the wonderful power of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills over disease. Mr. P. E. Paulin, Collector of Customs at Caraquez, N. B., says:—'In the winter of 1902 I had a very severe attack of a gripe, which broke me down entirely. I had to take to bed for several weeks. During that time I employed a doctor, but without benefit. I felt I was getting worse and worse. I did not sleep; suffered from night sweats, and had no appetite. I was really a physical wreck. On a former occasion I had used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for general ailments, with great benefit so I decided to again try them. I sent for half a dozen boxes and began to use them at once. When taking the second box I began to feel quite a change in my condition. I was able to walk about the house and my appetite was improving. From that on I gained strength every day, and before the six boxes were done I was able to return to the office and attend to my work. Now I enjoy the best of health, and although 67 years old, am feeling quite young. I think Dr. Williams' Pink Pills an excellent medicine for travellers like me.'

Baby's Skin Trouble

ITCHING ECZEMA. For the skin troubles of babyhood Dr. Chase's Ointment acts as a natural, medicinal cure promptly it allays the irritation and stops the suffering of little ones who are tormented by terrible itching, stinging eczema. Mothers often find themselves helpless before this annoying ailment which torments so many young children, but we have a set to best them. A single case in which relief was not obtained by use of Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment. This soothing, healing preparation is also unrivaled as a cure for chafing and all skin irritations. Mothers who once use it for the purpose do not think of returning to penetrating, stinging powders. At all dealers Edmondson, Ross & Co., Toronto.

Mrs. Lois McKay, Tiverton, Digby Co., N.S. writes:—'My children were taken with itching, burning eczema and two their flesh and it was so bad that the doctor failed to help them so we used Dr. Chase's Ointment. It did its work well and has entirely cured them. They suffered so they could not sleep, and I was nearly crazy from anxiety and loss of sleep.'

well can't want to engage in this awful occupation. The man who does want to go into it must be dead to all the finer instincts of the human breast. He is an enemy of his fellow-men, no matter what his pretence or claims may be. The saloonkeeper cannot be respectable. He is a parasite, a leech, a drain on the industry, and certainly an industrial, and certainly an industrious, parasite, a moral leech, and his 'place' plague spot, a swamp of moral pestilence, a breathing-hole of the pit. We would like to be on a commission to decide upon the 'character' of applicants for positions as liquor sellers!

Mr. Heiman C. Barr, of the same firm, talked in the same vein as Mr. Muller. He also favored a common sense and said: 'There are too many saloons here, I know, and I would like to see the worst ones done away with, but this Alken bill will not do it. It only will serve to drive the small and respectable saloon-keepers out of business. A few of the lower grog-shops may suffer, but not many. If the question would be fairly met and the real question of the fitness of a man to keep a saloon raised, I think it would not be necessary to increase the police force, for most of the crime of to-day starts in the low saloons. With these abolished, why would you need more police?'

Thank you, gentlemen—if persons of your ilk can be gentlemen—for your testimony. It is a good temperance sermon. Go on talking like that. We enjoy it. If you furnish the ammunition for our warfare—ready to hand, we need not be at the trouble to secure it ourselves.—'Nevaglonic Messenger.'

La Grippe's Victims. Left Weak, Miserable and a Prey to Disease in Many Forms. La Grippe starts with a sneeze—and ends with a complication of troubles. It lays the strong man on his back; it tortures him with fevers and chills, headaches and backaches. It leaves him a prey to pneumonia, bronchitis, consumption and other deadly diseases. You can avoid La Grippe entirely by keeping your blood rich and red by the occasional use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. If you have not done this, and the disease have you low, you can banish all its evil after effects with this same great blood-building, nerve-restoring medicine. Here is proof of the wonderful power of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills over disease.
