A Burial at Night in War.

The most touching letters which our Chaplains at the front receive are those from fathers and mothers asking for particulars as to how and when and where their sons were buried.

I trudged along the trenches visiting the felled lads under my care. Some were busy scanning the German lines through periscopes. Others were taking an occasional shot at the foe.

At the door of his dog-out at a young officer, so deeply absorbed in a little book he was unconsciously of my presence until I inquired what the fascinating volume was.

From one end of the Province to the other WENTZELL'S LIMITED is known as the "Big Store." It is known as the only part that is small is the price.

When I referred the inquiring young soldier to the 5th Psalm, he said the verse had comforted him in hours of danger and temptation, and spoke frankly of the trust he had in the great Friend who is behind all that happens.

A week or two passed by. His battalion had been resting in a battered town behind the firing line. Now the men were about to enter another period of duty in the trenches. I went with them part of the way.

Before another sunset a message was brought to me that the brown-eyed soldier who loved Robinson Crusoe's text had passed to the other side. He had volunteered, with a few other gallant spirits, for a dangerous duty in front of the German lines.

All that could perish of the gallant youth, lay there upon a stretcher, booted and kilted, just as he had fallen, and covered with his overcoat. Had he passed away in field ambulance or hospital, where blankets are available, one would have been neatly sewed about him; but in the trenches this was scarcely to be had.

I remember I lifted the kind covering for the last time on the open grave and winnowed countenance. When I gently smile the white lips were fastened to the floor, and the light of vision had fled, and the sure and certain was on his face and the water in my eyes. To chide his pale uniform of one of the men who will fit in their glory.

Before the two stretchers were lifted their burden, all was covered by the simple folds of a Union Jack. Down the trench, in the thick darkness, the little burial party passed—a weird procession. Here and there the windings of the narrow trench made it necessary to blast the stretcher above the parapet, and once or twice the bearers had to lay down their load as a German fire stabbed the darkness with its shaft of revealing light.

Over France and Flanders there have sprung into being, within a few months, these quiet resting places, dotted with white crosses, each marking the grave of a British soldier. Loving care had been expended on these little acres of God.

At no other time in the history of Nova Scotia have the newspapers had such a hard time as at present. The chief articles in their make-up have advanced in some cases over 100 per cent., and there is apparently no improvement in the outlook.

One paper, the Parrabro Leader, has succumbed to the inevitable and has suspended publication. It was a bright, newsy sheet and it will be missed among the newspapers of the city.

The newspaper business is becoming more difficult every day. As the weekly mail papers have gone out of business during the last year or two; the larger papers have been obliged to reduce their size, and several morning papers have suspended publication. The other day we received notice that the publishers of the Weekly Mail and Empire of Toronto, an old established publication, had decided to quit.

With all their difference in regard to disease, its cause and treatment, doctors are of one mind in regard to the one greatest rule of health, viz. "Daily movement of the bowels." Unnumbered thousands of people suffer almost continuously, as the result of constipation, who could be readily cured by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

According to the recent statement from O. I. A. the revenues of the Dominion Government are quite up to the expectations of the Minister of Finance and the estimate of the budget of February last. For the first three months of the present fiscal year, that is to say, from April 1st to June 30th, the revenue amounted to $56,000,000 as compared with $47,000,000 for the same period of last year, an increase of $9,000,000 for the quarter.

The policy as to expenditures, outlined in the budget has been strictly followed, namely, that only works actually under construction or indispensably necessary in the public interest are being proceeded with. As a result of this policy, the expenditure for the quarter on ordinary and capital account are less than for the same period of last year, notwithstanding that included in ordinary expenditure is the item of interest upon the National debt, which has been greatly increased by the Dominion's war borrowings. The total expenditure on ordinary and capital accounts for the three months aggregates about $27,000,000. Considerable of our war expenditure is being paid out of current revenue.

"Come, come, James," she urged, "just think hard. You know the Latin for 'left'?"

Better Cake and Biscuits

In all recipes calling for Baking Powder use Royal Baking Powder. You will get better and finer food and insure its neatness.

Housewives are sometimes led to use inferior baking powders because of apparent lower cost, but there is very little difference in practical use—about one cent for a whole cake or pan of biscuits—a mere trifle when you consider the vast difference in healthfulness in favor of food made with Royal Baking Powder.

Royal Baking Powder is made from cream of tartar, derived from grapes—a natural food product, as contrasted with alum, derived from mineral sources, and used in the manufacture of some baking powders because it is cheaper.

Why Aren't You Happy?

This question is addressed to girls in small towns and on farms who have the blessed privilege of fresh air and abundant room, both indoors and out. Good food, faithful friends and a definite future. Why aren't you happy? One answer is that you do not understand how well off you are.

You may say that you know of a case where a girl went to the city, got well-paid work, advanced further and further until she was in business for herself, and is now making a good income. Or you may tell of a girl who soon after she reached the city, married a man receiving a good salary, and she comes home for visits wearing beautiful clothes and having a very sophisticated air.

How can you be happy? By making yourself like your life just where it is. You can do this by dwelling on your advantages and ignoring what else you might wish you had. As you practice happiness it will grow; you will give and gain love increasingly, than which there can be no greater blessing.—Woman's World.

Willie—Pa says he wishes you'd make haste and propose. Young Man (delighted)—Then he is willing to let your sister marry me? Willie—Tain't that. He says you're not likely to keep coming here after six hands you the mitts.

Revenues Increase.

Nervous and Almost Crazy With Pains in the Head

Clergyman Certifies to This Cure of Nervous Prostration by Use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

No ailment is more discouraging than Nervous Prostration. You may feel better for a day or two, only to find the next day that you have lost ground and are worse than ever. The headache, the dizziness, the listless feelings are terribly depressing. As you lose strength you lose hope and courage and look to the future with fear and trembling.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is the greatest blessing that has ever come to the sufferer from nervous exhaustion. It is not narcotic in its influence. It does not deaden the trembling, irritated nerves, but through the medium of the blood nourishes them back to health as nothing else can.
