The eyes are always in sympathy with the body, and afford an excellent inder of its condition. When the eyes become weak, and the lids inflamed and sore, it is an evidence that the system has become disordered by Scrofula, for which Ayer's Sarssparilla is the best known remedy. . Scrofula, which produced a painful inflammation in my eyes, caused me much suffering for a number of years. By the advice of a physician I commenced taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. After using this medicine a short time I was completely

From childhood, and until within a few months, I have been afflicted with Weak and Sore Eyes. I have used for these complaints, with beneficial results, Ayer's Saraparilla, and consider it a great blood purifier.— Mrs. C. Phillips, Glover, Vt.

I suffered for a year with inflammation in my left eye. Three ulcers formed on the ball, depriving me or sight, and causing great pain. After trying many other remedies, ton purpose, I was finally induced to use Ayer's Sarasparilla, and,

T. Bowen, Sugar Tree Ridge, Ohio. My daughter, ten years old, was afflicted with Serofulous Sore Eyes. During the last two years she never saw light of any kind. Physicians of the highest standing exerted their skill, but with no permanent success. On the recommendation of a friend I purchased a bottle of Ayer's Sarasparilla, which my daughter commenced bottle her sight was restored, and she can now look steadily at a brilliant light without pain. Her cure is complete.—W. E. Sutherland, Evangelist, Shelby City, Ky.

The Tabernacle Congregation Hear a Sermon on the Tempest.

The Scene Described - The Storm after Calm-The Calm after the Storm-Practical Lessons -Christ in the BROOKLYN, June 5.—The Rev. T. De-Witt Talmage, D. D., preached in the labernacle this morning a sermon en-titled "The Tempest." He said:—

titled "The Tempest." If e said:— Tiberias, Gaillee, Gennesaret—three names for the same lake. No other gem ever had so beautiful a setting. It lay in a scene of great luxuriance; the surrounding hills high, terraced, sloped, groved, so many hanging gardens of beauty, the waters rumbling down between rocks of grey and red limestone, flashing from the hills and bounding into the sea. On the shore were castles, armed towers, Roman baths, everything attractive and beautiful; all styles of attractive and beautiful; all styles of vegetation in shorter space than in almost any other space in all the world, from the palm-tree of the forest to the trees of rigorous climate.

It seemed as if the Lord had launched one wave of beauty on all the scene, and it hung and swung from rook and hill and cleander. Roman gentlemen in pleasure boats sailing the lake, and countrymen in fish smacks coming down to drop their nets, pass each other with nod and shout and laughter, or swinging idly at their moorings. O, what a wonidly at their moorings. O, what a worderful, what a beautiful lake!

night. Not a leaf winked in the air; not

THE FACE OF GENNESARET but there seems to be a little excitement up the beach, and we hasten to see what it is, and we find it an embarkation. From the western shore a flotilla pushing out; not a squadron, or deadly armanent, nor clipper with valuable merchandise, nor piratic vessel ready to destroy every thing they could seize, but a flotilla every thing they could seize, but a flotilla bearing messengers of life and light, and peace. Christ is in the front of the boat ; came back:—"These peace thrist is in the front of the boat ; came back:—"These transparents in a small boat. Jesus, weary with much speaking to large multitudes, is put into sommolence by the rocking of the waves. If there was any motion at all the ship was easily eld for the larboard, or from the starboard to starboard, the boat would not he will deliver you. My subject also impremotion putting the Master asleep. And they extemporised a pillow made out of a sishermen's coat. I think no sooner is Christ prostrate and His head touched the pillow than He is sound salesp. The breezes of the lake run their finger through the tooks of the worn sleeper, and the boat rises and falls like a sleeping mother.

Color of the second of the worn sleeper, and the boat rises and falls like a sleeping mother.

And even the passengers can hear the moaning of the storm, as it comes on with great stride, and all the terrors of hurricane and darkness. The large both trembles like a deer at bay among the clangor of the hounds; great patches of foam are flung into the air: the sails of the vessel loosen, and the sharp winds crack them like pistols: the smaller boats ilke petrels poise on the cliff of the waves and then plunge.

Overboard go cargo, tackling and masta, and the drenched disciples rush into the back part of the boat, and lay hold of Christ, and say unto Him "state; carest Thou not that we perish?"

That great personage lifts His head from the pillow of the fisherman's coat, walls to the front of the vessel and looks out into the storm. All around Him are the smaller boats, driven in the tempest, and through it comes the cry of drowning men. By the flash of the lighting it seems the comes of the comes of the care of the comes.

WIENEYER THEY SEE A REVIVAL to the front of the vessel and looks out into the storm. All around Him are the smaller boats, driven in the tempest, and through it comes the cry of drowning men. By the flash of the lightning I see the calm brow of Christ as the spray dropped from His beard. He has one word for the sky and another for the waves. Looking upward He cries, "Peace!" Looking downward He says, "Be still."

The waves fall flat on their faces, the ave Christ with you all shall be well. You may seem to get along without the religion of Christ while everything goes smoothly, but after a while, when sorrow hovers over the soul, when the waves of trial dash clear over the hurricane deck, and the decks are crowded with himsting disasters, oh what would with piratical disasters—oh, what would you do then without Christ in the ship!

Young man, take
GOD FOR YOUR FORTION,
God for your guide, God for your help;
then all is well; all is well for time, all shall be well forever. Blessed is that man who puts in the Lord his trust. He shall never be confounded.

But my subject also impresses me with the fact that when people start to follow Christ they must not expect smooth sailboat, and I have no doubt they said :—

"What a beautiful day this is! What a mooth sea! What a bright sky this is!
How delightful is sailing in this boat?
And as for the waves under the keel of the boat, why, they only make the motion of our little boat the more delightful." But when the winds swept down and the sea was tossed into wrath, then they found that following Christ was not amooth sailing. So you have found it; so I have found at.
I can come into this audience to-day and find a soore of illustrations of the truth of this subject. That young man in the store trying to serve God, while his employer scoffs at Christianity, the young men in the same store antagonistic ms emproyer some at Christianity, the young men in the same store antagonistic to the Christian religion, teasing him, tormenting him about his religion, trying to get him mad. They succeed in getting him mad, saying:—"You're a pretty Christian." Does this young man a christian girl. Her father despises the christian religion; her mother despises the christian religion; her brothers and sisters scoff at the christian religion; she can hardly find a quiet place in which to say her prayers. Did she find it smooth sailing when she tried to follow Jesus Christ? Oh, not all who would live the ing, great pounding—and had their robes washed and made white in the blood of ed! Oh child of God! take o mother.

Calm night, starry night, beautiful night. Run up all the sails, ply all the cars and let the large boat and the small boat glide over gentle Gennesaret. But the sailors say there is going to be a CHANGE OF WEATHER. gers can hear the lous errors going over the Church of God through it comes the cry of drowning men. By the flash of the lightning I see the calm brow of Christ as the spray dropped from His beard. He has one word for the sky and another for the waves. Looking upward He cries, "Peacel" Looking downward He says, "Be still."

The waves fall flat on their faces, the foam melts, the extinguished stars relight their torches. The tempest falls dead, and Christ stands with His feet on the neck of the storm. And while the sailors are bailing out the boats, and while they are trying to untangle the cordage, the disciples stand in amazement, now looking into the calm say, then into the calm Saviour's countenance, and they cryout, .... "What manner of man is the that are the winds and sea obey Him?"

The subject in the first place, impresses me with the fact that it is very important to have that even the winds and sea obey Him?"

The subject in the first place, impresses me with the fact that it is very important to have

for all those boats would have gone to the bottom of Gennesaret if Christ had into been present. Oh, what a lesson for you and for me to learn! We must always have Christ in the ship. Whatever voyage we undertake, into whatever enterprise we start, let us always have Christ in the ship.

There are men here who ask God to help them at the start of great enterprises. He has been with them in the past; no trouble can overthrow them; the storms might come down from the order to be the fact that in the early part of this century a revival broke out at Someryille, N. J., and the world than John Livingston. He was an olded at the revival; they wanted him to stop it. He stood in the pulpit on the Sabbath, and looked over the care the storm comes, and tosses off the masts of the ship; he puts out his life-boat and the long boat; the sheriff and the auctioneer try to help him off; the day our life will be made up of sunshine and shadow. There may be in it Arctic blasts, or tropical tornadoes; I know not what is before you, but I know if yeu.
