Books in the Olden Time.—Before the art of printing, books were so scarce that am bassadors were sent from France to Rome to beg one copy of Cicero's works, and another of Quintillian's because a complete copy of these books was not to be found in all France. Albert, Abbot of Gemblours, with incredible labour and expense, collected a library of 150 volumes, including everything; and this was considered a wonder indeed. In 1494 the dibrary of the Bisbop of Winchester contained parts of seventeen books on various subjects, and, on his borrowing a Bible from the convent of St. Swithin, he had to give a heavy bond, drawn up with great solemnity, that he would return it uninjured.

When a book was purchased it was an affair of such contained parts of cather as witnesses. Previously to the year 1300, the library of Oxford consisted only of a few tracts, which were carefully locked up in a small chest, or else chain, were carefully locked up in a small chest, or else chain, and left they should escape; and, at the commencement of the fourteenth contary, the Royal library of France contained only four classics, with a few devolonal works.

Canzing To Wine and Brandy Brinkers.—Dr. literature of the day, throughout the world, that can be possibly

A CAUTON TO WINE AND BRANDY DEIRERS.—Dr. Hiram Cox, chemical inapector of alcoholic liquors in Cincinnati, Ohio, states, is an address to his fellow citizens, that during two years he has socied two hondred and form minimal to the condenses of various kinds of liquors, and has found more than une-tenths of them initialious, and a great portion of them potenous concections. Of brandy he does not believe there is one gallon of pure in a hundred gallons, the initialious having corn whistey for a basis, and various poisonous acids for the condments. Of wines not a gallon in a thousand, perpeting to the shrety, port, sweet Malaga. Allon, Guinean pepper, here-radish, &c., and many of them without a single drop of alcitoile spirit. Dr. Coxwarrants there are not ten gallons of geneine port wine in Cincinnati. In his inspections of whistey he has found only from 17 to 20 per cent. Of alchelic spirit, when it should have been 45 to 50, and some of it comains sulphand.

Moss Chilangs son vis West.—Twenty-dve or thirty boys attended the Rev. Dr. Phillips shurch in Fifth avenue, Now York, or Sabbath afternoon last, 3d instant and free the benediction was pronoused using two or three pieces, repeated the twenty-hirt Paalm, and chaunted the Lord's Prayer. All these exercises were performed in an admirable sammer, the boys viscous keeping perfect time. The Rev Dr. Phillips stated that these boys were from the Juvenile Arylum, and had been mostive picked up in the streets, and were soon to be sent to the wars hought to the colurch and the control of the
