SAD DEATH. - The people of St. Mary's and vicinity were shocked to hear of the sudden death of Mrs. Roderick Boone, about three o'clock on Friday afternoon. Mrs-Boone, who was a general favorite, whereever known, had been poorly for some time but was thought to be in a fair way for recovery. Deceased was a Miss Titus, of Marysville, and the young couple had only been married a comparatively short time She leaves a husband and an infant child, who have the sympathy of the community in their sad bereavement.

INFORMATION WANTED. - Indications of a blight on oats are common this year, though not very grave in character. The secretary for agriculture would like information of the following points: Is the blight caused in all cases, as it doubtless is in some, by an insect? Does the character of the soil appear to make any difference? Does the seed used appear to have any influence on the existence of the blight? Much seed from Ontario and P. E. Island was sown this year, and it would be interesting to know if the blight affects plants from such seed as well as those from local seed, or vice versa,

Horse Notes.

King Charles trotted a full mile on the Association track this week in 2:32. Sir Wilkie and Syvil Wilkes are going at a pace which indicates that the two-year old record for New Brunswick is in danger. Don't be surprised if Sir Charles has three in the 2:30 list before the season is over. He is going to rank high.

Meridian, owned in Restigouche, a handsome stallion by Satellite, will trot the circuit this fall. He will probably get a low mark. His colts are showing very well.

John Turner authorizes The Sportsman to state that he wishes to match Rosaline Wilkes against Belle Hamlin to trot a race of mile heats, three in five; for $2,500 a side, and that he will concede to Mr. Hamlin as the challenged party the right to select the track, he (Mr. Turner) being willing to trot the race over any track that Mr. Hamlin may select. The residence of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Hawthorn at the county jail, was the scene of a very pleasant event, on Tuesday evening. About eight o'clock, the friends of the deputy sheriff and his wife to the number of about one hundred, assembled in the parlour, and Mrs. Hawthorn in being called to the front was presented with an address, on behalf of the citizens who had been treated so courteously during the past two months. The address also congratulated Mrs. Hawthorn on the pleasant anniversary of her birthday, and was accompanied by a handsome parlor set. The address was presented by Geo. A. Hughes, and signed by A.S. Murray on behalf of friends. Mr. Hawthorn made a suitable reply on behalf of his wife. Mr. Coleman who was present, on being called on, made a few appropriate remarks, referring particularly to the kindness and attention his fellow prisoners and himself had received at the hands of both Mr. and Mrs. Hawthorn during their term Red Bank, Southesk.—Newcastle Advocate. of confinement in the gaol. Death of Rev. Jacob Gunter.

The death of Rev. Jacob Gunter at his home in this city on Sunday afternoon, has removed another of the links that bind the present to the past. Although he had been in very ill health for some time previous to his death, and it was known that the end could not be far off, yet it was only a few hours before his death that the members of his family realized that he was about to pass away. Deceased was in the 84th year of his age at the time of his death, and had been a preacher of the Free Baptist denomination for about sixty years. The Development of Trade.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD. DEAR SIR: Seeing your article in last week's issue, which is of itself very suggestive, that you invite other expressions of opinion as to how to promote the prosperity of the things which occur to me. Now, from what I have seen and learned from twelve months residence among you, from the geographical position of Fredericton, it must to a great extent depend on agriculture for any extended trade. That is Island, soap manufacturer; Frederick P. in my opinion, and my conclusions are Thompson, of Fredericton, manufacturer; drawn from knowledge of many similar in-Walter McFarlane, of the same place, land towns in the old country, which, if not manufacturer; George E. growth of grain and cattle raising be promoted, then will follow the necessity for such real estate and buildings as may be additional manufactories and industries as well as a vastly increased shipping trade on the grand river St. John. All these an influx of new capital obtained from the products of the soil would bring as well as the needs of an ever increasing population which must follow. Nothing has helped the trade of the small towns in England more than the carrying to and fro of agricultural produce et, in the small class of schooners such as are here employed in the lumber trade. Of course I am aware this could only apply in a limited sense to Fredericton, as the river is closed through several months of the year. I am convinced that increased numbers (not forgetting improved quality) of cattle would increase their value as they would attract the attention of the export traders. By the same rule a greater surplus of grain would find a ready sale elsewhere than the sometimes glutted condition of the local market will allow. It would appear to be more feasible to aim at the importation of farmers and laborers in the interest of Fredericton and of the province at large, rather than continue to import taxed flour, beef, etc., which should be produced at home I will not tresspass further on your space, only hoping that other and wiser suggestions will come from better informed authorities. This much at least commends itself to me from my own particular standpoint. For it I work with persistent effort and with con-

The Canada Eastern runs from Chathan to Frederictown, the carital of the province, with a branch to Indianstown. These towns may be important centres of commerce, but we doubt if they are known as such out of session of the Normal School, has been New Brunswick and the prospectus of the Canada Eastern. Then we are told, with a Esq. great flourish of trumpets, that the busines of the road is derived from nearly every mal school of Fredericton during the last | Canadian product, including wood, fish bricks, fruits, oysters, cotton manufactures etc., and that a pulp mill, a cotton mill, and two tanning extract works are located upon the system. This is a brave showing, but, infortunately, no figures are furnished to indicate what it means in the shape of actual traffic; and what the investor has to re member is that the region which the line traverses is extremely poor, yielding little in the shape of traffic except lumber. Abundant statistics, however, are furnished in regard to the revenue and expenditure; the only question is whether they are altogether reliable. In 1888, it is stated, the net revenue amounted to $24,849, while in 1889 it had increased to $34,356, the gross earnings in that year having amounted to $76,222, and the expenditure to $41,865. But these very captivating figures, which are meant for city, I thought I might venture two or three British consumption, do not seem to accord with the returns supplied by the company to the Canadian government, according to which the revenue in the year ended June 30, 1889, amounted to $73,000, of which all but $6,000 was absorbed by the working expenses. Evidently there is a mistake somewhere. Both statements cannot be right. It may argue a narrow distrustfulness on our part, but, on the whole, we should be most inclined to accept the official figures, which were probably not compiled with any view to ulterior uses.

But here is another curious circumstance. Although the line last year only earned, according to the directors' own showing, a not amount of $7,004, an undeathling solution.

The lessee company is evidently formed entirely on a philanthropic basis. It is really a pity that it should confine its operations entirely to New Brunswick, when there is such a wide For field for the exercise of its benevolen methods in other directions. It would be nteresting to know who are the noble-minded individuals at the back of this leasing company, and what is the self-sacrificing motive which prompts them to want to work at a loss the bankrupt railroads of New Brunswick. Are they in any way connected with the two gentlemen of the melting name of Snowball, who, together with the so-called lumber king of New Brunswick - Mr. Gibson - and one of his relatives.

practically make up the Board of the Canada Eastern railway? There is evidently a "nig ger in the fence," somewhere, and the problem is to discover him. To an ordinarily constituted mind, taking the average sordid view of things, it is difficult to understand why any company should be willing to take for £19,450 a year a line which in the year ended June 30 last only earned, ac cording to the Government returns, about £1,200. The future prospects, of course, may be wonderfully brilliant; but, if so, they are very different from those of all other New Brunswick railways, and, in any case, it is a little bewildering to find the natives willing to discount the future in cash. The humour of the prospectus is, however, as striking as the mysterious philanthropy upon which it is based. 'The line, it

The fol- of which we are assured much of its traffic which has been effected in the expenses, and of the room still left for improvement in this respect. All this is truly remarkable. In 1889, according to the company, the earnings per mile of road amounted to just under £2 10s. a week, and if only one man were employed for each mile, at, say, $1 a day, bang would go half of the receipts at once. Still, in this, as in other respects, the Canada Eastern, under the direction of the Snowballs, may be, as we believe it is, a quite unique undertaking. At any rate, there is nothing like it out of New Brunswick. It is further asserted in the prospectus, with much dry humour, that the Temiscouata railway from Edmundston to Monkton will be "a very valuable feeder" to the Canada Eastern. Well, in the first place for, although a charter has been obtained, the indispensable subsidy has been refused. In any case, its value as a feeder may be judged by the fact that the existing line carned last year $9,144, and paid out in expenses $22,971. Evidently the Temiscouata itself is sadly in want of a feeder. The prospectus winds up with the reiteration by the eloquent Snowball of the fact that "the rolling stock is equal to the traffic expected."

We can quite believe it, although it is not strictly consistent with the assertion that "a steady increase may be expected in the "net earnings, for some years to come, of from "25 to 30 per cout." Per late of the merits of Caw's DASHAWAY FOUNTAIN PEN.

CAW'S ASHAWAY FOUNTAIN PE

A Double-Feed Fountain Pen that Never Fails.

Caw's " Dashaway" Pen. In this age of strife and burry, when each individual is trying to outstrip his neighbor in the race for wealth, it is important that all who wish to win should be possessed of the most modern appliances to accomplish their purpose. These remarks apply particularly to those engaged in the profession, and in mercantile pursuits whose attention has been attracted to the merits of Caw's DASHAWAY FOUNTAIN PEN.

Auy good writing or conving ink may be used.

A Letter from Benjamin Harrison, Yours of the 15th inst. received, also the second "Dashaway" Fountain Pen, which just suits me. The first one I gave to Mrs. Harrison for her use. Thanking you for your attention, I am,

Very truly yours,
